Apollo 13 Team Battles To Bring Crippled Space Ship Safely Home

Many Perils Ahead For Friday Splash

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 13's astronauts battled today to bring their crippled craft back to earth from a quarter million miles away as Mission Control decided they would aim for a Friday splash down in the Pacific.

James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. took shortcuts to conserve their precious consumables of water, oxygen and power as they raced farther from earth toward a moon which had been their landing target until a violent eruption of a pressurized fuel tank Monday night.

They were to loop around the moon tonight and two hours later, at 6:40 p.m. PST, were to fire their lunar lander engine to speed them back toward earth and a dawn splashdown in the Pacific north of New Zealand at 9:13 a.m. PST Friday.

Asked whether the three spacemen, principles in the most dangerous drama in American space history, would make it home safely, flight controller Glynn Lunney, answered, "Yes, barely."

"We've got the situation stabilized," he said. "The most critical thing now is to keep it stabilized the rest of the flight."

—The command ship, disabled by the still mysterious rupture, was completely shut down electrically. Emergency batteries and oxygen supplies were available to take the ship, the only vehicle that can carry the men home, through the atmosphere.

More Apollo stories, page 30.

—The lunar module which became the astronauts' lifeboat, was providing critical power, oxygen, water and other life support. But its supplies were dropping and the astronauts were operating on minimum requirements.

—Officials were concerned mainly with the water supply. With 72 hours to go, based on a Friday landing, they had enough water for 84 hours, a margin of 12 hours. To keep this margin, the astronauts must power down to minimum electrical power of 17 amperes per hour for most

Schneider Quits Sausalito Schools

By PAT ANGLE

Phillip W. Schneider, superintendent of the troubled Sausalito School District last night informed the district board he will leave the post he has held for four years. (Other Sausalito School District stories, page 18.)

In a move which did not come as a total surprise to observers of the Sausalito school scene, Schneider told the trustees he has decided to resign effective December 31 (the date when contracts for superintendents are signed throughout the state). His contract with the district is scheduled to run until June of 1972.

He also requested the option to be released from his contract, provided 60-day notice is given, any time after June 30.

The board listened unhappily to Schneider's announcement, then voted unanimously to accept his resignation "with regret and great thanks for the enormous efforts you have made in this school district over the last four yeas."

The superintendent's decision evoked an emotional response from Trustee Martha Freebairn-Smith, who thanked Schneider for his "leadership, courage, and the energy given to our children and to us."

Although Schneider did not give the board a reason for his decision to leave, he told the Independent-Journal he felt his effectiveness in the district in the future "would be limited because of the past positions I have had to take.

"I think this is the logical time for some individual to come in who can view the situation impartially," he said. "perhaps a new personality, someone who has not been involved in all the problems in the district, can bring about the much needed unity among members of our school community."

PHILLIP W. SCHNEIDER
Also requests option

Schneider, often the target of criticism for his conduct of district affairs, said he felt his greatest contribution to the district has been "to maintain a truly integrated school system." He said he is not leaving to accept another job.

The 50-year-old superintendent, a native of San Rafael, was named to his present position in May of 1966. Before that he was a professor of education at Sonoma State College and for 11 years served as superintendent of the old San Jose School district, now part of the Novato Unified School District.

In 1962, he was named to a U. S. State Department team appointed to set up a school system in Liberia, West Africa, where he spent two years. Just prior to coming to Sausalito, he was superintendent of a Mountain View elementary district.

He and his wife, Edith, who live at 91 Glen Drive, Sausalito, have three grown children.

Minutes after Schneider announced his resignation, Royce McLemore of Marin City rose to tell the board that Sausalito has a qualified black administrator — Sidney F. Walton Jr., principal of Martin Luther King School — "right here in the district."

Mrs. McLemore drew scattered applause when she asked the board to consider Walton for the superintendent's post rather than seek new talent outside the disrtict.

Asst. Supt. Joseph Amato, who would be a possible successor to Schneider, said last night's decision "has not altered my plans at all; I am still looking for a job outside the district." Amato's position was recently eliminated in budget cuts for next year.

The board directed president Nathaniel Johnson to take immediate steps toward finding a new superintendent.

Former Larkspur Mayor Allen Dies

Daniel Allen, former mayor of Larkspur, died today in a local hospital after illness of cancer. He was 65.

Allen served on the Larkspur City Council from 1956 until he resigned in 1963 to take a tour abroad with a group of American square dancers. He was mayor in 1958-60.

Square dancing was his principal hobby and he was a leader in square dance circles in Marin, being a member for many years of the Mill Wheelers square dance club. He also had a noted collection of oldtime phonograph records, some dating back to the time of Thomas A. Edison.

Allen had resided in Marin County since 1942, and in California since 1928.

He was born in Andover, Mass., received his degree from Yale University and took postgraduate studies in business and law at Stanford University. He was on the Yale University football and track teams for two years.

He first came to Marin as a teacher at Tamalpais School for Boys in 1938, remaining two years and then moving to Pasadena. He returned in 1942 for a wartime job at the Marinship ship building yards. His first in-

Voting Off To A Slow Day's Start

Polling places will remain open until 7 p.m., except in Novato, Belvedere, Cotati, Tiburon and Rohnert Park, where the polls will close an hour later.

In San Anselmo, where seven candidates are running for three seats in a lively election, the vote was fairly heavy, with 24 per cent of registered voters having voted at the city hall poll at 11 a.m., some 18 per cent at Brookside School's poll, and 16 per cent at the Wade Thomas School.

Sausalito, with six candidates seeking two seats, reported a heavy early turnout at four of the city's five precincts, but City Clerk Miriam Ansell said that voting was light in the Bayside precinct.

Voting was light in Larkspur,

President Reported Supporting Blackmun

WASHINGTON (AP) — An informed Senate source said today that President Nixon will nominate Judge Harry A. Blackmun of Minnesota for the Supreme Court.

This was the word reportedly passed to key senators. An announcement from the White House was expected shortly.

Blackmun, a close friend of Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, has been a member of the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis since 1959. He was appointed by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Before word that Blackmun was Nixon's choice for the court post for which two Southern judges were rejected, key Republican senators were briefed by Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst in a Capitol hideaway.

Afterward GOP Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said that possible nominees had been discussed and that he expected announcement of the President's nomination "in the very near future."

Scott was asked if he thought Blackmun's chances had been hurt by former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's statement Monday that Blackmun is the kind of man he would like to see on the court.

"I don't think Humphrey's endorsement hurts anybody," Scott replied.

Scott said the meeting with Kleindienst was the type of consultation he had urged on the administration after the Senate's rejection by a 51-45 vote last Wednesday of Nixon's nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell of Florida.

Daly City Couple Dies In Car Crash

A Daly City couple was killed and a Cotati man injured yesterday when their car struck the center divider on Highway 101 north of Novato and rolled over twice, ejecting them, according to the California Highway Patrol. (See photos, page 30)

Dead on arrival at Novato General Hospital were Lloyd W. Hickey, 33, and his wife Oksan, 30, a native of Korea. The driver of the vehicle, Lionel Raymond Hall, 25, was reported in satisfactory condition in the intensive care unit at the hospital today with unspecified injuries. A hospital spokesman said he is "in for observation and didn't have any broken bones."

Patrolman Richard L. Myers said he had been chasing Hall at speeds of up to 90 miles an hour near Gnoss Field and was about to stop him when Hall passed a truck and lost control of his pickup at 1:20 p.m. Hall was booked in absentia at Marin County jail on suspicion of felony drunken driving and manslaughter. A court date was not set. Myers said a witness told him that Hall had been drinking beer with one hand and steering with the other just before the accident.

The Hickey deaths brought to 14 the number of pesons killed in traffic accidents in the county this year. Seven had died at this time last year.

Mill Valley Moves To Annex Strawberry Shops; Tiburon Irate

Mill Valley today served notice it will try once again to annex the Strawberry shopping center and surrounding area into the city boundaries.

Mill Valley City Manager William H. Cunningham submitted a letter of intent to annex the area to Assistant County Administrator John F. Barrows, who is also chairman of Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission.

Mill Valley's move brought immediate and bitter reaction from the City of Tiburon, whose mayor, Branwell D. Fanning, labeled the action "political opportunism" and announced a renewal of the 1968 annexation fight between the two cities.

At stake is the tax-rich Strawberry Town and Country Village shopping center, whose tax revenue both cities have long coveted.

The annexation would bring 110 acres east of Highway 101 into the Mill Valley city limits, between Reed Boulevard to the north and Ricardo Road to the south.

The application says about 62 acres of the proposed annexation is vacant land which will probably be developed at a residential density of 15 units per acre.

Today's action by the City of Mill Valley came on the heels of an adjourned meeting of the city council last night at which the council took up the annexation question which had not been listed on the agenda.

The council voted 3-1, with Hobert H. Anderson dissenting, to request annexation approval by the angency formation commission. Councilman George Wickham was out of town and did not attend the adjourned meeting.

Mayor Dean N. Meyer read to the council a list of reasons for the annexation, Cunningham said. These included the points that virtually all property owners' in the area have requested annexation, the land lies in the Mill Valley watershed, and agencies such as the Mill Valley School District and the Mill Valley Post Office serve residents of the area.

Cunningham said the decision followed discussion of deannexing another area, called

Senate Would Let Highway Commission Divide Up Cash

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate passed today landmark legislation to abandon the state's 23-year-old formula for splitting highway building funds between Northern and Southern California.

The bill, passed 21-13, gives that $750-million-a-year decision to the seven-member State Highway Commission.

A straight geographic interest vote of 21 Southern California senators approved the bill, written by Sen. James Mills, D-San Diego.

Northern California opponents warned against turning the decision over to the commission.

Sen. Alan Short, D-Stockton, recalled that Northern Californians now are regretting approval of the State Water Project to ship water from the north to the south.

"We've been plundered once. Are you going to do it again?" asked Short, a former chairman of the Senate Transportation Committee which successfully had blocked such legislation for years.

The current formula for dividing highway building revenues calls for virtually automatic apportionment of 55 per cent of the money to the 13 Southern California counties with the remaining 45 per cent going to 45 Northern California counties.

The 1970-71 fiscal year high-

Russ Nuclear Sub Vanishes; U.S. Tells But Kremlin Mum

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Soviet nuclear attack submarine, perhaps with as many as 88 crewmen aboard, apparently has been lost in Atlantic waters 400 miles northwest of the Spanish coast.

The word came Monday from the Defense Department, which reported that American planes observed at least some of the drama of the high seas incident before the submarine disappeared last weekend.

The 3,500-ton vessel, one of a class of hunter-killer submarines capable of tailing American ships, was seen in distress Friday and Saturday, then vanished Sunday—with two oil slicks remaining.

No one actually saw her go down but Navy antisubmarine patrol planes had watched over the weekend as two Soviet surface ships attempted unsuccessfully to tie a towline to the sub in rough seas.

At one point Soviet crewmen stood on the deck of the surfaced submarine. The U.S. Navy P3 Orion planes, flying from an airbase in the Azores, saw none of them leave.

There was no immediate reaction from the Soviet government to Washington's announcement. But Westerners in Moscow believed the submarine was on its way to take part in large-scale maneuvers which the Soviet Defense Department announced today are being held in both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans through May.

The apparent loss came 23 months after an American nuclear submarine, the USS Scorpion, mysteriously vanished with a crew of 99 in the Atlantic while returning from a Mediterranean exercise.

There were no obvious similarities in the two incidents, however. The Scorpion was never sighted nor heard from and apparently disintegrated in the ocean depths.

Scorpion debris was later found 400 miles southwest of the Azores. The Soviet submarine was spotted 400 miles northwest of Cape Finisterre, Spain—roughly 1,000 miles from the Scorpion's grave.

The question arose as to why the Pentagon elected to announce the Soviet misfortune, which was not immediately confirmed by the Russians.

One reason, knowledgeable officials said, was that the incident was certain to leak out anyway to American newsmen.

There was also the possibility the Soviets might claim an American submarine or ship had bumped the Russian vessel.

Presidential Reporter, Merriman Smith, Dies

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Merriman Smith, the dean of White House correspondents, died Monday. He covered six presidents over nearly three decades for United Press International and won the Pulitzer Prize and the Presidential Medal of Freedom.

Smith, 57, was found in his suburban Virginia home dead of a gunshot wound, apparently self-inflicted. A death certificate was expected to be issued today.

His six presidents spanned 28 eventful years, from Franklin D. Roosevelt just before the Pearl Harbor attack in 1941, to Richard M. Nixon, who said of Smith: "He was one of the great reporters of our time."

At his death, he was dean of the White House press corps. For some years he had been senior wire service correspondent and traditionally ended presidential news conferences with the words: "Thank you, Mr. President."

Smith won the Pulitzer Prize, American journalism's highest award, for his reporting of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy in 1963. He sent the first bulletin of the shooting in Dallas from a radiotelephone in a car speeding toward the hospital and stayed with the story until Kennedy's body was returned to Washington, where Smith wrote a moving recapitulation of the day's events.

Smith became seriously ill in late 1968 while covering President-elect Nixon in Florida. He returned to duty in 1969 at the start of the new administration. About 10 days ago, he was briefly hospitalized in Washington, but he had returned home and was immersed in helping plan the annual White House Correspondents Association dinner scheduled Saturday night.

Late Monday afternoon, Mrs. Smith discovered his body in a bathroom after he did not answer her calls. A .357 magnum revolver —he was an avid gun collector —was on the floor. He left no note.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Marijuana Hit

CHICAGO (UPI)—A New York drug expert says the use of marijuana for social purposes would cause "a public health catastrophe." One from California says that if marijuana use is not stopped, "we will see a violent, riotous upheavel the likes of which we haven't seen in this nation."

The warning came Monday at the opening session of the four-day National Institute of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs. About 1,200 persons are attending the conference, which is sponsored by the Chicago-based National District Attorneys Association.

"The curious fact is that heroin has followed marijuana into places where heroin has never been seen before." Dr. Henry Brill of New York said. "There will be a public health catastrophe if we ever permit its use—marijuana's—for social purposes."

Denies Beating

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Denying testimony by his common-law wife that he beat his 5-year-old stepson to death, Ronald Fouquet testified Monday the child died of a sudden illness.

"I've never stomped on a kid or anybody in my life," the 31-year-old mechanic said as a witness in his own defense against first-degree charges in the death of Jeffrey Lansdown in 1966.

Previous witnesses, including his common-law wife Betty Lansdown Fouquet, 26, testified Jeffrey died after a series of beatings and mistreatment by Fouquet lasting near three weeks.

Fouquet admitted spanking the boy with a belt or paddle, but he denied any brutal beatings.

Ford In Moscow

The Soviets are studying plans for a giant truck factory with a capacity of 150,000 vehicles a year. Western observers said they may be approaching Ford to handle a major phase of the operation.

Ford, his wife, his daughter Charlotte and three top Ford executives spent their first of 10 days in Moscow Monday as guests in an elegant government villa in Lenin Hills and talked with officials in the Soviet automobile building industry.

Aspirin Tests

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UPI)—Human trials are to begin soon to find out if two aspirin tablets a day will keep a heart attack away.

This was disclosed today by three scientists who have proved that in dogs aspirin in low dosage can prevent the artery-closing blood clots which cause about half of all heart attacks and a high percentage of strokes.

Dr. Harvey J. Weiss of New York City told the annual meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology that the next step is to see if the experiment can be applied to human therapy.

Arrives For Talks

VIENNA (AP)—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vladimir Semenov arrived today for the resumption of the strategic arms limitation talks with the United States. He said the Kremlin had instructed his delegation "to conduct negotiations in a factual and constructive manner."

"One would hope that this will also be displayed by the American side," said Semenov in a statement at the railroad station.

Berkeley Campus, Radiation Lab Blacked Out By Pole Sabotage

BERKELEY (AP) — The University of California campus operated today with power carried by a temporary wooden pole after an 80-foot steel tower was knocked over Monday by a bomb explosion.

Most of the campus was without power Monday from 11:48 a.m. until about 7:30 p.m. The Lawrence Radiation Laboratory a half mile away, went on emergency power shortly after the blast. The two main accelerators had not been in use.

Oakland police are investigating the explosion, the fifth in two years at utility towers operated by Pacific Gas & Electric Co. There were no injuries.

Berkeley police also were trying today to determine who threw two firebombs against the front facade of the Berkeley police station late Sunday.

The small explosion scorched the cement structure, but no injuries or other damage was reported. Several police were injured in a bombing at the station parking lot in February.

Contra Costa County sheriffs' deputies said the bombings apparently were unrelated to the theft Saturday night of 485 pounds of dynamite from the American Smelting and Refining Co. in Selby. Officers said a lock was sawed off and explosives were taken from a powder magazine.

The campus outage forced the library and student office buildings to close at 5 p.m. because of no lights. A noon rally by the Student Mobilization committee was called off because the loudspeakers wouldn't work.

Elevators did not work in one eight-floor dormitory and lunch was not served in another. Cowell Memorial Hospital operated with auxiliary power.

The explosion happened at 10:34 a.m., just inside the Oakland city limits, about two miles from the university stadium in a wooded area.

Grace Walpole, a radiation laboratory employe, said the blast was deafening and "there was a brilliant yellow flash."

TALK ABOUT UDDER CONFUSION

Two novice milkmaids, Sunny (left) and Tara, steal the show in the University of California annual milking contest between the Davis and Berkeley campuses. Sunny and Tara, two North Beach topless dancers out of uniform, represented respectively Davis and Berkeley in yesterday's contest in Berkeley. Both confessed never meeting a cow before, but Tara managed to produce 10.5 ounces of milk from her Jersey cow, while Sunny got only half an ounce.

Reds Use Cambodia For Rocket Base

SAIGON (AP) — Striking from inside Cambodia with big rockets and assault troops, North Vietnamese wrecked the South Vietnamese border crossing post on Highway One, but the defenders killed 96 of the attackers, sources said.

Many of the North Vietnamese were killed by South Vietnamese bombers and artillery fire that crossed the border 42 miles northwest of Saigon.

Seven of the 150 militiamen manning the border post were reported killed and more than a dozen wounded, but sturdy defense bunkers kept the South Vietnamese casualty toll down. One civilian, a member of a militiaman's family, also was killed.

One source said North Vietnamese positions in Cambodia bombarded the complex of yellow one-story buildings with 240mm rockets weighing about 200 pounds each and mortar shells. Then sappers broke through the perimeter firing rocket grenades.

"The damage was extensive," the source said. "It was pretty bad."

South Vietnamese ground troops and bombers have been making regular forays across the border in collaboration with Cambodian forces in efforts to crush North Vietnamese and Viet Cong units that have their base camps in the area that juts into South Vietnam. It is known to the military as the Parrot's Beak.

Farther south, AP Correspondent John Vinocur reported from Takeo, Cambodia, that Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops who have been operating in the Seven Mountains region of the western Mekong Delta attacked two Cambodian posts about six miles from the border and captured about 50 soldiers and policemen.

Takeo Province's assistant military chief said the Viet Cong were looking for rice. He estimated that there are 20,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in his province.

There was no word of fresh fighting 25 miles farther west along Highway One, where more than 3,000 Viet Cong troops advancing into Cambodia are reported on three sides of Svay Rieng, a provincial capital with a population of nearly 20,000.

Cambodian officers in Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital, told AP Correspondent T. Jeff Williams that U.S. or South Vietnamese planes and helicopters were flying photo-reconnaissance flights day and night around Svay Rieng to pinpoint Viet Cong positions for the Cambodians.

The enemy's spring offensive in South Vietnam ended its second week with other action reported along the Cambodian border north of Saigon, in the central highlands and just south of the demilitarized zone, as well as 45 enemy rocket and mortar attacks between 8 a.m. Monday and 8 a.m. today.

The allied commands said casualties included nine Americans, three South Vietnamese and 182 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed, and 72 Americans and 23 South Vietnamese wounded.

Four American helicopters were lost Monday, the U.S. Command said. One was a big Army Chinook hit by a North Vietnamese mortar shell as it was landing at an American artillery base three miles south of the DMZ. The helicopter crashed, killing one of the Americans aboard and wounding eight others.

Tiburon Downtown Plan Delayed For Seating Of New Councilmen

The Tiburon City Council — saddled with two lame duck councilmen — last night declined to ram through an election-eve adoption of the city's Buskirk-Noble downtown plan.

The council instead ended a four-hour public hearing by adopting a resolution which endorsed the plan and encourgaed the new city council to adopt it "at the earliest possible moment."

The council's reluctance to adopt the downtown plan was due to the fact that two of the councilmen — William R. Bremer and Thomas E. Drohan — are not candidates for reelection in today's balloting.

Both Bremer and Drohan last night recommended that the council not take final action, saying that they had "great confidence" in whomever is elected.

Approximately 50 persons filled the multi-purpose room at the Del Mar School last night for the public hearing on the long-awaited downtown plan. The plan, which has been some four years in the making, was finally approved by the planning commission on March 18 after several hearings.

The plan includes harbor development, a linear park, a system of pedestrian and bicycle paths, a professional office complex and the construction of a second major traffic thoroughfare. The proposed development covers 51 acres, including 9.15 acres in parks, 6.25 acres as a harbor, 9.76 acres in new streets.

Other acreage allotted under the plan is: conference center, 2.8; parking, 3.45; executive office park, 2.34; retail and professional office space, 5.47; hillside housing, 3.5; lagoon housing, 2.76 and Tiburon Peninsula Club recreation, 5.2.

Only two features of the plan came under any concentrated attack during the public hearing which was almost devoid of emotion. Several persons protested the establishment of a second thoroughfare into Tiburon, saying that it would only lead to increased vehicular traffic, creating 'another Sausalito.'

The second major road, according to Phillip Buskirk, the plan's chief author, is to provide residents access and exit from the city without having to go through the downtown section, which is currently served by Tiburon Boulevard.

Also under attack was a suggestion by Buskirk that the new yacht harbor, which calls for space for 77 boats, also be allowed to have a boat repair facility. Several of the councilmen and others in the audience objected to this, noting that such businesses are usually cluttered and messy.

"I think gross commercialism is creeping into the plan," he said. "When we signed a 25-year lease with the city we were told no other competition would be allowed in."

Vance Wolf, representing the Northwestern Pacific Railroad, which has a right-of-way in the area to be developed, asked that the city take no official action until the railroad had a chance to make a feasibility study on its own.

The majority of the audience, although critical of the traffic flow and possibility of a boat repair facility in the harbor, urged the council to go ahead and adopt the plan.

"The longest journey must start with a single step," said Dr. George Sugarman, head of the Chamber of Commerce. He read an endorsement of the plan adopted by the chamber and then urged the council to take action last night.

But Bremer and Drohan prevailed, saying they felt another public hearing on the plan was advisable and said they felt the new council should have an opportunity to take the final action.

Landscaping Bids Sought

Bids for landscaping an unsightly plot of land outside the Federal Building in San Rafael are now being sought by the General Services Administration.

The building was remodeled last winter and spring at a cost of $270,000, but no money was left to landscape the building.

Bids will be opened April 28, a year after the weed garden at Third and D Streets began.

Rezoning Of Many Parcels In Novato

The Novato Planning Commission last night rezoned all land to the city since incorporation except for those parcels previously rezoned.

Several months ago, the city planning staff found out that zoning applied by Marin County did not carry over with the land when it was annexed to the city. Last night's action gave legal zoning to approximately 40 parcels of property.

The Novato Planning Commission also:

TENTATIVE MAPS — Approved the tentative map of Marin Golf and Country Club Estates Unit 6, south of Alameda de la Loma adjacent to the Country Club Estates, containing 28 lots on 21 acres submittted by Marin Oaks Developments Co. The commission continued indefinitely the tentative map of Los Robles subdivision of 84 lots on 37 acres at the end of Los Robles Drive.

SAN MARIN—Continued until May 11 consideration of an amendment to the San Marin master plan to change to planned residential the area west of highway 101 and south of San Marin Drive.

CAR WASH—Continued indefinitely the application of Albert Tresch for a car wash at the Tresch Triangle, west of South Novato Boulevard and north of Center Road.

Youths Nabbed In Theft Probe

Two 16-year-old Santa Venetia youths were arrested on suspicion of burglary Friday after being caught rolling tires out of the San Rafael Tire and Brake Co., 666 Irwin Street, at 11:41 p.m., police reported yesterday.

The youths, Earl Ervin Radford of 637 Vendola Drive and Thomas Jeffrey Hauth of 144 Mabry Way, released to the custody of their parents, were cited to appear in Juvenile Court at 3 p.m. Wednesday.

The youths were also cited on suspicion of attempted burglary at the same time at Anchor Development, next door at 670 Irwin Street, police said. The attempted burglary was not discovered until after the youths were arrected, police reported.

Soviets Planning 2-Ocean Games

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government announced today it will hold large-scale naval maneuvers simultaneously in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans through May.

"For the first time in the history of both the Soviet and world naval art, the forces disposed on different oceans will operate to a single concept," said Kransaya Zvezda — Red Star — the Defense ministry newspaper.

The Soviet Union "is not only a great power in land warfare but in naval warfare as well," said another official paper.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the purpose of the maneuvers was to test and improve the combat skill of the navy and the operational preparedness of its staffs.

Noted Polish Sculptor Dies

VIAREGGIO, Italy (AP)— Michele Paszjun, a Polish sculptor widely known for his religious statues, died of a heart attack Sunday at his home in a 13th Century castle near Viareggio. He was 63.

Paszjun returned three weeks ago after six months in the United States during which he had a show of his works in New York.

His most noted work was the mausoleum at Monte Cassino for Polish soldiers who died in the World War II battle there. He sculpted numerous statues for the Vatican and did statues of President John F. Kennedy, Pope Paul VI, Pope John XXIII and many saints.

'Bloodbath' Comment Asked

Michael Peevey of San Rafael, unopposed candidate for the Democratic nomination for State Senate, has called upon Republican candidates for the Fourth District seat to "let the public know how they feel" about Gov. Ronald Reagan's reference last week to a "bloodbath" to stop campus violence.

Peevey, speaking Friday night at the San Rafael home of William Atwood, said the governor's language "was likely only to further polarize young and old at a time when we, as a society, have to come together."

County Rejects Offer Of Museum

The county today turned down the Pony Express retreat in the golf club tract as a county museum because of inadequate access and parking and strong objections from residents.

Marin County Board of Supervisors voted 4 to 1 to reject the offer made in the will of the late Col. Waddell F. Smith. The will offered the two-acre parcel and all improvements including Pony Express historical collections to the county on condition that the entire collection be kept intact on the site. The property is located at 75 Margarita Drive.

Marin County Parks and Recreation commission had recommended that the offer be declined because disadvantages outweighed the advantages, parks chairman Lothar Salin reported.

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. moved for rejection, with a second from Supervisor Louis H. Baar. Supervisor Michael Wornum cast the only dissenting vote, only because he wanted to see the premises before a decision.

Robert Lee, president of the homeowners of the golf club tract, presented a petition signed by about 75 residents opposing a public museum on the Smith property.

Lee said the area is zoned one-family, Margarita Drive is narrow, and the property has inadequate parking and turnaround space.

Max Thelan Jr. representing Mrs. Waddell F. Smith, estimated the replacement value of the Pony Express retreat building at $500,000 as a private home, he agreed, however, it would not bring that kind of price.

Labor Board Accuses Union In I-J Dispute

The National Labor Relations Board has issued a complaint against San Francisco Typographical Union 21 charging coercion of the Independent-Journal composing room foreman in violation of federal law.

The complaint was issued by Roy O. Hoffman, NLRB regional director, following investigation of allegations by publishers of the Independent-Journal. It charges that the union restrained and coerced Gordon Dixon from performing his supervisory duties as composing room foreman. It recites that last Oct. 17 the union charged Dixon with violating its constitution, general laws and by laws in performance of his duties as a supervisor; that on Jan. 18 it fined him because he carried out those duties, and on Jan. 30 it charged him with violating the union constitution by working at the Independent-Journal after the San Francisco local called a strike against it on Jan. 7.

All these are held to be unfair labor practices under the law.

Hearing on the complaint has been consolidated with an NLRB hearing on a previous NLRB complaint against the same union growing out of picketing at Pier 46-A in San Francisco in January, in an attempt to prevent delivery of newsprint to the I-J, which is charged as a secondary boycott in violation of the law. Hearing will be May 6 in Room 18201 of the Federal Building in San Francisco. The hearing examiner has not yet been named.

Youth Booked In Theft Probe

A 17-year-old Santa Venetia youth has been booked into Marin Juvenile Hall on suspicion of possessing stolen property after a stereo deck and tape recorder reportedly stolen earlier from Terra Linda High School were found in his bedroom.

Juvenile officers went to the home of David Monmouth Jones, of 870 Estancia Way, after receiving a tip that the stolen articles were there. They said they found them in his bedroom. Jones told the officers that he had found the articles hidden in the bushes near the school.

The officers also said that there was a heavy odor of suspected burning marijuana in the room. Two other youths in the room were not arrested.

Three Counties Lose Smog Control Round

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly approved 59-4 today a bill forcing Napa, Sonoma and Solano counties to join the San Francisco Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

The bill by Assemblyman John Knox, D-Richmond, now goes to the Senate. Knox said the measure was sought by the smog board after the three counties refused invitations to join the district voluntarily.

Sausalito's Waterfront Plan Passes

Amid sighs of relief from waterfront property owners, the Sausalito City Council last night approved the Sausalito Central Waterfront Plan, in making for two-and-one-half-years.

After reviewing more than 30 recommendations from the city planning commission for changes in the William E. Spangle plan for waterfront development, the council made only minor revisions (chiefly in wording), then directed the city attorney to prepare a resolution for adoption at its April 21 meeting.

H. Eric Borgwardt, city planning director, said once the plan is adopted, the city will begin work immediately to implement development by amending zoning for the area and establishing local bulkhead and building lines.

The plan includes water-oriented commercial development in a nine-block area east of Bridgeway, between Anchor and Litho streets. Borgwardt said commercial uses will include yacht harbors and sales, restaurants, retail sales shops, studios, offices, boatels and motels. A shopping area for Sausalito residents is also proposed for the Caledonia Street area as part of the plan, he said.

Also proposed is a 13-acre waterfront park which could contain both a new city hall and a library if a $560,000 bond issue for city purchase of the land is approved by voters on June 2.

Borgwardt said the plan calls for limiting the amount of parking downtown and said major parking areas are planned for the Marinship area, north of the waterfront.

The Spangle plan also curtails additional filling of the bay, he reported.

way budget, a total of $761 million, was regulated under the 45-55 highway split formula, in effect since 1947.

Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, argued against turning the decision over to the commission, saying it would "institute a brand new system of logrolling."

Mills countered the seven-member commission, whose members are appointed by the governor, already decides how millions of highway dollars are spent.

"If you don't agree with letting the commission do it," said Mills, "let's go back to having the legislature decide county by county."

Mills failed in an attempt to have the bill approved Monday. He sought and won reconsideration today. A key vote for the bill was cast by Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, absent yesterday while campaigning for the Republican attorney general nomination. The crucial 21st vote was cast by a southerner, Sen. Clair W. Burgener, R-San Diego.

The measure now goes to the Assembly for action.

Reed District Trustees Close Tiburon School

Trustees of the Reed School District, citing "educational reasons," decided last night to close Tiburon School and shift its students to Belvedere and Reed schools, according to Robert B. Gaw, superintendent.

Reasons for the closure, which will take effect in the fall, included the division of the principal's time between Reed, Belvedere and Tiburon schools and the lack of facilities at the latter two schools as compared to others in the district.

Gaw said the board considered closing Belvedere School but found it to be economically impossible at this time because of the lack of facilities at Reed School, which would take Belvedere's students and "the cost of busing the youngsters to other schools in the district."

'Sgt. Sunshine' Going To Jail

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — "Sergeant Sunshine," the policeman who smoked a marijuana cigarette on the Hall of Justice steps in 1968, surrendered on a bench warrant Monday to start a nine-month term.

The ex-officer, whose real name is Richard Bergess, was asked if he thought the campaign to legalize marijuana did any good.

"I don't know whether it did anybody else any good," he said.

"I'm sick, broke, on welfare and I lost my police pension. It hasn't done me any good."

Bergess said he would formally surrender Tuesday when his attorney can be there.

Bergess smoked the cigarette on Easter 1968 while he was in uniform.

Suspicious Find

A plastic bag containing possible marijuana plants and seeds was found yesterday at 3 p.m. near a student's desk at Terra Linda High School, San Rafael police reported today.

Jury Trial Slated In Burglary Case

A jury trial was set yesterday in Marin Superior Court for the week of May 25 for two East Bay residents who are charged with burglarizing a San Rafael apartment March 20 and possessing stolen property.

Raquel Wells, 33, of Newark, and Frederick Roy Schetter, 32, of San Leandro, were arrested after a San Rafael man said he saw them leave his apartment.

Wallet Containing $200 Reported Taken

A fast moving thief stole a wallet containing $200, stamps, credit cards, driver's license and medical pass Friday from the office of Dr. James R. Prest at 1114 Irwin Street, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Dr. Prest told police he thought his wallet was taken from his desk at 4:30 p.m. by a boy about 15 or 16 who entered the office through a rear door and left a few minutes later.

Beach Access Bill Is Sent Over To Senate

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill requiring future subdivision to provide "reasonable" public access to beaches and the shoreline was approved by the Assembly Monday on a 49-9 vote and sent to the Senate.

The measure by Assemblyman John F. Dunlap, D-Napa, specifies access would be to the land below the normal high tide line. It affects subdivisions to be built on ocean or bay front property.

Apollo Team Battles For Safe Trip Home

of the journey, reducing the average hourly water consumption from five to 2.68 pounds. The water is used for cooling the electronics and cabin oxygen as well as for drinking.

—The oxygen supply was more substantial. They had enough for 122 a margin of 50 hours, barring unforeseen events. The astronauts moved around as little as possible to reduce their consumption. Oxygen was fed through an open connecting tunnel into the command cabin so the pilots could operate there.

Looping the moon is the safest way home, officials said, because Apollo 13 was close to its target at the time of the accident and already was on a course that would take it around the moon's backside.

To stop short of the moon would have required considerable engine power and fuel expenditure, something the astronauts did not have with Apollo 13's big command ship engine idled by electrical failure.

The only powerplant available is the lunar module descent engine, the one that was to have lowered Lovell and Haise to the lunar surface. The spacemen triggered the engine 30 seconds early today to adjust the course slightly to a path that would take them back to earth Friday night if they made no additional maneuver.

The second firing at 9:40 tonight was planned to increase the speed enough for a landing 10 hours earlier.

Asked at a briefing if there had been any damage to the head shield, which must protect the astronauts from the tremendous heat of reentry, Lunney said there was a slight possibility of such damage but that there was no evidence of any.

The decision to try for a Friday landing in the Pacific meant that Mission Control had decided not to adopt a "superfast" return plan. Under this, the engine firing tonight would have been lengthened to give the ship a heavier push home. But this would have consumed more power.

Neither the United States or Russia has a space rescue capability. So the astronauts will have to depend on their skill and that of hundreds of experts on the ground to get home.

Following the tank rupture, the astronauts activated the systems of the attached lunar module, or LM. They opened the connecting tunnel between the two craft so oxygen would flow into the command ship and make it livable.

The cramped LM is difficult to sleep in, so the astronauts will rest in the command ship.

Swigert retired early today while Haise and Lovell monitored the command and lunar ships, respectively, planning to sleep later.

The astronauts remained calm and poised as they wrestled with the many procedures needed to stabilize their craft and to stretch their consumables.

To improve oxygen circulation and prevent a buildup of carbon dioxide in the command ship, Mission Control Center told the astronauts to use a hose from one of the unused space suits and extend it from the LM oxygen supply through the tunnel.

Lovell, Haise and Swigert were told to place any excess water in bags and to turn off all non-essential items requiring power.

Christopher C. Kraft Jr., deputy director of the Manned Spacecraft Center here, said "If the situation remains stabilized, there is no question we can bring them back to earth safely."

The astronauts' dream of achieving man's third lunar landing were dashed by the sudden, chilling accident Monday night that burst a tank and drained their command ship of electrical power and oxygen.

With barely 15 minutes of power remaining in the command vesssel, the astronauts crawled through a connecting tunnel to the safety of the lunar module.

The rupture could have been caused by an overpressurized tank or perhaps a speeding meteor.

"We're concentrating on saving their lives right now rather than learning what happened," said Kraft, who has been flight director for most U.S. astronaut shots.

The accident precipitated "the most serious situation we've ever had in the manned space flight program," he said.

Kraft and other officials appeared calm at a news conference. Later, however, observers noted that Kraft had never appeared so nervous.

Lovell, Haise and Swigert remained cool from the moment, about 6:15 p.m. PST Monday, when Lovell alerted the world with the sudden utterance: "Hey, we've got a problem here."

Scores of persons in Mission Control Center stiffened. They noted an immediate drop in power and oxygen supply in the command ship. Experts troubleshot the problem and radioed hundreds of orders to the astronauts.

The spidery lunar vehicle became their lifeboat in space, their only hope for salvation. They switched on its systems, and sent oxygen flowing into the command ship, enabling them to inhabit its cabin.

But the LM is built to operate only airless space and cannot re-enter earth's atmosphere. Therefore, the astronauts must rely on the command ship to take them the final miles back to earth.

They'll have to activate emergency batteries and oxygen supplies in the command cabin in the hours before re-entry, and then kick the LM free before re-entry through the atmosphere.

And they still could be doomed if the batteries or the oxygen source of the LM should fail on the way home.

Only one man has died in space—Russian cosmonaut Vladimir Kamarov whose spacecraft crashed when its parachute became tangled during re-entry through the atmosphere in April, 1937.

The first three American Apollo astronauts died in a space cabin fire during a prelaunch test on a Cape Kennedy launch pad in January of 1967.

That tragedy set the Apollo program back nearly two years while the spaceship and management were overhauled.

Once the Apollo program began flying it had an unprecedented series of successes, climaxed by the Apollo 11 and 12 moon landing missions last year.

Officials indicated it may be some time before Apollo crew flies to the moon as a result of the Monday night accident.

"We'll have to sit back and determine what happened and then fix it," Kraft said.

The Apollo 14 crew, headed by America's first spaceman, Alan B. Shepard Jr., presently is slated for launching Oct. 1.

Lovell's sudden exclamation of the trouble came without warning on a flight that had been flawless since the fiery liftoff of a Saturn 5 rocket from Cape Kennedy Saturday.

Lovell and Haise had just completed a very satisfactory inspection of the LM cabin, in which they reported that there was no pressure problem in a helium tank of the descent engine that was to have fired them to the moon's surface.

There had been some concern there might be an overpressure because of a prelaunch reading.

Odyssey and Aquarius were the names they selected for the command and lunar modules, respectively.

VOTE

where only three candidates are competing for two council seats. A sampling of polls shortly before noon showed between 6 and 10 per cent of registered voters had gone to the polls.

Only 70 of 1,300 registered voters had voted at noon in Ross, where there is no contest with two candidates seeking two seats.

A smapling of precincts in Fairfax indicated about 15 per cent of registered voters had voted by noon. There are six candidates for three open council seats.

Voting was running light, with an average of less than 10 per cent of the registered voters voting by 11 a.m., in a sampling of Novato precincts, where a combined city council and school tax increase election is being held.

In Loma Verde, where an $.85 school tax increase is on the ballot, only 56 out of 770 registered voters had appeared at the poll this morning.

Corte Madera, with six candidates seeking three seats, also reported about a 10 per cent turnout by noon.

In Rohnert Park, balloting to fill two seats on the city council was reported as brisk at two of the city's three polling places.

Cotati, which has three candidates seeking two council seats and a sewer bond issue on the ballot, reported light voting by noon.

the high school tidelands from the Richardson Bay Sanitary District so that Mill Valley could provide homes there with sewage service.

Strawberry annexation was not on the agenda, Cunningham said, but consideration of it followed discussion of extending the sewer lines. "The council figured that once the lines were brought to the highway they might as well be extended a little further to include Strawberry," Cunningham said.

Tiburon Mayor Fanning today declared:

"We regret it was done this way. This is political opportunism. The arbitrary way the lines are apparently drawn clearly indicates this is intended to be an annexation solely for the purpose of improving Mill Valley's strained economic circumstance.

"The residents are left outside to flounder for themselves. This isn't a people annexation, it is a business deal.

"We will oppose this sort of tinkering with people, resources, and enlightened planning and the ultimate destiny of the Tiburon community."

Thieves Hit Bridal Shop In Larkspur

Burglars who entered through a window 10 feet above the ground stole $425 cash, two rolls of velvet and other items valued at $295 from a wedding gown shop, Larkspur police reported yesterday.

Police said the House of Hoops, 470 Magnolia Avenue, was burgled between 8 p.m. Thursday and 7:15 a.m. Friday. Taken from an unlocked safe were the cash, a $25 U. S. savings bond and a supply of blank payroll checks. Taken from a workroom were rolls of red and green velvet valued at $120, a radio valued at $150 and a typewriter valued at $25.

Commission Frowns On Nuclear Canal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atomic explosives should not be used to blast out a canal across Central America to relieve the crowded Panama Canal, a federal study commission says.

John Sheffey, executive director of the Atlantic-Pacific Inter-Ocean Canal Study Commission, said Monday nuclear explosives should be prohibited because "we don't know enough about what would happen."

The Cotati Planning Commission will consider the design of a supermarket planned at 7646 Redwood Highway when it meets at 7:30 p.m. today at the fire station.

OBITUARIES

Meningitis Takes Joseph C. Walton

Joseph C. Walton, 26, of 143 Pine Street, San Anselmo, who died Sunday at a local hospita, was the victim of a contagious form of meningitis, the county coroner's office reported today.

Dr. Carolyn Albrecht, Marin County director of public health, said, however, that his death does not indicate any health hazard in the county.

"Meningitis is usually only a hazard to people who take care of the patient and the close family," she said.

The coroner's office reported that Walton had been suffering from flu when he was taken very ill Sunday. He died a few hours after entering the hospital.

Funeral for Walton, who worked for a Novato roofing company, will be tomorrow at 11 a.m. at Harry M. Williams Mortuary.

A native of Long Beach, he moved to Marin County 25 years ago, and had been working for the roofing firm for about three years.

He was a member of the Carpenters Union Local 35 of San Rafael, Ducks Unlimited and the Valley Baptist Church in San Rafael.

He is survived by his wife, Paula J. Walton; a son, Steven Charles Walton; his parents, Joseph L. and Doris M. Walton of San Rafael; two brothers, Richard I. Walton of Phoenix, Ariz., and John W. Walton of San Rafael; and a sister, Sandra M. Flinton of Oklahoma City.

Burial will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

Allen had invested in oil properties in Southern California, and with the proceeds was able to devote virtually full time to civic interests after moving to Larkspur in 1948.

After his service on the city council, he served as a member of the Larkspur Library board. In 1967, he was named by the city council as Larkspur's outstanding senior citizen of the year. He was active also in formation of the Larkspur-Corte Madera Historical Society.

He was a member of the Larkspur Lions Club.

Another Fire Set In Novato Apartments

William M. Lawson, Apt. 316, 30 Novato Street reported a small fire had been set yesterday around 5:10 p.m. on a second story roof balcony at his apartment house, according to San Rafael police.

The blaze caused minor damage, Lawson told police to the wood, tar and gravel construction of the balcony. Lawson also told police a number of small fires had been set recently in the apartment area.

Jail Term Given On Morals Charge

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court yesterday placed Peter J. Hawkins of San Rafael on probation for three years and ordered him to spend six months in the county jail.

Hawkins had earlier pleaded guilty to one count of lewd and lascivious acts with a child. Five additional charges of the same offense allegedly committed in Novato in 1968 and 1969 were dismissed.

HANNA JOHNSON

Funeral for Hanna (Ann) Johnson, 71, a Petaluma resident for 44 years, was held today at Elim Lutheran Church, Petaluma, with burial in Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

Mrs. Johnson, of 10 Dana Street, died Saturday in a local hospital after a long illness.

She was born in Sweden and emigrated to this country in 1916, later settling in Petaluma. Her husband, Alfred, whom she married in Eureka in 1921, survives.

Lagunitas Panel Eyes Budget Drop

Lagunitas School District trustees—informed that the district has dipped more than $40,000 into reserves this year—sought ways last night to reduce expenditures next school year, according to Supt. Marshall J. McCunniff.

The board was told, the superintendent said, that the district had entered this school year with a carryover of $52,000 and would end the year with about $10,000 to carry over.

The board discussed means of dropping this year's $392,903 budget to about $337,000 next year, McCunniff said.

First to go would be transportation services, paid teacher's aides, the district librarian and special school supplies, McCunniff said.

However, the board hopes to stave these cutbacks by securing voter approval June 2 of a 90-cent tax rate increase, McCunniff said.

The trustees also were informed that the district's drug abuse education program for teachers is now in progress and that a similar program for parents arranged by the College of Marin will be offered in May.

Judge Again Locks Up Kopechne Transcripts

BOSTON (AP) — A federal judge today issued a temporary injunction barring distribution to news media, scheduled Wednesday, of the transcript and judge's report on the inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne. Judge Andrew A. Caffrey acted in U.S. District Court a few minutes after the 1 p.m. deadline he set for filing of briefs in the suit by a professional court stenographer.

The stenographer, Sidney R. Lipman, contended that he has sole right to reproduce and sell copies of the 764-page transcript and that plans of the clerk of Suffolk Superior Court to issue the documents Wednesday would harm him financially.

There was no immediate indication when Judge Caffrey would hold further hearings on Lipman's move.

The Superior Court Clerk, Edward V. Keting, had contracted with Xerox Corp. to reproduce the documents, and planned to issue them to news media who had ordered them at $75 apiece.

Novato Firemen Set Barbecue

Robert Robertson and Reno Pronzini last night were named co-chairmen for the Novato Volunteer Firemen's annual barbecue on June 14 at the Silviera Ranch on Highway 101 north of Novato, according to Fire Chief Jack Kidder.

Robert Ruzick was named to head the volunteers working on the city cleanup campaign on April 25 and May 2.

Wilfred H. Lieb of 1521 Hill Road, retired after 15 years as an active volunteer.

San Francisco Moves To Curb Topless Clubs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A new law to regulate this city's topless and bottomless entertainment — but not eliminate it — has moved another step closer to becoming official.

The supervisors amended the law twice Monday, each by a 7-4 vote, and unanimously passed the finished product. However, the law must still come before the supervisors next week for a final vote and then be signed to the mayor.

In one amendment, the board decided that when a club owner's license is suspended, he can reopen his club immediately by appealing to the Board of Permit Appeals.

Under the original version, the police chief could suspend the license for up to 30 days and the club owner would have to go to court to get the club reopened pending appeal.

Other sections of the law set limits on outside noise and prohibit barkers. Clubs also are required to remove, within four months after the law goes into effect, outside photographs, paintings and signs showing nude or partially unclothed bodies.

Army Prober Questions Medina On My Lai Deaths

Medina, 33, was commander of an infantry company at the time of a raid on the Vietnamese village in March 1968. He is charged with responsibility for all civilian slayings which occurred during the attack.

He told newsmen earlier that he is accused in the slaying of at least 175 persons, although the Army did not announce the number.

Today's hearing, which lasted two hours and 15 minutes, was behind closed doors. It is to determine whether Medina will be tried before a court-martial.

The Army said the hearing was recessed until April 28.

Newsmen asked him if he had anything to say, but he replied that any comment would have to come from his attorneys.

In the past, Medina has commented freely in television interviews. He has repeatedly denied that he ordered a massacre at My Lai, or that he saw one take place.

Restitution Of Funds Ordered

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court yesterday ordered former Tiburon resident Astarte Davis, 36, to spend five weekends in jail and make restitution to a former employer from whom she embezzled almost $2,000.

Mrs. Davis, who now lives in Sonoma County, had earlier admitted taking the money from the Kent Manufacturing Co. in San Rafael before she left the job in June 1969.

McGuire also placed her on probation for two years.

Car Engine Tax Proposal Shelved

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Senate Transportation Committee plans a between-sessions study of a bill which would tax cubic inch displacement of an engine rather than the motor vehicle's cash value.

The committee Monday defeated the measure by Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, on a split voice vote but decided to study the proposal during between-sessions months.

Nejedly said the measure was designed to encourage persons to buy lower-powered cars, which he said emit less air pollutants.

Tow-Away Zone Approved By Petaluma City Council

Petaluma City Council last night approved a no-parking, tow-away zone along Washington Street described as the "second busiest street in the city."

They met the objections of merchants by ruling that only the three-quarter-mile stretch of East Washington Street from Copeland Street to Highway 101 be converted to a three-lane street.

East Washington Street from the Petaluma River Bridge to Copeland Street would remain two-lane and only the areas there now designated "no parking" would be included in the tow-away zone.

Overall the tow-away zone will extend from Kentucky Street to Highway 101.

The vote for the two-away zone was 6-0 with Councilman John W. Cavanagh Jr. abstaining, because he owns property in the area.

When the public hearing opened before about 40 persons the proposed plan was to have three lanes from the bridge to Highway 101.

This brought protests from merchants in the area from the bridge to Copeland Street who said the revamping would adversely affect their businesses.

The council received a request from the Walter Kieckhefer Co. to limit the tow-away time to from 4 to 6 p.m., but it voted for no stopping at any time.

The two-lane stretch from Copeland Street to Highway 101 will be converted to three lanes to permit center left turns, he explained.

After merchants complained about loss of parking and loss of needed loading zones, Councilman Albert L. Battaglia proposed eliminating the three-lane plan in their area.

The tow-away regulations were made effective in 60 days.

The council called for bids for the tow-away and vehicle storage contract to be opened at 2 p..m May 14. Bidders will propose the rates to be charged motorists whose cars are towed away.

The council also authorized spending up to 4,000 for tow-away signs and equipment to erase existing striping on the roadway.

The action was taken at an adjourned meeting.

Teen-Ager Named To Fire Board

Harvey R. Crotts Jr. of Bolinas last night was chosen by commissioners of the Bolinas Fire Protection District to fill a vacancy on the commission caused by the recent death of Manuel S. Peters, Fire Chief Jose A. Silva reported.

Crotts, 18, has been a volunteer fireman for about a month and is a 1969 graduate of Tamalpais High School, now working in Bolinas.

The commission also authorized the chief to purchase caps and badges for eight new volunteer firemen and asked Silva to explore the cost of a fire alarm system for Bolinas' new fire station. Construction of the station will begin April 15, Silva said.

Montessori School Given A Use Permit

A use permit sought for a Montessori school was approved last night by the Corte Madera Planning Commission.

The commission told applicant Ellen H. Lochmann that the school at 5200 Paradise Drive must be limited to 50 children, and that the play area must be fenced from the street and the parking lot.

The commission also approved a proposed five-acre expansion of Marin Country Day School on the west of the present site, 5221 Paradise Drive.

Two applications for design review and a use permit for a proposed Gemco store were withdrawn, reported secretary Betty Long, since the town council last week turned down Gemco's request to build the store.

The commission postponed a hearing on parking space standards to the May 11 meeting, approved a tentative map for three units of Hidden Valley subdivision, and approved plans submitted by William Coyne for a deck addition at 63 Prince Royal Drive.

Parochial School Spelling Bee Set

San Rafael Council 1292 of Knights of Columbus will hold its annual spelling bee for seventh and eighth grade students of Marin's parochial schools at 8 p.m. next Friday at St. Anselm's Church parish hall, San Anselmo.

First prize will be $25. Second and third place finishers will receive $10 and $5 respectively. There will be no admission charge.

Counterfeit Bill

A teller at the Bank of Marin, Fifth Avenue and B Street took in a counterfeit $10 bill Friday, San Rafael police reported today.

Scholarship To Marinwood Youth

Paul Melcon, 17, of 234 Cobblestone Drive, Marinwood, was named yesterday as winner of a $4,000 scholarship from Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

Melcon, a senior at Terra Linda High School, was one of 16 high school seniors in Northern and Central California granted scholarships, offered by the utility company to children of its employees.

The scholarships are to the college of the student's choice at $1,000 a year for four years.

Melcon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Zenope P. Melcon, plans to attend the University of California at Berkeley.

Council Orders Suit To Stop Pollution From Oyster Dust

Petaluma City Council last night ordered the city attorney to file suit against Pioneer Shell Co. of 100 East D Street to stop air pollution.

For several years the city has received complaints about dust emission from the plant which grinds oyster shells for calcium-fortified chicken feed.

In October, 1968, the council authorized City Atty. Edouard E. Robert to declare the plant a public nuisance and bring suit if it didn't comply in 90 days.

City Engineer David A. Young explained that the firm had installed a sprinkler system that has cut dust emission. Councilmen said there was still a dust problem.

Councilman John W. Cavanagh Jr. said the dust was damaging the gears at the nearby city bridge and was "so thick" on a stop light that people thought the light was out.

Robert explained he hadn't proceeded with the suit because he understood that the condition had been corrected.

Young explained there was a dual problem because as the firm used the sprinkler system, the waste spray containing dust drains into the Petaluma River.

Thus the firm is in a bind because, if it cuts down on the dust, it contributes to water pollution, Young reported.

When Pioneer Shell Co. operates its spray, the dust is "cut down 85 to 90 per cent, but there is a grey mass under the D Street Bridge," Young commented.

"We gave them 90 days in 1968. . .the 90 days are now up," said Battaglia.

The city council also heard a request from Cavanagh to change budget review policy so that the council receives budget requests made by department heads with no restrictions placed on those requests by the city manager's office. He said the council was receiving department requests which had to meet restrictions, and commented "sometimes we're run too much by the staff."

The council adjourned until 7:30 p.m. next Monday at city hall for its regularly scheduled meeting.

Nixon's Mideast Expert Leaves Egypt For Israel

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Nixon administration's specialist on the Middle East left Cairo today and turned his peace-seeking mission to Israel, where officials were expected to renew their request for more U.S. warplanes.

Assistant Secretary of State Joseph Sisco ended his four-day stop in Egypt as the Israeli command was announcing more air raids across the Suez Canal against Egyptian military targets.

An announcement said the strikes against sites on the northern and southern sectors of the 102-mile canal began at 6 a.m. and ended 10 minutes later when all the raiders turned safely home.

Sisco flew from Cairo to Cyprus to change planes for the hop to Tel Aviv, a one-day stopover before he continues on to Jordan, Lebano Iran and possibly Saudi Arabia.

Israeli sources said Premier Golda Meir's government is going to ask him to explain fully President Nixon's decision to put off sending more warplanes to Israel as requested. They said the request for Phantoms and Skyhawks will be renewed.

According to these sources, Mrs. Meir's government feels the recent Soviet shipments of new SAM3 antiaircraft missiles has turned the Middle East arms balance to Egypt's favor, putting Israel in need of more planes to right the imbalance.

At least one newspaper cast suspicion on the fact that Sisco spent four days in Cairo while scheduling one in Israel—interpreted by Western diplomats as meaning the Nixon administration felt it had much more fence-mending to do in Cairo.

Picasso's Son Seeks Legitimacy

GRASSE, France (AP) — A French court today denied Claude Ruiz-Picasso, a son born out of wedlock to artist Pablo Picasso, the right to be recognized as a legitimate son of the painter.

Claude, 23, and his sister, Paloma, 21, were born to Francoise Gilot during the period when she was living with Picasso. With Picasso's approval they were given the right to use the name Ruiz-Picasso under a court order in 1961. But they were never legally recognized as legitimate children.

Picasso's attorney argued that Picasso was married to Olga Kokhlova in 1918 and that they were never divorced. She died in 1953. Thus, the attorney said, Claude was born of an adulterous relationship in 1947 and could not be legally recognized.

There will be an election of officers and the formation of committees, according to Mrs. Richard Grosser. The group will then discuss problems of hillside preservation.

Good things come in little oak barrels.

What makes a brandy smooth?
Mostly, it's the wood the brandy is aged in. That's why the best barrels are small ones which allow close contact between wood and liquor.
Almadén Brandy is aged in little oak barrels.
The result is a drink that goes down so smooth, you hardly know you're swallowing.

Fairfax Approves Park Regulations

The Fairfax City Council last night finally passed a set of rules and regulations for the use of city parks, rules which had been bouncing back and forth between the council and the Fairfax Parks and Recreation Commission since the beginning of the year.

The council then moved on to the next item on the agenda, and immediately got bogged down in a half-hour discussion of a city park.

The regulations adopted last night set fees, application requirements, and other stipulations on the use of the parks by groups of 74 or more.

Councilman Frank J. Egger voted against approval saying the regulations "seem like a lot of red tape to go through for the use of the park.

Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson joined Egger in voting against the regulations, but the two were outvoted by Mayor Francis J. O'Connell and Councilmen Robert R. Souza and Cornelis Van Vliet.

The proposed regulations, drawn up on the parks and recreation commission, were presented to the council in January and again in March. Both times they were returned to the commission for clarifications.

With the regulations out of the way, the council moved onto consideration of a proposed ordinance regarding cans and bottles on the ballfield.

The council eventually directed City Administrator Frances Lestanguet to talk to merchants regarding selling canned soda instead of bottles, and City Atty. Wallace Myers to determine the legality of an ordinance prohibiting alcoholic beverages at the park.

Before the council got that far, however, the discussion ranged from state alcoholic beverage control laws to whether the ballfield was city property or a schoolyard to an eloquent defense by O'Connell of "the beautiful name of Little League and motherhood."

Myers told the council that unless the ballpark could be considered school property, the council could not prohibit alcoholic beverages.

The council ordered the subject studied and adjourned to 8 p.m. next Tuesday, when it will take up seven items on last night's agenda which it didn't get to.

Building Inspector's Remarks Bring Sparks

"A pig was inherited," Dale W. Hostrup, Fairfax building inspector, reported to the city council last night regarding the city annexation of the Meadowland development last year.

Hostrup's report agreed with angry Meadowland residents who claim the area is a "planned slum," but concluded that there really isn't much the City of Fairfax can do about it.

His report was labeled "not only amazing, but appalling and insulting to our intelligence" by a spokesman for Meadowland residents.

Jack R. Greig, of 26 Sherman Court, said "We're speechless. That report will have to be answered by our attorney."

In the end, Mayor Francis J. O'Connell, told the Meadowland residents that the council was "not trying to hedge" on the controversy, but suggested that representatives of the residents meet with Hostrup, City Atty. Wallace Myers and City Administrator Frances Lestanguet to determine what, if anything, the city could do about Meadowland's problems.

The residents last month petitioned the council to issue a "stop all work" order to Mathew Farr, the developer, because he had failed to carry out promised projects in the area.

Hostrup said last night that Farr was told last October that he could have no more building permits.

Farr was not present last night to hear Hostrup report that "a project is only as good as its developer."

Myers explained last night, as he had a month ago, that Farr had posted a performance bond with the county prior to the development being annexed to Fairfax.

The county has accepted Farr's performance in the installation of curbs, streets, grading and other public facilities, but the bond's maintenance clause runs until November.

The Fairfax City Council Also:

HOUSING—Accepted the resignation of Gary Grace, 12 Vista Way, as Fairfax's representative on the citizens committee working for 600 federally financed low-rent housing units to be built in Marin County. Grace said he was in favor of such housing for the elderly but had "reservations about the same thing for low-income families. . . I came to the conclusion that if the ballot issue passed, a greater number of units for low-income families would be constructed than for low-income elderly." The council appointed Joanne Walla, 665 Cascade Drive, to succeed Grace on the Committee for Adequate Shelter for All. Van Vliet voted against the appointment without comment.

ANNOUNCEMENTS — Heard O'Connell: report that the annual spring debris clean-up will be conducted April 27 through May 1, when the Fairfax Garbage Disposal Co. will collect up to one cubic yard of debris per customer free; urge Fairfax citizens to cooperate with the federal census, and commend the eighth grade basketball team at St. Rita's School for its outstanding record in Catholic Youth Organization competition.

STREET—Accepted completion and authorized a progress payment of $9,315 to Maggiora & Ghilotti Inc. for slide repair work on Forrest Avenue, but withheld $11,208—15 per cent of the contract—until the cost of additional engineering work and a penalty for delayed completion of the project are determined.

FEES—Approved the transfer of $1,550 from the general fund to pay attorney fees.

WARRANTS—Approved payment of $56,444 in payroll and demands.

TELEVISION—Postponed discussion of a renegotiated franchise contract with Clear View Cable Systems until April 21. Myers reported a verbal offer from Clear View, but the council decided to wait until it was in writing before considering it.

APPOINTMENTS —Approved the nominations by O'Connell of Hugh T. Gallagher, 4 San Gabriel Court,to the board of review; Shone M. Martinez, 171 Frustuck Avenue, to the design review board, and the reappointment of Louis A. Soldavini to the parks and recreation commission. Egger and Wilson voted against Martinez's appointment and said an architect should be appointed to the design review board. Souza and Van Vliet voted against Soldavini's appointment without comment.

STORM DAMAGE — Authorized $2,600 for the repair of Meadow Way bridge, damaged by winter storms. Half of the $3,750 project will be paid for by federal funds. The council also authorized $3,400 for the removal of debris at 29 Canyon Road, where the home of Peter A. Wynne was destroyed in a winter slide. The total amount will be reimbursed by the federal government. Egger voted against the Wynne authorization, saying that, even though the city would be reimbursed, the home was on county property and not in the city.

Bill Would Retain Span Incumbents

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to retain on the Golden Gate Bridge board two incumbent directors from Sonoma County has been introduced by Assemblyman Frank P. Belotti, R-Eureka.

A 1968 law increased the number of representatives on the bridge board from Sonoma from two to three. The law required that one be a county supervisor, one a city councilman, and one a member of the public — all appointed by the board of supervisors. Previously, both representatives had been appointed from the public by the supervisors.

The law thus would have replaced one of the two previous incumbents with a supervisor on Dec. 12, 1968. So Belotti last year won passage of a bill delaying this provision two years.

The two incumbents affected are E. J. Guidotti, a former supervisor, and L. E. Castner, Sonoma's third seat, added by the 1968 law, was filled by Healdsburg councilman W. R. Lucius.

West Marin Couple To Get Water Supply

The Inverness Park Water System agreed to furnish water for a Point Reyes Station couple during a two-hour Public Utilities Commission hearing Friday, the commission reported yesterday.

The water system had refused to supply water to Michael A. and Deborah Dreiling of Balboa Avenue, but reversed its stand at the hearing, according to Eugene Raleigh, spokesman for the commission.

The Dreilings, previously supplied by the private Gadner Water Co., have been using bottled water and well water since service was discontinued.

A water system representative, James Downey, complained that the Dreilings are not in his area, that there is insufficient water, that mains would have to be enlarged, and that water pressure would be too high, but finally agreed to supply water at the normal price.

The Public Utilities Commission still must make a formal decision reflecting the resolution of the problem, Raleigh said.

Richardson Bay Specific Plan To Get Airing

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Marin County's controversial "specific plan" for development of Richardson Bay will be heard for a fourth time by the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission at 2 p.m. on Thursday in Room 1194 of the State Building, 455 Golden Gate Avenue.

The public hearing has ended, and this time the commission's staff is to make its recommendations on the plan.

Conservationists have attacked the plan's provisions for high-rise buildings and for allowing each property owner to fill up to 40 per cent of his existing open water. The plan's defenders have said it is the last chance for rational development of the narrow bay, development which they say is needed to keep it from choking with mud.

ABAG Unit To Review Regional Plan

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — A blueprint for development in the Bay Area for the next two decades will be reviewed by the Association of Bay Area Governments executive committee at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday in the Hotel Claremont.

A draft of the 93-page regional plan was unveiled on March 26, as reported by the Independent-Journal. It called for an end to urban sprawl through creation of homogenous "center cities" from new or present communities and a system of checks on haphazard absorption of open space.

Also on the agenda is a request to Gov. Ronald Reagan to restore to his 1970-71 budget allocations for 2,500 acres under the 1964 State Park Bond Act. The allocations were dropped from the budget when the state was unable to market the bonds.

The ABAG request notes that passage in the June primary of a proposition to raise the limit the state can pay for bond interest would allow purchase of the 2,500 acres. If the money is not allocated by the budget, however, the bond funds could be spent otherwise by the state, according to the proposed request.

Greek Prisoner Flies To Paris

ATHENS (AP) — The Greek military-backed regime liberated Monday one of its most celebrated political prisoners, composer Mikis Theodorakis, and allowed him to fly to Paris for medical treatment.

This was confirmed by the 45-year-old composer's mother and his wife. There was no statement from the government.

Theodorakis' wife, Myrto, said her husband looked "very pale, very surprised and very emotional" on the ride to Athens airport. He has suffered from tuberculosis for 10 years.

Swiss Conductor To Assist Ozawa

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Niklaus Wyss, 34, a native of Zurich, Switzerland, was named assistant conductor of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra yesterday.

Wyss studied music in Rome and Venice and became assistant conductor of the Toronto Symphony in 1965, serving two years under Seiji Ozawa, new conductor of the San Francisco Symphony.

Since 1967 Wyss has conducted music for operas and ballet in Switzerland and Germany.

Rejoining Ozawa, Wyss will be in charge of the San Francisco Symphony youth concerts, said Joseph A. Scafidi, general manager of the San Francisco Symphony Association.

New Secretary

BONN, Germany (AP) — Sigismund von Braun, West Germany's ambassador to Paris and the brother of American rocket expert Wernher von Braun, will become a state secretary in Foreign Ministry in Bonn, the ministry announced yesterday.

Praszker Again Hits West Marin Density

Michael Praszker, chairman of the Marin County Planning Commission, took one final swing at the county supervisors yesterday for allowing a density of 1.15 units per acre in potential earthquake and slide areas of West Marin.

Yesterday was the last day on the commission for Praszker, who will not seek reappointment when his term expires next Monday. He sounded the earthquake warning after the planning commission had voted 4 to 1, with Praszker abstaining, to approve 340 condominiums for the Oceana Marin development, north of Dillon Beach.

Praszker, a soils engineer, had consistently warned that the San Andreas fault runs through West Marin, and density should be kept to a minimum. He was particularly critical when the former board of supervisors raised the density from .88 units per acre to 1.15 units per acre in 1967.

Warning that dense development in West Marin could lead to disaster in case of another earthquake, Praszker declared: "The message I want to leave is this. I hope nothing will happen. But if it does and when it does, I hope members of the board of supervisors will be alive and live to see what they decided against the reasonable warnings by knowledgeable people."

Robert A. Roumiguierre, a spokesman for the developers of Oceana Marin, replied: "I'm glad that the people who built San Francisco did not feel that way."

"San Francisco is not on a fault," snapped Praszuer.

Approval of 340 condominiums at Oceana Marin came on a motion by Niels Schultz Jr. and a 4 to 1 vote, with Margaret Azevedo dissenting and Praszker abstaining. Walter F. Freitas was absent.

Mrs. Azevedo dissented because she wanted some provision for public access to Estero de San Antonio at the northern boundary of the development before the rezoning for condominiums was approved.

The planning commission accepted the recommendation of Jan Medbo, county planner, that the bulk of the condominiums be concentrated on the southern end, just north of Dillon Beach, leaving as relatively open land the northern cliffs overlooking Estero de San Antonio and the Pacific Ocean.

On March 16, the planning commissioners approved tentative maps for 330 single family homes at Oceana Marin. These, plus the 340 condominiums, brings the total to 675 units of housing on the 688 acres at Oceana Marin.

Attorney Benjamin P. Bonelli spoke for the owners of the property, Bodega Bay Lands Incorporated and Highway Properties Incorporated.

State Board Hopeful Names Marin Aides

Former Assemblyman John C. Williamson, candidate for the Democratic nomination for the State Board of Equalization in the Third District, has named Elizabeth R. Gatov and Roger Kent, both of Kent Woodlands, as co-chairmen of his campaign.

Mrs. Gatov is a former U.S. treasurer and a former Democratic national committeewoman from California. Kent is a former state Democratic Party chairman.

Greek Composer Works In Prison

PARIS (AP) — Greek composer Mikis Theodorakis says he composed a major work while imprisoned in Greece by tapping out the rhythms on the bars of his cell.

Theodorakis, who wrote the scores for the movies "Z" and "Zorba the Greek," was freed and flown to Paris Monday for treatment of a 10-year-old case of tuberculosis. An avowed Communist, he had been a political prisoner of Greece's military dictatorship for almost three years.

Friends said that while he was in prison, he wrote part of an oratorio which he considers his most important work. They said it is a setting of a poem, "State of Siege," which was written by a woman prisoner and smuggled into Theodorakis' cell.

Library Patrons To Get Questions

Patrons of the San Rafael Public Library this week will be handed two-page questionnaires asking what they think of the library.

The questionnaires were prepared by the Consulting Organization of San Francisco, which has begun a study of San Rafael's needs for library expansion. Their distribution started yesterday.

Members of the library board last night reviewed the initial responses, and agreed to hold a special meeting later this month with a representative of the consultant firm to complete results of the questionnaire survey.

Ponding Area To Be Filled

More than an acre of tidelands on a lot near Inverness will be filled so that a home can be built on what is now a ponding area.

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday voted 5 to 0 to grant a use permit to Lawrence Walters of Point Reyes Station, who owns a 1.6-acre lot on the west shore of Tomales Bay south of Willow Point, adjacent to property owned by the Inverness Garden Club.

Commissioner Margaret Azevedo had left the meeting a few minutes earlier, and Commissioner Walter F. Freitas was absent.

The area that Walters wants to fill is behind a levee, which has a couple of openings to allow tidal action behind the levee.

Acting Planning Director Werner Von Gundell objected to the fill, pointing out that a tidal waterways ordinance is being prepared to control just such filling.

Schultz drew a line on an aerial map of the site, proposing that Walters be allowed to fill about three-fourths of his 1.6-acre lot. His motion carried by unanimous vote.

The Marin County Planning Commission also:

TIDAL WATERWAYS ORDINANCE—Made several changes in the proposed tidal waterways ordinance to protect such industries as oyster beds and to ease requirements on small lots. The ordinance, which would control fill and construction on all tidal waterways, will be sent back to the county supervisors for approval.

AGRICULTURAL PRESERVE—Granted agricultural preserve status to 34 acres of land owned by Nancy Dunn on the west side of Shoreline Highway, just north of Marshall-Petaluma Road. Mrs. Dunn said she wants to breed purebred Arabian horses on the property.

LAND DIVISION—Continued until May 11 a request by owners of land at Cypress Avenue and Palm Avenue in Kentfield to create six building lots, each 20,000 square feet. Raymond Coffman, Derek Parker and Bruce Kenworthy will combine their properties and redivide the lot lines so that each lot will meet the minimum 20,000 square-foot minimum.

Los Angeles Teachers Defy Court's Orders

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Teachers vowed today to defy a court order to end their strike for smaller classes and larger salaries in the nation's second biggest school district.

School officials, in turn, said negotiatoins wouldn't be renewed with teachers "until they are back in their classrooms."

The strike, which began Monday, will continue until the Board of Education in the 650,000-pupil district agrees to a school system which "at least begins to meet the needs of the students and the teachers," a strike leader stated.

School officials said nearly half the district's 25,000 teachers went on strike. Union officials claimed 60 per cent. Supt. Robert Kelly termed the strike "very effective" although most schools stayed open and attendance was reported near normal.

Superior Court Judge Richard Schauer issued an injunction ordering teachers back to classes and said defiance of his order "may mean jail or fines for individual teachers and their leaders."

But Kelly said school officials have "no intention of putting anyone in jail." Robert Ransom, president of the 22,000-member United Teachers of Los Angeles, said the teachers would test the court order by ignoring it and that citations would be appealed.

Authorities said apparently no law directly forbids teachers to strike in Los Angeles, although police and firemen strikes are banned.

Gov. Ronald Reagan, in Sacramento, had no comment but press secretary Paul Beck said "the governor does not think public employes have the right to strike." Beck added: "There is no legal action he can take, however."

A 11-3 Los Angeles City Council vote urged Reagan and the legislature to take immediate action to increase state support to schools.

The Los Angeles school district says it's too broke to boost teacher wages more than five per cent in a projected near $700 million budget. School revenue proposals have been buried at the polls for years, resulting in economies that in many schools means teachers act as their own janitors in sweeping out classrooms every morning.

School officials said 3,071 of 5,969 high school teachers failed to work Monday; 2,878 of 6,241 teachers skipped classes in the junior highs, and 5,888 of 12,489 grade school teachers stayed away.

Schoolchildren also got an unexpected holiday due to teacher strikes in Santa Maria, and in Minneapolis, Minn., Muskogee, Okla., and Butte, Mont.

Air Jam Eases; Trucks Idle

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A 20-day-old strike by air traffic controllers appeared to be ending today, but some teachers and truck drivers remained on strike.

A Federal Aviation Administration spokesman said 250 air controllers returned to work today in New York. He said there were no absentees in Boston or Cleveland on the first shift. Washington, D.C., reported only one controller absent.

The back-to-work trend followed increasing court pressure on the controllers around the country, including a temporary injunction issued Monday by U.S. Dist. Court Judge Orin G. Judd in New York.

Wildcat trucking strikes in various cities have caused thousands of layoffs in some parts-short industries. Cities affected included St. Louis, Buffalo, Milwaukee, and Kenosha, Wis.

The truck drivers are protesting a tentative nationwide contract that provides wage increases of $1.10 over three years. The Teamsters union is setting up a referendum on the contract.

Among the cities affected by trucker strikes were Chicago, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Detroit — where shots were fired at a passing truck — Buffalo, N.Y., and Cherryville, N.Y.

Newspaper employes remained on strike at the Boston Record American, New England's largest circulation newspaper. They were asking wage parity with other Boston newspaper workers.

In Madison, Wis., state Atty. Gen. Robert Warren drew up court papers today in an effort to head off a threatened strike by several thousand workers at 24 state mental institutions.

Plea Made To Forgery Count

Donald Richard Storkan, 30, of San Rafael, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to charges of forgery and possessing a check with intent to defraud another persons.

A jury trial was set for the week of June 22.

Storkan was arrested March 18 after a cashier at a San Rafael market refused to cash a check for him which was made out to another man.

ONE OF THE "extras" that Petaluma's mayor Helen Putnam characteristically manages to add to her schedule was this tea she put on at her home in Petaluma to entertain R. H. Hackendahl, director of the National Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up Bureau headquartered in Washington, D.C. The two met when Helen went to Washington to accept the city's award from the bureau for the Petaluma beautification program. The mayor invited him to Petaluma should he be in the area, and last month he came. Joining him at the tea she gave were Petaluma City Council members and the beautification chairman, Mrs. Agnes McGilvra of Petaluma, left.

Petaluma's Leading Citizen

By GEN HUDDLESTON

Petaluma's mayor, Helen Putnam, seems to be everywhere at once. In the classroom as teacher and principal of Two Rock Union School, snipping ribbons at openings and other official duties of the city's mayor, spearheading the Petaluma beautification project, speaking at meetings in other cities, serving as commentator at benefit fashion shows, and home writing a book of songs to aid classroom teachers.

The wife of Rutherford Putnam, Helen became interested in politics and local government as a result of her service on the Sonoma County School Board from 1947 to 1959.

Elected to the board, at the first meeting the board immediately named her chairman. Next she became board president and maintained that position during her tenure.

While on the school board, Helen served as president of the Sonoma County School Trustees Association. In 1958-59 she served as president of the California School Boards Association working with all school boards in California, thus proving, she declared, that the president doesn't necessarily have to come from a large California city.

FOLLOWING DEFEAT in the 1960 election she re-entered the teaching profession, one she had pursued for many years.

The Marin School on Spring Hill Road, in Petaluma, a one-room school, which had the first through the sixth grades and is now out of existence, was where she renewed her career as a teacher.

"I feel that because of the limited number of pupils (there were only 21) and the individual attention they received from me, as well as the knowledge the younger ones picked up from the older ones, those children received and retained a vast amount of facts. All of them went on to bigger and better things and made the transition to higher education with absolutely no hangups," said Helen.

Recalling a reunion at the Marin School shortly before its deactivation, Helen said former students from all over the area and from many parts of the state congregated for the occasion. It was sponsored by the school's Parent-Teacher Association. At the suggestion of its former teacher the P-T-A located the old school bell which had "rung out" the school hours for years before renovation of the structure removed the belfry. Located and owned by a former Marin student, the bell was mounted on the back of a truck, returned to the school for the day and once again rang out to call together "students of dear old Marin School."

After two years, Helen left Marin School to go to Waugh School in Petaluma. With three teachers who taught two grades each, first through sixth, Helen not only taught first and second grades but also was the school principal.

After two years at Waugh, she was asked to go to Petaluma's Two Rock Union School as principal and first grade teacher. That school had kindergarten through the sixth grade. Helen is now completing her seventh year there as teacher and principal.

Not all of her teaching experience has been in elementary schools. Helen has taught adult classes and junior high grades in both English and foreign languages.

"THE THING that encourages me about today's children," declared Helen "is that generation after generation they are enchanted by the same thing: the humor in something or the wonder of something is the same as it has always been."

After the school board defeat — and at the urging of friends — Helen decided in 1960 to run for the Assembly on the Democratic ticket. The incumbent was Richard H. McCollister. Her thoughts were. . . "This is an interesting opportunity and — why not?" While not elected, she found the experience very rewarding, serving to hone her political acumen. Winner was the present incumbent, William T. Bagley (R-San Rafael).

FOLLOWING THE unsuccessful bid for the Assembly, Helen decided to run for mayor of Petaluma principally because the incumbent was unopposed. Feeling she had the background to fill the position, she entered the race, won the election and took office in 1965 for a four-year-term. The first woman to seek the position in Petaluma, she was elected mayor although she had never run for the council, a normal procedure before seeking the higher office. She is now serving her second term, following re-election in June of 1969.

According to the 1968 edition of the California Roster, there are only 15 women mayors heading city governments in all of the incorporated cities of California, only six of which have a population exceeding that of Petaluma.

It was shortly after her installation as mayor that the City of Petaluma decided to hold a Mayor's Beautification Conference calling upon the community to look at the area in a general way and focus on points for improvements. The first conference, chaired by Lloyd Burlingham of radio station KTOB, generated the action to have the city burn old, outmoded and useless chicken houses in the area. Thus was born the thriving beautification program which has picked up momentum rapidly since its inception, now headed by Mrs. Agnes McGilvra, co-owner of KTOB in Petaluma. Mrs. McGilvra had lived in a community which had actively participated in the National Congress of Beautification Program and was therefore familiar with the various types of effective programs. She was selected by the Petaluma Chamber of Commerce to head up the thriving project.

THE EFFECTIVENESS of the project thus far may be gauged by the award presented to the City of Petaluma by the National Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up Bureau in Washington, D. C.

Helen went to Washington on Feb. 23, 1970 to accept the honor presented by R. M. Hackendahl, bureau director. Impressed by the city's progress in its beautification goals, Mr. Hackendahl accepted an invitation from Petaluma's mayor to visit the city and was here

Mrs. Reagan Speaks Her Mind

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Nancy Reagan, wife of California Governor Ronald Reagan, captivated yesterday more than 200 delegates attending the convention of the Golden Gate District of the California Federation of Women's Clubs being held at the Holiday Inn in San Rafael.

Guest of honor at the opening luncheon, she scored time after time with her deft fielding with wit and graciousness of a barrage of impromptu questions from the floor. In accordance with plans calling for no speech—only answers to non-political queries—she commented for 45 minutes on a wide range of subjects.

By coincidence both she and Golden Gate District president Mrs. William B. Wright were wearing leg casts, and her opening remarks on the situation established her flair for humor.

"We have been comparing notes," she said, "and I find Mrs. Wright hasn't received any toe warmers such as people have been sending me. I have to keep wiggling my toes, but it's not a form of greeting and I don't expect her to wiggle back."

HOW HER accident happened: "You'll never believe it—I broke my foot having a race with my 11-year-old son in the back yard. I stepped in one of the sprinkler head holes. To add insult to injury, I didn't win the race. I guess my racing days are over."

On pronunciation of the name Reagan: "It's Raygan—an easy way to remember is that it's spelled with an A. It would be spelled Regan if it were pronounced Reegan."

Who is head of their house: "He is, you bet, and I wouldn't have it any other way. This whole women's liberation movement where women want to be equal—I'm not in favor of it. I don't know what they are talking about."

How she met her husband: "In New York I was getting telephone calls and mail for another girl named Nancy Davis—my maiden name—and she was far, far out, and I continued to get mail for her when I came to California. I was making a picture with Mervyn Leroy and he suggested Ronald Reagan, as president of the Screen Actors' Guild, would be able to straighten out the problem for me. . . . .he did. He says he solved my problem by changing my name."

The governor's mansion: "We have been trying to get a new mansion for 36 years, but it has become a political football. I couldn't care less if I never set foot in it. I just would like to get this question settled once and

HELEN HELP US!

If A Babysitter Is Unhappy He Should Look For A Better Job

DEAR READERS:

Each time I publish a letter from a disgruntled baby sitter, I'm deluged with replies, from sitters and employers alike. Here are a few of the best answers to the girl who wrote "What is a Baby Sitter?"

DEAR HELEN:

When I read the letter from P.J., the "put upon" babysitter, I got so mad that I tore it from the paper. Here is my version of sitting:

A baby sitter is a person who:

Is always ready on time, without complaint.

Has to stay up later than expected, but doesn't complain. After all, it's a job well done, and he gets paid for the extra hours.

Is prepared for the unexpected.

Brings toys and games for the kids, and books for himself after they go to bed.

Sits for extra kids, and usually is treated fairly by the parents, with extra pay or some kind of gift.

Obeys all rules set down by parents.

Is asked many questions, but why not? An employer doesn't want a stranger sitting with his children.

Eats before leaving home and doesn't clean out the refrigerator, though he enjoys the snacks left for him. (But he makes sure they are for him, not for dinner next day.)

Does what he is told, without griping, and is given a bonus.

Doesn't howl about the salary. After all, he knew what it was when he took the job.

I am a boy babysitter. My rate is 50 cents per hour. — G.W.

DEAR HELEN:

I look at sitting differently from the girl who saw all the bad things. It is a privilege for me to be allowed to sit with young children. Sure, I help the parents to have a free night, but also they are trusting me with their children, knowing they will be exposed to my beliefs, morals and judgments.

Baby sitting is an opportunity for me to learn from and about children, to explore with them, get training for motherhood. I learn about self-control and composure. Children teach you to use your imagination and they help you forget your problems. They're fun to be with, and a challenge in coping with the unexpected. — PAT

DEAR HELEN:

We're the lucky ones—we who have nice employers. If P.J.'s are so bad, she should look for a better job. But it seems to me that she just doesn't like kids. Here's my version, in answer to hers:

A babysitter is one who:

Gets off an hour early because the party wasn't so good, but is still paid $1.50 more than she should have gotten if she'd remained the whole time.

Sits for people who are courteous and care about what's happening in her world. They bring her into the picture, but she doesn't hog it.

Entertains friends of the family because she enjoys life and people, (but never lets anyone in she doesn't know)

Laughs at the silly personal questions asked by the small fry. Why resent? Has fun playing with them. If they are bratty sometimes, well, she probably was at their ages too. —

for all for the State of California.

"THE OLD mansion, a private home bought by the state, is still open for tours, but you can't go on the third floor. It was declared a fire hazard 15 years ago."

Mrs. Reagan explained that her contribution has consisted of getting some furniture donated for a new mansion, obtaining some paintings of young Californsia artists for display in the Capitol and the house and collecting some "wonderful old prints of California that I found at Fort Sutter."

Rebellious youth: "It seems to me a lot of our problems come from a very permissive age we have been in." Referring to a recent encounter she and the Governor had with militant students, she said, "I was frightened. . . .but way down deep you feel so terribly sorry for them. You feel that they don't believe in anything. They are anti religion, anti God, but you feel they want to believe in something and someone. You want to say it is there for you to believe in, and you wonder where their parents are and what they are doing.

"I'm speaking of the hard core radicals. We must keep in mind they are a minority, but I wish the majority of young people would take a firmer stand."

FASHION: Mini or Midi? "I'm delighted skirts are getting longer. There wasn't any other direction for them to go, was there? I'm tired of looking at knees. I have to sit on a lot of platforms, and I'm always conscious of grabbing my skirt. Longer skirts are so much more graceful, more feminine and more becoming. Besides my husband likes them!

"My favorite designer? Galanos. I've known him for years. I think I got the first dress he ever designed, cost only $100 then.

"Men's clothing? My husband and I both just want a man to look like a man. He's not terribly fashion conscious. What he calls his new black suit is eight years old. He would be very happy in blue jeans or riding pants."

Academy awards: "We are delighted Duke Wayne won—we're very close friends—and that Cary Grant got a special award. We don't see many pictures any more. In fact there are a lot I don't want to see."

Asked how she would feel if her daughter wanted to marry a member of a minority group, she said, "I would hope she would marry a fine young man she loved and who loved her—the rest falls into place."

Hobbies and club activities: "Since we came to Sacramento there is not much private personal time left. We used to have a ranch that we had to sell before election because of the high taxes, but I loved ranch life.

"In Los Angeles I belonged to the Junior League, the Assistance League and the Colleagues, which support a home for unwed mothers, and I worked on the board of my children's school."

Need of a vagrancy law in California: Questioned as to whether women should work for one since vagrants cannot be dealt with adequately without a vagrancy law, she declared, "I'm a great believer in the power of women to do anything they want to do. After all, it took only one woman to get prayer out of the schools (a mistake which should be corrected in her opinion)."

Silver Cleaning

A cotton swab dipped in silver cleaner cleans the decorative work on silver platters or serving bowls. The swab does the job better than a cloth—especially when it comes to getting into tiny crevices.

on March 26 to witness for himself the successes attained.

"Beautification is simply a means of making your environment more healthful, more attractive and therefore a more pleasant place in which to live," declared the mayor. "For a really effective program, all the people in the community must lend a hand, backed, of course, by its government. I feel that this kind of on-going program with so many individuals involved in so many different ways makes for community oneness and a pride in itself."

Helen said she was a bit surprised during her visit to Washington to have so many persons approach her and introduce themselves when they learned she was mayor of a California city.

"I've never shaken the hand or even met a lady mayor before," they stressed.

IN HER CAPACITY as mayor, Helen has served as chairman of the Sonoma County Mayors and Councilmens Association and has served as president of the Redwood Empire Division of the League of California Cities, which encompasses Marin and all counties up to the Oregon border. This entails meeting and working with many other city officials throughout the state.

"I like to believe I was chosen president of the organization, the first woman to hold that office, not because I am a woman but rather because it was felt that I was capable of doing the job," declared the mayor.

Not content with her considerable duties as teacher, principal and city mayor, Helen is often called upon to be commentator at fashion shows not only in the surrounding area but also in other counties, an assignment which she thoroughly enjoys. Of consuming interest, too, is her effort on behalf of the Guide Dogs for the Blind.

A woman of many talents, in the early 1950s, Helen had her own radio show over KSRO in Santa Rosa. On for 15 minutes, five mornings a week, she discussed philosophy, children, clothes, books, cooking, gardening, household hints and any subject of current interest.

OTHER INTERESTS are music and dancing. Several years ago, Helen was teamed with two other Petaluma performers, Pierce Thompson and Robert Mallet, a trio, who were hits with songs and soft shoe dances executed to such oldies as "Moonlight Bay" and "Tea for Two."

A project now underway is a book of songs with words and music by the mayor. Written with simple musical notes, the book is primarily to aid teachers who must include musical works in school programs but lack the musical knowledge to do them effectively.

The wife of Rutherford Putman, a third generation Petaluman who is associated with the Sanderson Ford Co. in Petaluma, Mrs. Putnam is the mother of two children. Her son, Rush, who served with the Peace Corps for two years in India, is completing his third year as a teacher in an upper elementary school in Harlem, N. Y. Her daughter Kate (Mrs. McKenzie Oliver), also a teacher, is living in Melbourne, Australia.

Leisure Clothes Predicted For Future Business Wear

By WALTER LOGAN

NEW YORK (UPI)—Robert Schafer often works 10 and 12 hours a day because he strongly believes in leisure—for other people. He is a designer and he believes the leisure clothes he designs for men will be the business clothes of the future.

The sale of men's conventional suits has been static for two decades despite the increase in population although the sale of sport jackets and blazers has boomed. Booming along with these have been all sorts of slacks, sweaters, sports shirts and the like.

Schafer, 35, is one of the pioneers of shirt suits, which are leisure combinations with matching sports shirt and slacks, and of non-suits which are slightly more formal combinations and usually of a heavier fabric than the sports shirt weight. He believes knits will takeover in this field.

A GOOD EXAMPLE of the shirt suit in his fall line would be a cardigan shirt in a printed plaid with matching but fully fined slacks and worn with a belt which seems to be a current fashion or with a chain belt which is even more fashionable. One suit was yellow plaid on a white background, another was white plaid on a black background.

Schafer designs for Burma-Bibas, Inc., a firm which for years made only neckwear and still does a tremendous business in such neckwear lines as Oleg Cassini, John Weitz, Prince Igor, Schiaparelli—and Robert Schafer.

A few years ago Burma-Bibas decided to go into the sportswear business and looked around for a "bright, young designer" with experience and found Schafer in the same building working for a rival firm. So Schafer moved down in the world—from the 20th to the 16th floor. He still sometimes gets off at the wrong floor.

"One of the first things we produced were His and Hers tailored blouses which were very important at the time," Schafer said. "Italian knits were coming into popularity then and we eliminated the women's line and concentrated on men's wear only.

"FROM THESE Italian knits came such things as tailored knit sports shirts and the first non-suits. There were, of course, sweaters, lots of leather in jackets, cut-and-sewn sports shirts—and, of course, there were always the ties.

"We're going toward the non-suit because it embodies the very thought of leisure wear. With more and more leisure time in the 70s—we might even get down to the four-day week—men are going to want more and more comfortable clothes, and knits represent comfort.

"I think that eventually it will be worn even for business. These are the times of the young thinkers—it's a young thinking world. Not just young people but young thinking people of all ages. The younger generation is already wearing these non-suits and pretty soon they will want to wear them to business. And, of course, such ideas always filter upward to the older generation."

Schafer's fall line leans heavily to both knits and leather and the whole key is in combinations of both. Knits are combined with pony skin, calfskin, fleece and suede. Some of the knits have wide pony fur lapels or ostrich leather collar and cuffs.

ONE OF THE more outstanding fall models looked like a suede jacket with builtin suspenders, with leather buckles on each side of the chest. Another showed pony collars on leather with both knitted and leather sleeves. Most of the woolknits had leather trim, such as a V neck navy and red tunic with leather trim on the neck and with a matching leather belt.

What is bound to be an important item in the field is the mix and match coordinates which make up into all sorts of non-suits. For example there was a combination of plaid knitted slacks worn either with a plain shirt or with a matching slipover shirt—or any other combination.

Schafer is a native New Yorker who attended New York University where he studied English literature and psychology. He fled from there to the Fashion Institute where he learned the basic facts of life about clothing. He first thought designers dealt only in terms of glamorous evening wear — sweeping ball gowns and the like. Then he learned more facts of life—people don't wear sweeping ball gowns very much. They wear sports clothes.

Face-Framer Hat Varies The Look

The "face-framer" look is gaining fresh importance as fashion-alert young girls discover that an exciting new hat is the ideal "picture frame" upon which to build an exciting head-to-toe look. With the switch of her hat, a-girl sets the illusions of her fashion close-up—femininity, efficiency, a return to the 1920s, the modern hippie, whatever she wants.

DRAMA REVIEW

'R And G Are Dead' Has A Lot Of Life

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

SAN FRANCISCO — "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead" which helped lift the American Conservatory Theater last season to new heights returned last night to the Geary Theater.

The play, which will be in ACT's repertory for a short run, is again under the brilliant guidance of William Ball, the company's masterful general director.

In Shakespeare's "Hamlet," the names of these two former classmates of the "Mad Dane," are spoken only once—thus the title of Stoppard's play .

As the play unfolds R and G find themselves summoned to Elsinore to help solve Hamlet's madness. It is Stoppard's springboard to what it might have been like in the cold, windy and foreboding castle seen through the eyes of two who simply cannot comprehend the tragedy surrounding them. This is what makes Stoppard's R and G such warm and identifiable characters. In a sense they know theirs is a doomed fate, too.

Ball again has called upon last year's leads — James Milton as Rosencrantz and Philip Kerr as Guildenstern — for this revival.

They are expertly matched. I found myself so wrapped up in their comic counterplay (i.e. questions and answers; that it was at times difficult to distinguish them.

Also back in his same role of the Player is Ken Ruta, who is one of ACT's most distinguished actors. He fits the juicy assignment.

Another amusing role is handled very well by Mark Wheeler as Alfred, a member of the Players who is called upon to play the troupe's female roles.

The rest of Stoppard characters are the major leaguers of the original who are given a chance to do a little over-acting.

Taking opening night roles in some parts which are double cast: Tom V. V. Tammi as Hamlet; Suzzane Collins as Ophelia; Jim Baker as Claudius; Carol Mayor Jenkins as Gertrude; Dennis Kennedy as Polonius, and Jeff Chanddler, the player king.

The simple slanted stage with the barest of properties is ideal for Stoppard's contemporary, yet silken, prose. Also helping to create the mood is Lee Hoiby's timely placed music and Robert Fletcher's softly hued multicolored costumes.

While having no basis for comparison to R and G. of last season since having not seen it, I find this production to be another sterling offering from ACT.

Community Cooperation Plan Voted

A plan to gather a group of residents representing all points of view in the Sausalito School District who would work with members of the Sonoma State College psychology department in an attempt to establish better communications in the district was endorsed last night by the Sausalito School District Board.

The board urged Mrs. Joel J. Kudler of the Sausalito Parents Club to go ahead with plans to assemble 25 to 30 individuals, who would seek assistance from the college.

Mrs. Kudler told the board that members of the parents club and Supt. Phillip W. Schneider met last week with members of the psychology department. "They agreed to take us on and help us to do something about helping this community pull together," she said.

Mrs. Kudler said specific plans for the communications group such as methods to be used in dealing with problems, have not yet been decided.

The Sausalito School District Board also:

CLOSED SESSION—Met in closed session for more than an hour to consider teachers' salary demands.

NURSERY SCHOOL — Granted a request from the Sausalito Nursery School to use Central School facilities for a flea market April 26.

SICK LEAVE—Granted Mrs. Helen Shore, a district employee who is recovering from a corneal transplant operation, a 30-day extension of sick leave.

LEAVE OF ABSNCE—Approved a leave of absence for 1970-71 for Mrs. Gene Willis, reading specialist at Martin Luther King School. Mrs. Willis has been offered a federal fellowship to San Francisco State College.

Sausalito Parents Get New Hearing On Cuts

After listening to demands from parents for a special meeting to discuss proposed personnel cuts and use of school facilities for the coming year, the Sausalito School District board reluctantly agreed to hold the meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the district office. (Another Sausalito schools story, page 1)

The board's decision was made in response to Royce McLemore of Marin City who reminded trustees she had presented them (at the board's last meeting) with a petition signed by more than 300 residents asking for the meeting.

The petition rejected the board's decision to close Bayside School next year and transfer students to Central School and called for the retention of all teachers, James T. Tolver Jr., vice principal at Martin Luther King School and Gabe Jackson, a community worker for the district.

Toliver and Jackson's positions had earlier be eliminated by the board as part of drastic budget cuts for the next school year and eight teachers informed they would not be rehired for budget reasons.

Trustee James E. Muldoon objected to the call for a special meeting, saying that all the topics contained in the petition "have already been discussed — at great length — in public meetings."

Trustee David E. Freeheim, in answer to charges in the petition that the community has no chance to voice opinions in policy-making, said wearily that at "every board meeting, people voice opinions; every day in the mail and every night on the telephone I hear people voicing opinions.

"The problem is that if we make a decision that does not appeal to certain individuals, we are not listening to the community," he added heatedly.

Trustee C. Gerald Clear, who said he favored a special meeting "only if there is new information to present," read briefly from a memorandum from a group of district residents which listed various changes in district operations which the residents said would save the district $170,000.

In a quick, point by point discussion of the changes, Clear said he felt the proposals would result in less than $20,000 in savings.

After much discussion and heated comments from members of the audience, the board agreed to again discuss the issues on Monday, then go into a regular board meeting if time permits.

Nixon Names Admiral Head Of Joint Chiefs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon today named Adm. Thomas H. Moorer as new chairman of Joint Chiefs of Staff, succeeding Gen. Earle G. Wheeler in the nation's highest ranking military post.

Moorer is now Chief of Naval Operations. Wheeler, 62, who has held the office since July, 1964, plans to retire when the change becomes effective July 2, subject to Senate confirmation of Moorer.

Nixon at the same time designated Vice Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr., now commander of naval forces in Vietnam, to succeed Moorer as Navy chief.

Moorer, 58, will be the second Navy man to hold the position of chairman of the joint chiefs. Adm. Arthur Radford held the post in 1953-57.

Moorer, a native of Mount Willing, Ala., was named chief of naval operations June 3, 1967, and was re-appointed by President Nixon last July 12.

Zumwalt, 49, a native of San Francisco, has been serving since September 1968, in the dual role of commander of naval forces in Vietnam and chief of the U.S. naval advisory group.

Gale Troubles Southern Coast

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Winds whipped through Southern California at up to 50 miles an hour, harassing motorists and batting offshore craft including a 467-foot ship.

The 12,500-ton La Jenelle was anchored offshore near Oxnard 50 miles north of Los Angeles Monday when gale-force wind and 10-foot swells ripped it from its moorings and drove it aground.

The two men aboard were picked up by the Coast Guard before a breaker tipped the ship on its side .

The La Jenelle, which once carried tourists through the Caribbean as the Bahama Star, was being converted into a floating restaurant.

Halprin, Jordan Get Fellowships

Two Marin County residents are among 286 recipients of John S. Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation fellowships, foundation officials have announced.

Ann S. Halprin, choreographer and founder of San Francisco's avant-garde Dancer's Workshop, and Lawrence C. Jordan, an experimental filmmaker, have received unattached grants from the foundation.

Mrs. Halprin lives at 15 Ravine Way, Kentfield, and Jordan at 15 Allyn Avenue, San Anselmo.

Consumers Back Auto Repair Law

The Association of California Consumers, based in Sausalito, today urged all car owners to wire their legislators to support a bill regulating auto repairs.

The bill, SB 11 by Sen. Anby the Senate Business and Professions Committee Thursday afternoon.

The bill, SB 11, by Sen. Anthony Beilenson, D-Los Angeles, would set up a state bureau to police repair practices, and require dealers to register with the bureau.

Donald Vial of San Rafael, president of the association, said the bill was patterned after the 1963 state law that drove dishonest dealers out of business.

Marked equipment would be run through auto shops where complaints are received by the bureau, and unnecessary work or charges for work not actually done would be detected.

Vial said that oil companies and new car dealers were opposing the bill. "Only concerted consumer action will counter these powerful lobbies," he said.

AT&T Warrants, Bond Sale Brisk

NEW YORK (UPI)—The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. rang up millions of dollars in sales on the first day of its $1.57 billion bond offering Monday, part of a giant four-way drive to raise $3.1 billion for new phone facilities and construction.

The $1.57 billion of debenture bonds with warrants, the largest financing package in American corporate history, carry 8 3-4 per cent interest and will mature in 30 years. The debentures closed at 100 3-4 and the warrants at 12 7-8.

AT&T is issuing about 549 million rights to its 3.1 million stockholders that will enable them to buy 15.7 million bonds with a face value of $100 each, plus about 31.4 million warrants to purchase 31.4 million shares of common stock at $52 a share.

Prince Charles Gets Back Rub

KYOTO, Japan (AP) — Britain's Prince Charles has learned at first hand about one of the functions of geisha girls —they give effective massage for a weary back.

After a visit to a restaurant where he ate native food, Charles was asked by an attendant geisha whether he had found his current Japanese tour tiring. He said his back was tired, and accepted the girl's offer to massage his back and shoulders.

"Arigato, a rigato," Charles said when she finished. That means thanks in Japanest.

Florida Busing Plan Launched

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Yellow school buses transported black and white children to their new classrooms today in Manatee County as officials implemented the desegration plan blocked last week by Gov. Claude Kirk.

Some 2,600 of the county's 17,000 public school pupils were sent to new schools to provide the 80-20 black-white ratio ordered by a U.S. district judge. The plan also transfered 107 teachers.

Kirk was at the state Capitol in Tallahassee when the busing began.

School Supt. Dr. Jack Davidson said everything was going smoothly.

Yoko's Reported Part In Split

LONDON (AP) — Paul McCartney's split from the Beatles was precipitated by the marriage of John Lennon, his songwriting partner, to Japanese artist Yoko Ono, the group's official biographer says.

Hunter Davies, the biographer, said in the Sunday Times that after Lennon and Yoko got together—they were married in March 1969—"the rest of the Beatles didn't matter any more."

Davies said that under Yoko's influence Lennon began taking charge of Beatle business affairs, also mounting peace campaigns, holding offbeat art exhibitions and issuing records without other members of the group.

San Francisco Hikes Water Bill

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Water rates for two million residents of San Francisco and the Peninsula will go up 15 per cent on June 1.

The $3.2 million a year boost was approved by a 10-1 vote yesterday of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors.

About 56 per cent of the 235 million gallons of water distributed daily by the city's water department is used on the Peninsula by cities and water districts which buy it from San Francisco.

Arthur H. Frye Jr., department general manager, said the increase was "an absolute necessity if we are to meet our present and anticipated needs." He said the department has started an 11-year, $106.5 million capital improvement program.

Hamilton's Air Controllers Play Major Civilian Role

Unit Serves Wide North Coast Area

By C. P. McCARTHY

"Hamilton RAPCON, this is Nan 456 Alpha. . ."

With a similar introduction, any plane flying under certain altitudes over Marin, as well as most of Sonoma and Napa counties, will contact RAPCON—radar approach control—at Hamilton Air Force Base.

With a few minor exceptions, and one big one, Hamilton air traffic controllers play the same role as air traffic controllers around the nation.

The big exception, of course, is the amount of traffic in Hamilton's air space.

Hamilton controls a chunk of the sky up to 7,000 feet bounded by Calistoga to the north, Napa to the east and Point Reyes to the west. South of Hamilton, the area ranges from a high of 5,000 feet near the field and drops to 3,000 feet at the boundaries which are Richmond to the east, Sausalito to the south and Stinson Beach to the west.

With no major metropolitan airport in the area, the life of a Hamilton air controller can hardly be compared to the pace and atmosphere of a controller at, for example, the Oakland center, which handles traffic in and out of the major Bay Area airports.

But the five Air Force men sitting at radar screens, surrounded by sophisticated communications equipment, are handling all traffic — military, commercial and general aviation — through Hamilton air space, which totals about 5,000 planes a month.

They control traffic in and out of the Air Force base, as well as Napa County, Sonoma County and Coddingtown airports — all of which handle small commercial flights — and the Petaluma Sky-Ranch, Sonoma Skypark, Sonoma Valley and Smith Ranch airports and Gnoss Field.

Occasionally, even a slow climbing commercial jet from San Francisco International will enter Hamilton air space and be handled by base controllers.

Only about half of the air traffic controlled by Hamilton is military. The controllers assist commercial and private flights in their approaches to area airfields and also keep all air traffic separated to prevent midair collisions.

Hamilton will guide a plane into any one of the area airports until the landing guidance can be taken over visually by the airport's own control tower.

Traffic through or out of Hamilton air space will be handled until it is handed over to whoever controls the next chunk of sky.

The sky above Hamilton's space, as well as to the south of it, is handled by the Bay Tower and Radar Approach Control Facility at Oakland. Traffic to the east is controlled by Travis Air Force Base.

There are five controllers on the day shift at Hamilton, compared to 21 at the Oakland facility, which handles about four times the amount of traffic Hamilton does.

A private plane taking off from Gnoss Field and flying south would be assisted by Hamilton until it crossed into Oakland's space when it would be handed over to Oakland. While one controller at Hamilton talked to the pilot, another would be in contact with Oakland, preparing to hand the plane over to them.

The same standards, regulations and language are used by the civilian and military controllers.

The skies are the domain of the Federal Aviation Administration, whether for military, commercial or private use.

Hamilton air controllers are certified by the FAA, and civilian Robert O. Proett is on duty at the base as the FAA's air traffic representative.

Proett said the only difference between the civilian and military controllers is who they work for.

That, and the amount of traffic they handle and the time they're sick.

Glass Vandals Hit Stores In Three Cities, I-J Office

The Independent-Journal office in Novato and six business firms in three cities were attacked last night in a spree of glass smashing vandalism.

A store in Novato, three in San Rafael and another in Petaluma were attacked, sustaining total damage of more than $2,000.

The Independent-Journal office's broken window was the same window which had a metal nut shot through it last Friday night.

Novato police discovered five holes in four plate glass windows at Johnson's Red Barn, 7388 Redwood Highway, at 10:37 p.m. Loss was estimated at $1,200.

LEAD SLUGS USED

In both cases last night, the windows were broken by pieces of cast linotype metal, police reported, and not metal nuts which have been used previously in the window vandalism that has been widespread since the Jan. 7 start of San Francisco Typographical Union 21's strike against the I-J.

A one-inch pipe was used to smash a front window early today at Martin and Harris Appliance Service, 1604 Fourth Street, San Rafael police have reported.

Owner Harris W. Martin also reported a window in his Petaluma branch at 150 Kentucky Street was hit twice today with the same type of missile. He said printer's lead was also found at the Petaluma store.

Martin estimated damage at both stores from $500 to $600. He said he had been asked by the typographical union to stop his advertising.

Police found two windows broken last night at McPhail's Inc., 917 C Street. Pipe couplings were used, a spokesman at the store said today.

DOOR DAMAGED

A glass front door at San Rafael Health and Dietary Foods, 1132 Fourth Street, San Rafael, was smashed with a metal nut yesterday after 6 p.m.

Owner Howard D. Embury told police he had been threatened by the union because of his advertising in the Independent-Journal.

A metal nut also was used last night to break a window at Casa Marin, 1654 Second Street, San Rafael police reported today.

Kentfield Shifts Pupils To Even Up School Loads

The Kentfield School District board last night approved a citizens' advisory council report recommending shifts in attendance area limits to even up the pupil load in the three district schools.

The changes will shift about 50 pupils from Adaline E. Kent School to Wolfe Grade School and 30 from Wolfe Grade to Greenbrae School, reported Supt. Anthony G. Bacich.

Final action on the proposal will be taken at the April 27 meeting.

The board also heard a request by the classified employees for an across the board 6 per cent pay increase, which would raise the pay scale from the present $433 to $743 range to $459-790. No action was taken.

The board approved a proposal by the classified employees association that two new job titles be added, those of multimedia clerk and library clerk II.

Resignations of three teachers were accepted, those of Anita Anderson, now on leave from Adaline E. Kent; Leslie Henningsen of Wolfe Grade, and Susan Berliner of Greenbrae.

The board approved hiring the firm of Leader, Jarvis and Keigwin of San Rafael to audit the 1969-70 books.

Tentative Approval On Operating Budget

A $208,850 operating budget for the 1970-71 school year was tentatively approved last night by trustees of the Bolinas-Stinson School District, according to Supt. Clarence B. Larison, who presented the budget to the board.

Although the budget is approximately $8500 less than for the current year, Larison said no major cuts are planned. The board had discussed choosing a superintendent who would also teach next year, but decided the district's new superintendent, John A. O'Shea will be a full-time administrator with no regular teaching assignments, Larison said.

Larison said the budget is less than this year because the district was allowed to levy a 10-cent tax during the current year to bring buildings up to state minimum safety and fire codes.

The board will further discuss the budget at its May 11 meeting.

The Bolinas-Stinson School Board Also:

TEST RESULTS—Heard a report from Charles Billings, guidance consultant from the county schools office on results of statewide achievement tests taken last year by sixth graders in the district. Billings said the students had average scores in reading (as compared with national norms), above average scores in mathematics concepts and scores slightly below average in mathematics computation.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS WEEK — Agreed to held an open house at Bolinas School Monday, from 7 to 8 p.m. in recognition of National Public Schools Week. An all-day open house and ecology is planned for Wednesday, April 22, at Stinson School.

EXTENSION—Voted to give Erika Zettl, a teacher, until May 11 to decide if she will return to teach in the district next year after a year's leave of absence.

Study Slated On Removing Creek Wall

The Army Corps of Engineers agreed yesterday to make hydraulic studies to see what effect removal of a rock retaining wall on Corte Madera Creek in Ross would have on flood flows.

Twenty-one residents of the area have signed a petition asking removal of the wall and the house above it, on grounds the wall interferes with flow from a 60-inch storm drain and causes flooding on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

The house has been purchased by Marin County for the flood control right-of-way.

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Neil R. Brixon, chairman of the Ross Valley Flood Control Advisory board, met yesterday with Col. Charles R. Roberts, district engineer, to see if the wall could be removed before next year's storms, instead of two seasons from now as planned.

Roberts said the corps "would prefer not to do anything to the creek banks" before the project reaches that area, because the action might cause more problems than it solves.

If studies show no damage would result from removal, an entry right-of-way would have to be provided to the area, Brixon said. Only access now is by a bridge with a 5-ton limit, too light to allow a crane to reach the area.

Brixon said the Army has been "very cooperative" about the problem.

The retaining wall apparently causes a swirling action in the channel, Brixon said, which interferes with flow from the 60-inch drain and backs up water onto Drake between Bolinas Road and Berry Lane.

Pleads Innocent

Dolores Burke of Fairfax pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to charges of possessing marijuana and using narcotics Jan. 23. A jury trial was set for the week of June 8.

Werber Gets Jail, $2,000 Pot Fine

By MARY LEYDECKER

Former Kingston Trio manager Frank N. Werber, termed the "high priest of marijuana" by Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, was ordered yesterday to spend six months in jail and pay a $2,000 fine.

Judge E. Warren McGuire, after listening to about an hour and a half of arguments by Bales and Werber's attorney, Terence Hallinan, as well as testimony by three witnesses called by Hallinan, also placed Werber on supervised probation for three years.

Werber, 40, had been convicted by a jury in February of two felong counts of possessing and growing pot after Judge McGuire had ruled that Werber's claim that he needed marijuana for spiritual purposes was not a legal defense.

Werber was arrested at his luxurious home on De Silva Island in Richardson Bay on Oct. 14, 1968, after federal agents were led there by two men who had brought six seabags into the United States from Mexico.

Although he was acquitted in federal court in San Francisco of importing the seabags, Werber was convicted in Marin of possessing about four kilos of pot found throughout his house as well as growing 27 plants outside in a corn patch.

The judge said that he made his decision about the sentence after balancing Werber's clean record, good education and success in business against the large amount of pot in the case. He said that he also considered Werber's testimony during the trail that he gave away and sold marijuana to friends and business associates.

Deputy Probation Officer Jesse Johnson, who prepared a pre-sentence report on Werber, had recommended that the jail time be three months on each count with the terms to run concurrently. He had not recommended a fine.

Bales yesterday compared Werber to Timothy Leary and said that an example should be made of him by sending him to state prison. (Werber could have been sentenced to one-to-10 year terms on each count.)

"This man is idolized by children," Bales said, calling Werber a trafficker in narcotics. Bales added that he continues to hear reports that Werber's Sausalito restaurant, the Trident, is a gathering place for narcotics dealers.

Hallinan angrily denied this and called the manager of the restaurant, Lou Ganapoler, to testify that Werber is needed to manage the business.

Another witness, Rev. Cecil Williams of Glide Memorial Church in San Francisco, said that Werber has "a great deal of influence with young people." He argued that confining Werber to jail would leave many young persons with no one to turn to for help with their problems.

Hallinan also argued that Werber has already been impressed by the serious of the offense and has promised not to use drugs or narcotics while the case is being appealed.

The judge granted a stay of execution on the jail sentence until 4 p.m. Monday at which time he will hear arguments on whether the entertainment tycoon may remain free on bail while the case is appealed.

Hallinan said after court that he was sure the appeal will be successful and that "his client will never serve a term."

Werber himself, clad in leather bell-bottomed trousers, an embroidered smock, wool jacket, beads and carrying a beaded Indian pouch, said, "I am not bitter." He said that he had expected the sentence to be somewhere between three months and one year.

A Refreshing Candidate For State Superintendent

Marinites are getting a lot of exposure to one of the nine candidates for the office of state superintendent of public instruction — and a very interesting one at that.

The plethora of candidates this year arises from two causes: the never-dying optimism of the unknown office seeker, and the realization by more hard-headed aspirants that Maxwell Lewis Rafferty Jr. is not unbeatable.

FOUR YEARS AGO, Rafferty was opposed only by an assortment of "guys named Joe." Potentially strong candidates figured the chance of beating him was too small to justify the cost. But when Alan Cranston trounced Rafferty for U.S. Senate in 1968, a lot of politicians awoke to the fact that the state superintendent's perfervid prose and oracular oratory did not fool all of the people all of the time.

And so this year, along with the merely hopeful, there are two serious contenders against Rafferty. They are Julian Nava, a member of the Los Angeles Board of Education, and Wilson C. Riles, on leave now from a deputy state superintendency.

It is Riles who has been making himself known in Marin. He has been here twice already and will be back again this week. Nava has yet to make an appearance here.

THIS MAN RILES is a refreshing candidate. Although he has been in education as teacher and administrator for over a quarter century, he does not talk like the typical educator (nor like Max Rafferty).

In fact, he says some things that must upset the educational establishment.

He says, for instance, that the teacher should be held accountable for the progress of his pupils. There is no mystery about doing this, Riles insists: You set reasonable goals for a child to attain in a year. If a majority of the class fails to reach these goals, something is wrong with the teaching. If this continues to happen, the teacher "should seek some other line of work."

THIS IS ANATHEMA to the concept of lifetime tenure. It is anathema, also, to the "new education" view that nobody should ever be tested on anything in the schools. But it is music to the ears of a lot of the public.

Riles says, also, that the answer to school finance problems is not entirely in getting more money: It is also in getting more for the money. The schools, as well as their teachers, should be held accountable.

This must rank as sheer heresy with many of his fellow educators.

Further, Riles, who is a Negro, contends that mixing children of different races in the same classroom in the name of integration may not mean much. More important, he says, is giving minority children "teachers who believe that they can learn."

THIS STRIKES a body blow at a dearly held belief of some of the leading educational integrationists, and at the whole concept of busing children about for ethnic reasons which has embroiled just about everybody from the President of the United States on down.

We like what Wilson Riles has to say. He says it rather well, too. If he survives the primary, he might give Maxwell Lewis Rafferty Jr. quite a race in November.

Campaign Costs Discourage Long-Shot Political Candidates

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The high price of long shots discouraged a gang of potential Democratic candidates this political season.

In days past, some might have run despite their meager prospects, but the fantastic inflation of campaign costs has abolished this luxury. Most don't run any more unless assured a reasonable chance to make it.

Facing a tough incumbent quickly dissuaded Democratic challengers, especially against moderate Republicans like Assemblyman Willian T. Bagley and Representatives Willian S. Mailliard and Don H. Clausen.

In the end, the list of discarded candidates was about as long as the list of candidates who took their trial balloons seriously enough to get on the ballot.

Potential Democratic candidates in the Fourth Senatorial District were attorney Richard M. Adams of Belvedere; David R. Evans of Napa, chairman of his county's central committee; Vacaville attorney David Lowe; Judge Curtis G. Singleton of Solano County Municipal Court and even Marin Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos.

In the Sixth Congressional District, there was San Francisco Supervisor Roger Boas, Democratic state chairman. In the First Congressional District, Dr. George McCabe of Sonoma State College and Santa Rosa attorney Barry Keene floated leaden trial balloons.

There they go, fading into the political background.

CAMPAIGN contributions, which some dare suggest can be related to legislators' votes, are of no special interest to the voting public, accoring to Assembly Speaker Bob Monagan, R-Tracy.

Reports on campaign contributions were just "a curiosity item for the press," Monagan said in a news conference last week. Asked if he favored toughening requirements to report campaign contributions, he said "no one seems to be greatly disturbed about it."

His attitude was expressed only days after Edmund G. Brown Jr., Democratic candidate for secretary of state, noted that Sacramento lobbyists spend more than $1 million a year to influence legislation. That works out to an average of $50 a day for each member of the legislature, Brown said.

Flabby laws on reporting both campaign contributions and lobbyists' investments in votes deserve better than Monagan's shrug.

AT LEAST one lobbyist was asleep last year when the legislature passed a tough new water pollution law. The California Builders Council awoke to the law only last month when the state banned new construction in much of San Francisco.

A council executive conceded he had not noticed the law before, and said the council would have had a better crack at the law then — instead of battling its enforcement at the local level.

It was a mark of the council's effectiveness that its plea to exempt housing from the ban was rejected.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Get Behind Scouts; They Need Help

Your Marin Magazine section April 4 was a tribute to the boys who know "the surest way up the mountain." The pictures were marvelous, the article so interesting to me.

Scouting is for boys all ages — get behind them in their worthwhile activities when you are given the opportunity. We need them — they need us!

There is so much said about those youths in trouble these days. It is so good to read an article such as this about our boys doing and learning together and being so respected in our community.

Jacobson Favors Hilarita Proposal

I want to clarify my position regarding the Ecumenical Association's housing proposal for the Hilarita site in Tiburon. From your story of April 7, it might appear that I spoke against the project because of traffic problems that might be generated. This is not the case; the proposal and its entire concept have my complete support. I did urge, however, that the project's designers take care to accommodate the increased traffic that will result from the higher population density inherent in the project.

I commend the Tiburon Planning Commission for its vote of approval and hope that the city council will also favor this proposal.

Government Needs Spiritual Cast

I once read somewhere, "There is a destiny that makes us brothers; none goes his way alone; all that we send into the lives of others comes back into our own."

Some say we must strive for a bigger and greater San Anselmo. It's the people we should be concerned about. With bigness and greatness comes the breeding of hollow and brutal lives.

Why can't the council meetings be conducted in productive fellowship? I mean "Bible anchored."

Using secondary techniques, man-made techniques blocks the free working of spiritual cells, touching the social and economic life of our town. Christian cells — "civic cells," "fireside cells" — all these will affect community welfare and be made strong enough to reproduce themselves. Freedom, spontaneity, and informality are the hallmarks of spiritual cells. Care enough, share enough, and dare enough and God will work through you and a cell will be formed.

With brotherhood, under God, troublesome questions are talked through, and I believe a healthy factor for the community.

Computer To Pick Officials Next?

Recently our very able assemblyman, William T. Bagley, sponsored a bill that would suppress information garnered and computerized by a private concern that supposedly would affect all of us. How much of this information would be derived from our recent census (an invasion of privacy)?

Most of us have been numbered (social security) for many years, to be indivdually computerized is the next step toward regimentation. I can feel the hot breath of the computer ont he back of my neck already!

I have long felt the computer would be a useful instrument, if properly programmed, to select and elect the best qualified person for public office — no more expensive election campaigns, nor expensive elections.

Many worthy and well qualified men simply can not afford to run for public office.

Skunks Share New Life Of Spring

The little skunks came out of the woodshed the other evening, and like you say, new life is born in April or early spring. Year after year they have been here and no problem unless cornered. We are just careful in the dark.

By the way, day after day, the buzzard flies; how often he finds something dead, we do not know, and it is always a wonder the energy he does or does not expend in soaring flight, as the buzzard's shadow glides over the ground.

Amongst the flying swallows in morning and late hour he soars, swallows, catching thinss, and the buzzard soars on looking, looking over field and hill, carrion from birth and life must be found.

Arithmetic Error On Postal Pay

Your editorial of 8 April states that a postal pay hike of six per cent and then a further hike of eight per cent would amount to amost 17 per cent. After checking and rechecking I arrive at an overall figure of slightly less than 14 and one-half per cent. If I am correct, I would like a correction printed. . . .

Incidentally, you didn't mention how the proposed hike in mail rates would affect the newspaper. Probably not very much, since the entire Bay Area can be covered now at 5.2 cents per pound.

EARL P. ANDRE
Novato

(Reader Andre's mathematics is correct; the editor's, wrong. The two pay hikes would total 14.48 per cent — still nearly two and one-half per cent more than the union asked. The increase in second class rates would not amount to much, nor does much of the Independent-Journal's circulation move by mail. — Editor.)

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

April 14, 1960

A U. S. Senate subcommittee held a hearing at College of Marin on the proposal to establish a national seashore on Point Reyes Peninsula and visited the proposed seashore area.

Families in Marin City prepared to move from temporary housing built during World War II to new public housing units.

20 YEARS AGO

April 14, 1950

Georgia Neese Clark, treasurer of the United States, was honored at a banquet at the Meadow Club near Fairfax.

A proposal for a low-level Marin approach to the Golden Gate Bridge was turned down by Charles H. Purcell, state public works director.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A chronic but candid imbiber of alcoholic beverages confided to his wife the other evening, "I didn't drink to excess in Washington this week—but I did drink to everything else."

WEBSTER REVISED:

GLASSES: Objects that have an amazing effect on vision—especially after they have been filled several times.

OPTIMIST: An oaf who goes to the marriage bureau to see if, perchance, his license has expired.

PATIENT: The raw material out of which a surgeon carves a career.

Weizmann Institute Of Science Gives Israel Unique Facility

REHOVOT, ISRAEL — In the vast expanse between Western Europe and Japan, the Weizmann Institute of Science is unique. It is a center for advanced research in all the sciences that is comparable to Rockefeller University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the United States.

In the dimension of the demands of this developing nation, it is more than that. There is an acute awareness of the need to generate new industry out of the laboratories where dedicated scientists from the four corners of the earth are working.

So much has come into being so swiftly in this astonishing new country. But nothing has more of a miraculous look than the Weizmann Institute.

MORE THAN a hundred scientists from 20 countries are here. From Japan, the United States and Western Europe, they spend up to two years at work in one of the half-dozen institutes. This was the dream of Chaim Weizmann, scientist and statesman, the George Washington of Israel, for whom the institute is named. At the ceremony marking the laying of the cornerstone for the first Weizmann unit in 1946 the venerable founder put it this way:

"I was for many years a wandering university student in my youth and felt, like my fellow Jews, that I was nowhere particularly welcome. But it was not so much the fault of our hosts as the fact that we could not offer hospitality in return. I thought that perhaps when the fiirst professor from abroad came to Palestine and found something of interest to him and learned something of what we were doing, it would be a sign that we had entered as equals into the comity of world scientists."

Another passionate motive he expressed not long before his death was to restore the reservoir of Jewish genius so large a part of which was destroyed in Hitler's gas ovens. For every scientist who escaped to America and contributed impressively to American scientific and technological development — Albert Einstein being the most conspicuous instance — 10 were lost. This is part of the consciousness not only of the devoted men and women of science at Rehovot but of millions of Jews in Israel and around the world.

It helps to explain the outpouring of funds from abroad contributing to the growth of the Weizman Institute. Many of the buildings are named for donors in the United States and England.

ISRAEL STANDS high on the list of those nations that could within a relatively short time produce an atomic bomb. Israel has not signed the nuclear nonproliferation treaty recently ratified in Washington and Moscow. The subject of atomic weapons is taboo. Foreign Minister Abba Eban put it as follows to this reporter:

"We have said that we will not be the first to introduce atomic weapons into the region. That is what we will continue to say. And we shall say nothing more."

In a nation enduring a war of attrition pursued by her Arab neighbors, even the peaceful retreat of the institute in its flower-scented setting cannot escape the signs and symbols of conflict. The stark concrete entrance to a bomb shelter expresses the reality of a condition of not peace, not war. No one really believes it will have to be used. And yet it is against that remote chance that this reservoir of brainpower, perhaps the most highly valued asset in the nation, must be protected.

Now and then a seminar is interrupted by the roar of jet fighters off on a raid on the Suez Canal. There is a brief pause until the sound subsides and then the discussion resumes. In the drive against ancer, the search for new resources of high-protein food, the potential of nuclear power from Israel's two reactors for desalinization—in these and many other fields the work goes on for Israel and, as these men of science say, for all humanity.

Touchy Talks Involve U.S. Presence In Spain

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Within the next week or so, Spanish Foreign Minister Gregorio Lopeaz Bravo will arrive in Washington to reopen talks on a question of importance not only to the two natins involved but also to the balance of power in the Mediterranean.

The question involves U.S. use of four military bases in Spain under an agreement first signed in 1953, renewed for five years and then left hanging after two years of fruitless negotiations through 1968 and 1969.

The current stop-gap agreement expires on Sept. 26.

Stumbling block is the price tag.

Both sides seek agreement but the long and intricate negotiations of the last two years also indicate failure is possible.

Spain's latest published asking price is $700 million over five years with emphasis on aid to education, science and technology and a commitment to defend Spain in case of an attack.

The Spanish also would like the Americans to permit a dollar outflow for direct U.S. private investment in Spain, an agreement to permit Spanish courts to judge U.S. military personnel, and U.S. pressure on Great Britain to return Gibraltar to Spain.

On the U.S. side there is a question not only of price but also whether the bases are a real necessity.

In Congress, there is resistance to any further U.S. military commitment.

The U.S. Navy wants retention of the Rota Naval Base on Spain's southwestern coast, the only European base for American Polaris submarines outside of Holy Loch in Scotland.

The loss of the big Wheelus Air Base in Libya, used for training American bomb and gunnery crews, led recently to reactivation of the base at Zaragoza in the Spanish northeast.

Other bases involved are the air bases at Moron in the south and Torrejon near Madrid.

Latest figures set Soviet naval strength in the Mediterranean at more than 60 ships, including two new helicopter carriers.

There is, in addition, uneasiness generated by a recent visit to Algeria and Syria by highranking Russian naval officers and the Soviet Union's obvious interest in the big former French naval base at Mares El Kebir in Algeria.

Official Washington regards the Soviet Mediterranean presence as of more importance politically than militarily but nonetheless also recognizes in the eastern Mediterranean the United States already is practically shut out except for Greece. The threat of anti-U.S. demonstrations recently led to cancellation of a scheduled visit by two U.S. Sixth Fleet units to Izmir, Turkey.

That All-Night Jenner Hearing Tough On Crowd, Coffee Supply

Marathon public meetings such as the all-night Jenner hearing conducted two weeks ago by the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors test not only the patience of public officials, but also their physical endurance.

The hearing, which opened at 4:30 p.m. in the supervisors' chambers, was moved to the Santa Rosa High School auditorium to accommocate the hundreds who could not find seats in the administration center.

THE DECISION at 6:30 p.m. to reconvene at the new location at 8 p.m. caught the school janitors completely unaware.

They assumed their duties would include the usual routine, hampered only by a handful of adult education night classes. Suddenly beseiged by 600 persons, the custodians could only stand back and shake their head in disbelief.

Also amazed was the janitor sitting in the teachers' coffee room as he watched the constant parade to the lone school coffee supply.

"That machine usually doesn't do that much business in a month," he said, viewing the procession which kept him from his regular tasks. Finally, in self-defense, he locked the coffee room doors at 3 a.m. and ignored the pounding by those desperate for more caffeine to keep going.

FOR THE MOST part, the crowd maintained interest through hours of testimony from scientists.

Despite the long hours and deep feelings caused by the controversial dredging proposal, few tempers were lost and those who have been known to raise their voices in the past were subdued, perhpas by the lateness of the hour.

Those who foresaw the all-night ordeal packed lunches and vacuum bottles in anticipation.

While the auditorium provided more than enough seats for the audience, it lessened the comfort of the supervisors. Instead of the padded easy chairs in the familiar surroundings, they spent the night on folding chairs.

Lost without their individual microphones, the five supervisors shared a single mike, passing it up and down the table for quetions and comments. This inconvenience no doubt reduced their discussion and shortened the meeting.

With the adjourning gavel at 5:15 a.m., the 125 stalwarts who had stuck it out stumbled into the hazy dawn, relieved that the hearing had finally ended, but knowing many more hours will be spent before the future of Jenner is decided.

Trust Attorney General Mitchell; He'll Come Up With Someone

WASHINGTON — Despite President Nixon's bitter remarks concerning the Senate vote on Judge Carswell, there was a certain amount of optimism at the White House the following day.

Atty. Gen. John Mitchell told the President, "They beat Haynsworth 55 to 45, while Carswell was only defeated 51-45. That means we picked up four votes in less than a year. At this rate we should have a man on the Supreme Court by 1972."

"YOU'RE A GOOD man, John," the President said. "How many more nominees do you think it will take?"

"Well, given the makeup of the Senate at the present time, I doubt if you'll have to put up more than six men before we can get someone confirmed."

"That's good, John. I'd love to fill that ninth vacancy while I am still in office."

"You have nothing to worry about, Mr. President. My wife, Martha, has been working on some senators right now. She should be able to get them in line before long."

"GOOD FOR MARTHA," the President said. "Where is she now?"

"What for?"

"She was trying to get them to crucify Senator Fulbright."

"Oh?"

"Martha feels that if she can crucify six senators, she can swing the Senate around to our side."

"WHY DIDN'T WE think of that?" the President said.

"I have always said, give Martha two sticks, a hammer, a mouthful of nails and a recalcitrant senator, and she'll turn him around every time."

"Do we have any other candidates lined up to nominate?"

"I've been getting a lot of suggestions. Vice President Agnew thinks that since we're looking for a strict constructionist, we ought to appoint someone from the building industry."

"That makes sense."

"Strom Thurmond just called in and said he thought Gov. Claude Kirk of Florida might make a good choice. Kirk's been wanting to get to the Supreme Court for over a week."

"But Kirk's a southerner, and everyone knows a southern constructionist can't win."

"JUDGE JULIUS Hoffman of Chicago is available, if you want to forget about the South."

"Let's put his name down," the President said.

"Senator Hruska gave me a new list of mediocre judges he has complete faith in," the attorney general said.

"I believe we better stop playing up the mediocrity of our candidates this time. It doesn't seem to have the appeal we thought it would."

"Exactly my thoughts, Mr. President. If we couldn't win on mediocrity with Judge Carswell, then we can't win with anybody."

"THERE MUST BE someone," the President said.

"Mr. President, I know it's not my place to advise you, but have you ever thought of appointing a woman to the court?"

"That's not a bad idea, providing she's a strict constructionist. Whom can we get?"

"Well, Martha was trying on Judge Carswell's black robes the other night, and we were all surprised how well they fit her."

Auto Wrecking Shop Is Eyed

An application for a use permit to operate an auto wrecking shop on property owned by Ernest Ongara at 25 DeLuca Place will be considered by the San Rafael Planning Commission at 7:30 p.m. today at city hall.

The application proposes the dismantling of vehicles and sale of usable parts at the site. Remnants which cannot be sold would be removed by a scrap metal dealer.

The commission also will consider an application for a four lot subdivision of property on the northeast side of Irwin Street. The commission rejected an application for a six lot subdivision of the same parcel in February.

Committee Schedule Reports

Reports from several members of the Marin County Committee on School District Organization will be heard at the committee's meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the county schools office, 201 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera.

The committee has no new buisness scheduled.

Bell Telephone Sets Interest

NEW YORK (UPI) — American Telephone & Telegraph Co. today set an 8 3-4 per cent interest rate for the $1.569 billion worth of 30-year debentures to be offered to its 3.1 million shareholders.

At the same time, the Bell company parent set $52 as the price at which new stock may be purchased with the warrants attached to the debentures.

Mrak To Head Williamson Bid

I-J Special Report

DAVIS — Former Assemblyman John C. Williamson, candidate for the Democratic nomination for the State Board of Equalization, has named Dr. Emil M. Mrak, chancellor-ameritus of the University of California at Davis, as a co-chairman of his campaign.

Dr. Mrak retired last year after having served as chancellor for 10 years.

Williamson is seeking the Third District seat being vacated by longtime incumbent Paul R. Leake of Yolo County. The district includes 25 Northern California counties, including Marin and Sonoma.

Window Broken

A front display window at Campbell-Bishop Chevrolet, 5880 Paradise Drive, has been broken in several places by BBs from a pellet gun, Corte Madera police reported yesterday. The damage was discovered Saturday morning by a janitor, police said.

Rock Concertgoer Arrested For Pot

A 15-year-old Santa Venetia youth was cited by authorities on suspicion of possessing marijuana after deputy sheriffs found him in a crowd of youngsters milliong around a rock concert in Santa Venetia Friday night.

The youth tried to conceal a plastic bag of vegetable matter when the deputies approached, they said. He was in a crowd of young people outside a concert at the Blessed Sacramento Church auditorium about 10:40 p.m.

China Is Topic Of Explorama

A feature-length film on modern China narrated in person by its maker, Jens Bjerre, will be shown at 8:15 p.m. April 28 at San Rafael High School auditorium under the auspices of Explorama of San Francisco.

Bjerre, a Dane, has produced documentary films for 20 years and written three books. The film on China required two visits to that country.

Seats may be reserved for $3 or $3.50.

Lack Of Priests No. 1 Problem:

VATICAN CITY (UPI)— Problem No. 1 for the Vatican at this time is the priesthood.

Pope Paul VI returned to the subject again Sunday, when he warned the shortage of young men entering the priesthood was endangering the Roman Catholic Church.

He made no mention of celibacy, the issue which is held by many to be a major cause of the poor recrutiting, as well as of the growing exodus of priests.

"Without priests and nuns, how can the church carry out its mission"? the Pope asked a crowd in St. Peter's Square for his weekly blessing ". . . What would become of evangelism? What would become of the salvation of the world?"

The Pope's speech coincided with the World Day of Vocations, on which Catholics are asked to pray for priests, monks and nuns.

Demos Eye Change In Tax Reforms

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly Democrats have agreed to push for substantial changes in Gov. Ronald Reagan's $645 million tax revision plan in the belief the governor secretly doesn't want his program approved.

During a closed-door caucus Monday Democrats picked the sales tax and oil depletion allowance features of the plan as two which could be reduced. Final amendments were to be developed at a caucus today just before the revenue and taxation committee hearing on the program.

Reagan's plan, sponsored by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, calls for a one-cent increase in the present five-cent on the dollar state sales tax. Bagley is chairman of the Reveune and Taxation Committee.

The oil depletion allowance currently is 27½ per cent. Reagan's plan would restrict the allowance to five times the actual cost of development.

"There are some Democrats who feel the governor may not want this tax bill — that he really wants it killed because the millionaires that support him may not want it," Assembly Democratic Leader John J. Miller told a newsman.

Miller also said Reagan's "oil supporters don't want what's there" in the bill to reduce the depletion allowance.

The Democratic leader said the sales tax "is the most regressive of all taxes."

Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, has introduced his own tax revision plan which would not increase the sales tax. Moscone's bill would substantially raise the taxes on liquor and cigarettes and cut the oil depletion allowance to strictly the cost of development.

Bagley and Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan are pressing for legislative approval of Reagan's tax plan before the June 2 primary election.

Proposition 8 on the primary ballot is a tax initiative sponsored by the California Teachers Association which would require the state to pay 50 per cent of school costs and 90 per cent of state and local welfare expenses.

The initiative makes no provision for raising the $1.3 billion the program is estimated to cost.

Bagley and Monagan contend passage of Reagan's plan before the primary would forestall voter approval of the teachers' plan.

Reagan's proposal includes payroll withholding of income taxes and a $205 million statewide property tax for schools. The plan is designed to reduce local property taxes.

Committee Strategy Revives Busing Ban

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A proposed constitutional ban on forced school busing had new life today, and the stage was set for a showdown vote in the Assembly Education Committee next week.

Assemblyman Victor V. Veysey, R-Brawley, chairman of the Assembly Education Committee, mustered enough votes Monday to reverse a subcommittee's attempt to kill the busing ban, but Democrats blocked final committee approval for a week.

A subcommittee voted 3-2 last week to kill the proposal. But Monday, as Democrats on the full committee complained of "scandalous" maneuvering, Veysey amended the measure and juggled half a dozen motions and substitute motions to schedule a new hearing on the amended proposal.

"Mr. Chairman, you are making an absolute shambles of the rules and the committee system," complained Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr., D-San Francisco.

Californians Forgetting To Take Their Tax Break

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The ides of April may turn out to be not quite so bad for some grumpy California income tax payers.

The state's income tax chief said today that some people are forgetting to take their special 10 per cent cut in figuring out their 1969 tax returns.

The deadline, of course, for submitting the tax returns is midnight Wednesday April 15.

Martin Huff, executive officer of the State Franchise Tax Board, says a special crew of 850 workers will handle an estimated four million or more returns containing $1.2 billion.

"I'd say our main problem has to do with some people who seem to be not fully aware of that 10 per cent reduction," Huff said. "Quite a few are not taking it."

Policemen Hurt In Speed Chase

Two Fairfax policemen received minor injuries yesterday when their patrol car crashed into a tree in San Anselmo while chasing a fleeing motorcyclist, San Anselmo police reported.

The driver, James Davis, 22, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a bruised forehead and a concussion, and the other officer, Wayne Rathe, 23, was treated for a bruised knee.

Fairfax police said the pair spotted the cyclist at 8:15 p.m. speeding east on Belmont Avenue and chased him. The cyclist turned off his lights and headed through side streets, then into San Anselmo along Oak Knoll Avenue, where the patrol car missed a turn at Pastori Avenue and skidded into a tree.

Thief Takes Stamp From Church Office

A burglar has broken into St. John's Episcopal Church at 40 Fifth Street, Petaluma, and has taken $5 in stamps from an office desk.

Bomb Threat Halts Classes

School and city officials evacuated Redwood High School and canceled evening classes last night after a telephoned bomb threat, Larkspur police reported.

Police said an elderly man called Corte Madera police at 7:03 p.m., said "Bomb at Redwood High School," and hung up.

Nicholas J. Gennaro, dean of the adult evening school, ordered classes closed and the school evacuated, and Larkspur police and firemen joined with school officials to search the building. Nothing was found in the two-and-one-half hour search.

A scheduled meeting of the Tamalpais High School District board on teacher salary negotiations was delayed by the bomb threat but proceeded after the search.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Dickens' Keen Eye For Man's Ailments: The Drowsy Fat Boy

THE FAT boy in Charles Dickens' "Pickwick Papers" comes to life now and then in medical journals.

Dickens was a keen observer and described many physical and mental disorders with the eye of an expert. Mr. Wardle's boy, Joe, is an example.

Mr. Lowton went to answer a knock on the door. There he saw "a wonderfully fat boy. . .standing up right on the mat with his eyes closed as if in sleep."

MODERN VERSIONS of this character are extremely fat, varying in weight from 250 to 400 pounds. These individuals fall asleep at the drop of a hat. The skin is livid, due to too many red blood corpuscles and hemoglobin (polycythemia). They are short of breath because the chest is crowded by fat.

A 51-year-old business executive, who always had been on the heavy side, encountered a series of anxieties.

As his frustrations mounted, he began to eat more heartily. With each additional pound gained, his listlessness and breathing difficulty grew worse. Ultimately, his ankles began to swell.

He fell asleep on the job so often that he had trouble distinguishing between reality and dreams.

ON ONE OCCASION he dozed off while playing poker and failed to notice he had a full house. It was this oversight that made him seek medical advice.

These obese, somnolent persons usually respond to a low calorie diet. It is surprising how well they feel after shedding a few pounds.

As a rule, damage to the heart is not permanent, and complete recovery usually occurs when the patient cooperates with his physician. This is more likely to happen if he appreciates the cause.

SILVER ANTISEPTIC

REPLY

No. Years ago, mild silver proteins such as Argyrol were used for their antiseptic and astringent action. Modern remedies have a more specific action against bacteria and other microorganisms. Antibiotics, such as penicillin and the sulfonamides, are in this category. One objection to these silver products, besides their inefficiency in controling infection, is that skin discoloration (Argyria) may follow their continued, long term use.

A KIDNEY DISORDER

M. S. writes: What is glomerulonephritis?

REPLY

Bright's disease, a kidney disorder. The acute variety is more common in childhood. The condition is manifested by puffiness of the face, elevation of the blood pressure, and a reduced output of urine. Diagnosis is made through urinalysis. Luckily, 90 per cent of the children recover. The chronic type smolders for years.

LETTERS AND FLU

Mrs. E. I. writes: Will you accept a letter written by a person who has the flu?

REPLY

Yes, but we hope you are fully recovered by the time you receive our answer. Influenza is not spread through contaminated letters. It is a disease that is caused by viruses and these critters cannot survive for long outside a living cell.

STANDING ON HEAD

REPLY

No, and if it were, I am sure we would hang by our feet from trees when sleeping, or stand on the head when relaxed at home or waiting for a bus. We are animals that walk, stand, and sit upright. Furthermore, our circulatory and nervous systems have developed to accommodate this position.

Sonoma Team To U.N. 'Session'

A 20-student delegation from the Model United Nations at Sonoma State College was scheduled to leave today to participate in the Model United Nations Conference of the Far West at the University of Oregon, Eugene, Ore.

The Sonoma State College delegation will represent three countries, South Africa, Swaziland and Botswana.

John Harrington, a senior political science major, will lead the Botswana delegation, Marty Eyestone, the South Africa delegation, and Annette Lombardi, the Seaziland delegation.

Shouts At Envoy Lead To Arrests

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Four demonstrators shouting insults at the American ambassador were arrested outside the Royal Palace today, a police spokesman said.

The new U.S. ambassador, Dr. Jerome H. Holland, 54, a Negro, was enroute to the palace in a horse drawn, gold decorated carriage to present his credentials to King Gustaf VI when the arrests were made.

The arrests took place several minutes before the arrival of the ambassador. The estimated 30 demonstrators were kept 50 yards away from the carriage.

Holland is the first U.S. ambassador to Sweden in 14 months.

Plant Sale In May

The plant sale of the Chrysanthemum Society of Marin will be held May 16, not April 16, as erroneously announced in the Independent Journal yesterday.

Said bonds shall be negotiable in form and of the character known as serial, and shall bear interest at a rate not to exceed seven percent (7) per annum, payable semiannually (except that interest for the first year after the date of said bonds may be made payable at or before the end of said year). Provision is hereby made for the payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds as follows: At the time of making the general tax levy after incurring the bonded indebtedness, and annually thereafter until the bonds are paid or until there is a sum in the treasury set apart for that purpose sufficient to meet all payments of principal and interest on the bonds as they become due, the Council shall levy and collect a tax sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds and such part of the principal as will become due before the proceeds of a tax levied at the next general tax levy will be available; provided, however, that if said bonds are authorized to be issued at said election, and it is expected that all or any part of said bonds will be sold at such time that the principal of or interest on such bonds will become due before the proceeds of a tax levied after such sale would be available to pay such principal or interest, the Council, at the time of fixing the annual tax levy, may levy a tax in an amount clearly sufficient to pay that portion of the principal of and interest on said bonds which it is expected will become due before the proceeds of the next succeeding tax levy will be available. If the earliest maturity of the bonds is more than one year after the date of issuance, the Council shall levy and collect annually a tax sufficient to pay the interest as it falls due and to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal on or before maturity. Such taxes shall be levied and collected as other City taxes and shall be in addition to all other taxes and shall be used only for payment of the bonds and the interest thereon.

Section 4. The City Clerk of the City is hereby directed (a) to publish this ordinance once in full in the Independent-Journal, which is a newspaper of general circulation published in the City, at least three days before its adoption, and (b), upon the passage and adoption of this ordinance, to publish the same once a day for at least seven (7) days in the Independent-Journal, which is a newspaper of general circulation published at least six (6) days a week in the City, and such publication shall constitute notice of said election. No other notice of the election hereby called need be given.

Section 5. This ordinance shall be forthwith entered upon the minutes of the Council and in the Ordinance Book of the City. This ordinance, being an ordinance calling and ordering an election, shall take effect from and after its final passage and approval.

Manson Is Held Killer Of Musician

The bearded long-haired Manson, the accused mastermind of those slayings, is awaiting trial on seven counts of murder. Previous witnesses had testified that Beausoleil killed Hinman with a Bowie knife. At his first trial, which ended in a hung jury, Beausoleil did not take the stand.

He told the jury he went to Hinman's home with two female members of the cult to try to force him to give $20,000 to the family. He said he telephoned Manson at the cult hangout at the Spahn Ranch and told him Hinman had offered to give only $100 or $200.

Manson came to Hinman's home looking "very fierce and very keyed up," Beausoleil said. The defendant said Manson slashed the bagpipe musician across the face with a sword and beat him over the head with the hilt.

Manson left, Beausoleil said, but came back a second time and talked with the musician about moving to the ranch, becoming a member of the family and "living like a king."

When Hinman said he didn't want to give up his Buddist sect or his friends, Beausoleil said Manson pulled out a knife and stabbed him twice in the stomach.

McCunniff said the appointment of the new superintendent will be announced as soon as the trustees reach a decision.

TV REVIEW

The Nation Gets Word On Apollo

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UIP) — Televiewers who already had grown blase about coverage of manned moon flights were shaken late Monday night and early today when a dangerous situation developed on the latest lunar mission.

Network bulletins, and then lengthy and continuous coverage, grew into a dramatic and sometimes nightmarish middle-of-the-night news story across the nation as it was confirmed that a mishap had affected the power and oxygen supply aboard the command module of Apollo 13.

In a news briefing televised live by all three networks, a space-flight spokesman said it was "as serious a situation as we have ever had."

LOUD AND CLEAR

As the developing reports indicated that the connecting lunar module, apparently in good working order, would serve a sort of "lifeboat" function for the three astronauts, televiewers used to impersonal technical jargon suddenly got the message loud and clear: The lives of the astronauts now were of more immediate concern than the obviously flawed mission.

Quick confirmation of this fact came when it was announced that the two scheduled, lengthy moonwalks that were to be televised back to earth later this week were canceled, that the mission in effect had been aborted, and that Apollo 13 now was aiming for a more rapid return that would bring a splashdown Friday.

What this also meant, of course, was that televiewers will be glued to their sets during the nervous, cirtical period until Friday, keeping up with the return flight, and realizing that there is no reason to be blase when men are in space.

HIGH DRAMA

The middle-of-the-night video coverage reached a point of understated high drama as watchers viewed, and heard, mission control exchanging comments on the crisis with the astronauts.

But the televised news briefing was perhaps even more riveting as reporters drew fact after tensely-spoken fact from three space-flight spokesmen in an extended session. One of these facts, according to one of the spokesman, was that if the situation continued in its present condition, with no more adverse problems, he was confident the astronauts would be brought back safely.

Another point brought out at the video briefing was that if the lunar and command modules had already reached a point in the mission where they had separated—say, in a rendezvous situation, with the command module circling the moon—it would have been "a fatal situation."

Thus, as the tension built and viewers wondered what would happen next, the networks stayed on, and the nation watched.

Nixon Requests More Park Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has proposed increasing federal spending to acquire new parks and recreation from $200 million to $300 million a year in fiscal 1971.

A spokesman told the House Interior Committee that the funds would "bring parks to people."

"We believe it is urgent that we act now to provide additional recreational opportunity, particularly in view of the high rate of development and the rapid escalation of land prices," said Harrison Loesch, assistant secretary of interior.

Bobby Gentry, Tycoon Split Up

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Married less than four months, composer-singer Bobbie Gentry and William Harrah, who operates Nevada's richest gambling empire, have separated.

The 27-year-old country singer wed the shy casino owner Dec. 18 in a quiet church ceremony conducted amid much secrecy. Afterward she and her 58-year-old bridegroom took off in his private jet for a honeymoon in Idaho and Europe.

The breakup was confirmed here Monday by Miss Gentry's agent, Michael Merrick Co., ending weeks of rumors. Her lawyers, however, have denied she plans a divorce.

The marriage was her first and his third.

'A PROBLEM HERE!'

Astronauts Keep Cool In Crisis

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—Never once, in the greatest crisis of their lives, in a danger that had materialized only in fiction, did the Apollo 13 astronauts lose their cool.

"Hey, we've got a problem here!"

Even that first cry of alarm, across 202,000 miles of space, was restrained, though urgent.

They'd finished a television show—such standard fare for a jaded public that none of the television networks made time for it. Mission control saw it and congratulated them on it. Now the ground was giving instructions for positioning the spacecraft to look for the comet Bennett.

"This is Houston, say again please."

"Houston, we've had a problew. We've had a main B bust interval."

A power failure! An imbalance in the intricate system that gives oxygen and direction and the fragile voice lifeline to the ground.

By the very laws of the universe they challenged and used, their spacecraft continued on to the moon as indeed it would even if their ship were a derelict.

Many hours before they had forsaken the relative safety of a "free return" that would have required only the pull of the moon and the earth to put them back on earth. Deliberately they had changed the course so Lovell and Fred W. Haise Jr., could land on the moon.

"We're looking at it." A hundred experts on the ground, others quickly summoned. But advice was all that was possible to help three men in a disabled ships.

"Okay, right now, Houston, the voltage is looking good. And we had a pretty large bang associated with the caution and warning there."

"Roger Fred." Fred Haise, a first-timer in space. Beside him John L. Swigert Jr., also a rookie, but more so, an emergency substitute on the flight.

"It's a gas of some sort." They could see it out of their window. Droplets that turned into snow and drifted off like feathers from a molting bird.

The gas, it turned out, was their oxygen; a commodity on which their very lives depend.

Back and forth, across the miles, spun the questions, the numbers, the readings. Crisp and cool. Urgent, but not panicked.

"Okay, 13, we've got lots and lots of people working on this, we'll get you some dope as soon as we have it and you'll be the first to know."

"Oh, thank you."

Nobody said it but they knew and the ground knew that now there was no possibility of landing on the moon. Now the only thing was to use the power that remained — the power that would have set them on the lunar surface — to get back to earth.

"I didn't think I'd be back this soon," said Haise, who would have been the sixth human to touch the moon.

Mission Control held a conference for newsmen. Enough oxygen and electrical power, said the experts. It will be close, but they'll get home if nothing else bad happens.

Like kissing cousins the command ship Odyssey and the lunar lander Aquarius continued on to the moon. Now for Aquarius there was not the noble voyage to the highlands of the moon, nor the splendor of being crashed empty against its surface in the name of science.

Now they were plundering her holds for the oxygen they'd need to sustain them on a four-day journey back to earth, more than ever full of risks.

Cotati Trustees To Review Staff

The Cotati School District board is expected tonight to learn how many teachers wish to remain in the district for the 1970-71 year in order for it to determine whether staff cuts will be needed.

The board meeting will begin at 7:30 in the district office.

Supt. Duncan A. Coleman has told the board the district is faced with diminishing enrollment and the prospect of lower state and federal aid.

Radio Stolen

A $30 transistor radio was stolen Friday or Saturday from The Pottery Shop, 3 Lovell Avenue, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Nixon Keeps Watch; Has High Praise

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon was described today as concerned over the troubles of the Apollo 13 astronauts but "enormously impressed" by the way those involved in the space mission responded to the emergency situation.

After learning of the space craft's troubles, the President instructed members of his staff to keep him closely informed of all developments.

He talked twice directly today with Dr. Thomas O. Paine, the U.S. space chief, at mission control headquarters in Houston for direct reports. The first call was at about 8:45 a. m. and the second one as he began private conversations with visiting Danish Prime Minister Hilmar Baunsgaard.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon was "concerned, of course as are all Americans and people throughout the world for the safe return of Apollo 13."

He said Nixon told him he was "enormously impressed by the way the NASA organization responded to the crisis" and felt that "this kind of technical proficiency and coolness" was the best way to assure the safe return of the spacemen.

Ziegler said Nixon "will be following progress of the Apollo's return" and the difficulties being experienced by astronauts James Lovell, Fred Haise and John Swigert.

Two of Nixon's aides, H. R. Haldeman and Henry A. Kissinger kept in touch with space headquarters throughout the three critical events — discovery of the problem in the fuel cells, the decision to abort the mission and the successful firing of the Apollo 13 engines to put it into a trajectory to bring it back to earth.

"He has instructed the members of the White House staff to follow the events through mission control," Ziegler said.

Juvenile Staff To Study Case

The case of Nicki Lee Heller, 19, of Novato, has been referred to probation officials for a report on whether she is acceptable to Marin Juvenile Court.

Miss Heller, who is accused of shoplifting and possessing marijuana, was told to return to municipal court April 27.

She was arrested March 30 in a Novato drug store.

Wives Face Flight's Failure Very Calmly

TIMBER COVE, Tex. (UPI) —Marilyn Lovell and Mary Haise, who have lived for months with the possibility their husbands might sometime be marooned in space, faced the failure of Apollo 13 today with deep disappointment but nerves of steel.

"There were no tears," said NASA protocol officer Charles Bauer at the Haise House. Mrs. Haise is seven months pregnant.

Mrs. Lovell was "glued to the squawk box" but "composed," said Bob McMurrey at the fog-shrouded home of Apollo 13 Commander James A. Lovell on Glenn Bayou.

"Sure she's worried," Bauer said. "But she hasn't expressed any fear for his safety."

Mrs. Lovell, whose smile and quick greeting has made her one of the most popular astronaut wives, spent the tense hours listening to the air-to-ground communications with neighbor Charles "Pete" Conrad and his wife, Sue, at her side.

"I'm disappointed that they can't land on the moon and my only concern now is that they can safely return home," Mrs. Lovell said.

Conrad, who led the successful moon landing mission of Apollo 12, told Mrs. Lovell of the ad news after being called by NASA officials.

The Conrads came over on Pete's red motorcycle. Asked if he were concerned about the safety of the Apollo 13 crew, Conrad replied "Nah."

Neil A. Armstrong, the first man on the moon, hurried to the home of Mrs. Haise five houses away to reassure her during the waiting period. Alan L. Bean, who landed with Conrad on Apollo 12, also came over and drew her a diagram of how the spacecraft will circle the moon and return to earth.

Mrs. Haise, who had learned of the trouble from a bulletin "didn't seem upset like you might expect somebody getting a flash like that," the protocol officer said.

"She soon heard from (Deke) Slayton that there has been no personal danger," Bauer said.

"Then she was on the telephone talking to Fred's mother who is alone in Biloxi, Miss., and called her own parents," Bauer said. "She was the one who was doing the reassuring that everything was under control."

Mrs. Lovell called their oldest son, James A. Lovell Jr., 15, who is attending St. John's Military Academy at Delafield, Wis. He was asleep, however, and she asked officials not to wake him. Jeff, 4, the Lovell's youngest son, also was asleep. The two girls, Barbara, 16, and Susie, 11, were told before they went to bed.

Fred Haise, 11, and his brother, Steve, 8, also were asleep before the trouble developed and Mrs. Haise did not awaken them.

John L. "Jack" Swigert Jr., the third member of the crew, is a bachelor. At the home of his parents in Denver, his father was watching developments on a small television in his bedroom.

Swigert's sister, Mrs. Philip Spenille of Fort Collins, Colo., a priest and two sisters of his mother were with the Swigerts.

Registration For Kindergarten

Registration for next fall's kindergarten students in San Anselmo will be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. tomorrow, school officials said today.

Parents must bring proof their children were born on or before Dec. 2, 1965, and proof they have received measles and polio immunization. If parents' religious beliefs are against immunizations, the district will accept a signed statement requesting exception, administrative assistant Rulon H. Cook said.

Classes will be limited to 30 pupils, and enrollment will be taken in numerical order. Pupils registered above 30 will be bused to the next nearest school where space is available.

Registration will be at Brookside, Isabel Cook, Sleepy Hollow, Wade Thomas and Yolansdale schools.

Napa Man Cut In Car Mishap

A passenger, Lee G. Ray, 41, of Napa, sustained a cut forehead in a two-car collision on Hetherton and Third streets Sunday, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

The accident occurred at 10:17 a.m. when a car driven by Elizabeth M. Locati, 20, of 126 Van Tassel Court, San Anselmo ran a flashing red light and was struck by a car driven by Dean J. Morris, 49, of Napa, police said.

There was no report of Ray, a passenger in the Morris car, having received treatment at local hospitals.

A Meteoroid Could Have Ruined Trip

SEDONA, Ariz. (UPI)—One of the world's foremost meteoriticists said today the blast that knocked out Apollo 13's electrical system may have been caused by a small meteoroid.

Dr. Harvey Nininger, collector of the famed "Nininger Collection" of meteorites said he could not prove his theory, but told UPI:

"My opinion is that's what happened."

Weight was added to the theory by James McDivitt, Apollo spacecraft program manager and a former Apollo astronaut, who said:

"It was something that appeared to be quite violent that occurred in Bay Four (of the spaceship). And if it were struck by a meteorite, that would be quite violent. I wouldn't say that's what happened, but we won't rule it out."

The astronauts, James A. Lovell, John L. Swigert and Fred W. Haise, reported they heard a loud "bang" about at the moment their flawless flight went sour.

Nininger, 83, who spent 40 years collecting the meteorites he ultimately sold to the space agency, said he had long feared a manned spacecraft would be hit, but still feels man must press on in space.

"We have pretty good evidence that at least one unmanned spacecraft . . . believe that it was one of the Mariners . . . was hit two or three times before it reached its destination," Nininger said.

He said the solar cells aboard the Mariner apparently were destroyed by the violent strikes.

License Plates May Aid Ecology

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—California car owners would be able to obtain personalized license plates for an extra $10 fee under a bill approved Monday by the Senate Transportation Committee.

The measure, authored by Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, and backed by Gov. Ronald Reagan, was sent to the Finance Committee without opposition.

Revenue produced by the fee would be deposited in the Environment Protection Program Fund created by the measure to finance environment preservation efforts.

First Crisis So Far From Earth

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—There have been crises in space before, but never with three men and never so far, so very far, from home.

James A. Lovell Jr., John L. Swigert Jr. and Fred W. Haise Jr. are more than 200,000 miles away from earth and they must go farther away before they can start home.

Earlier space crises occurred in orbit of the earth, never more than a few hours from safety.

Apollo 13 is four days from earth, four days of diminishing oxygen supplies and diminishing electrical power.

It was on America's second manned space flight that it had its first space scare.

Astronaut Virgil I. Grissom rode the Mercury spacecraft Liberty Bell 7 in a 15-minute suborbit flight in July 1961.

Grissom had to swim for his life in his awkward spacesuit. He was quickly picked up and lived to name his next spacecraft, Gemini 3, "the Unsinkable Molly Brown."

America got two other space scares in the Mercury program.

During the orbital flight of John H. Glenn Jr., the first American to orbit the earth, Mission Control got an indication that a rocket package had broken loose and possibly would not work. Without it, Glenn would have been trapped in orbit.

The rocket worked, and he landed safely.

The second time an American went into orbit, he came back to earth and was promptly lost in the Atlantic Ocean.

M. Scott Carpenter, on board the Aurora 7 mercury craft, in 1962, landed far beyond the planned ocean landing zone. Ships searched for hours before he was found, waiting patiently on his emergency raft.

In 1966, two American astronauts came with three seconds of death on Gemini 8.

The astronauts, Neil Armstrong and David Scott, completed a space rendezvous with an unmanned Agena rocket. Only minutes later, their craft began to spin out of control.

Faster and faster it whirled through space until the rotation speed built up to a revolution per second.

Armstrong, who was later to gain fame as the first man to walk the moon, finally stopped the spin by firing a re-entry rocket.

Mission Control ordered the spacecraft to return to earth and it made a safe emergency landing in the Pacific Ocean.

American's only space-related deaths occurred on earth.

Three astronauts perished in January, 1967 when their Apollo 1 spacecraft interior caught fire while they were conducting tests on a Cape Kennedy launch pad. They were Grissom, Edward White and Roger Chaffee.

The fire forced a major redesign of the spacecraft to make it virtually fireproof.

He died when the parachute system of his Soyuz 1 spacecraft failed during a 1967 flight. The spacecraft smashed into the earth.

Search Leads To Suspected Sellers Of Pot

Narcotics agents armed with a search warrant raided a Sausalito apartment yesterday afternoon and arrested the two occupants after finding plastic bags of suspected marijuana apparently ready for sale.

Booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of having pot for sale were Marc Roger Olson and Gerald Wayne Lahr, both of 7 Excelsior Lane. Lahr posted $2,500 bail and was to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow. Olson remained in jail in lieu of the same amount of bail and was to appear in court today.

The agents said that they found 26 bags of suspected marijuana as well as a large paper sack of what appeared to be marijuana stems. Lahr, who was home alone when the agents arrived, said that Olson, his roomate was upstairs in another apartment. The agents said Olson was smoking what appeared to be a pot cigarette when he answered the door of the other apartment.

One agent said that during the time the officers were in the apartment, about a dozen persons knocked on the door but were not arrested.

Drug Lecture

Inspector William Burgess of the drug abuse bureau of the Marin County Sheriff's Department, will speak on the topic "Drugs and You" at a public meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, 375 Calle Arboleda, Loma Verde.

Casper: I Just Get Better With Age

AUGUSTA, GA. (AP) — Bill Casper tipped all his listeners. It was 50 minutes before the first Monday shot rang out at Augusta National club's mammoth pines. The other side hadn't even put on its spiked shoes.

"Gene Littler played better golf at age 19 than he does now," said Casper, the game's onetime fat boy. "Me? I get better with age."

PROVED POINT

Four holes after the two-man war began, Casper had proved his point. It was all but over. Buffalo Bill was ahead by four strokes and all Littler did on the back nine was make it a bearable afternoon for late-tuning television customers.

Casper shot 69 and won his first Masters. He wore the famed coat of green. Littler had a 74 and wore short sleeves.

'59 AND '66

Casper won the Opens of 1959 and 1966, beating Arnold Palmer in a come-from-behind playoff in the latter. He has never won the PGA championship or the British Open, but has joined Palmer and Jack Nicklaus as golf's only golfing millionaire.

"A grand slam today is impossible--or next to it," said Casper. "It was something 20 or 30 years ago, but there are three times as many fine golfers now. The odds against it are astounding."

Casper will try anyway. He announced plans to play in the remainder of the Big Four, the U.S. and British Opens and the PGA.

Casper was a relaxed champion, looking as if he felt he belonged in that green coat--even though it was three sizes to big.

SKINNIER

"They must have measured it for me when I weighed 240," he said. "Hey, fellows, I'm skinnier now." Skinnier, yes, but the San Diego neighbor of Littler appears to have added back about 15 of the some 60 pounds he dropped on his famed diet a few years ago.

Despite playing Monday under sultry, 82-degree skies, Casper marched around the slopes of Augusta National in a thick sweater. "I like to keep my muscles warm," he said. "You won't catch me in short sleeves too often, I like being warm."

"I never three-putted a green, so that's about as well as I can stroke it," said the man who is known for his work with the blade. "My caddy, Mathew Palmer, was as important as anything to my victory. He is a master at reading the greens."

NAME CHANGE

Mathew, who doffed his cap along with Casper to accept thunderous cheers at the 18th green, said he was thinking of changing his name from Palmer to Casper.

Casper was greeted by his wife, Shirley, and their son, little Billy. There are six other offsprings back home in California, four of them adopted by the highly-religious Mormon family.

The Augusta National course was never supposed to be built for Casper's type of golf. It was popular to say it was best for the Palmers and Nicklauses. But Casper picked up a new, light-steel driver last week and it added more than 30 yards to his tee shots.

"I played a different golf course this week than I ever have before at Augusta National," he said. "I was hitting wedges where I once hit eight irons. It makes a new ball game."

Jackson Gets Key Hit In A's Win

JIM GILMARTIN

And In This Corner Is Carl 'Bozo' Olson

Sound like a good name for a fighter? It should, because Bozo's father is none other than Carl "Bobo" Olson, the former middleweight champion of the world.

Well, you'll be hearing and reading about the father-son team in boxing circles soon because Bobo will train Bozo in a professional boxing career that should be officially announced shortly.

Tim O'Donohue, a Marin County property developer, will sponsor Bozo's ring career and Al Schaff, an executive of Young America Homes of Santa Rosa, will serve as consultant.

"Young Bozo looks like he might be a good one," said Schaff. "He has the desire, that's for sure. Also, he's a middleweight, just like his dad. He did some boxing in the Army and scored seven kayoes in seven fights. The kid has four Purple Hearts from Vietnam. Like his dad, he's a fighter all the way."

Will Be Working Out In Napa

Bobo Olson is now living in Bennett Valley near Santa Rosa and will use "Newsboy" Joe Gavras' gymnasium over in Napa as Bozo's fight headquarters.

Unitl recently, Bobo Olson was recreation director for the Operating Engineers Union near Santa Rosa. At 41, he still keeps in good shape, doing three and one-half miles or road work every morning.

First Bobo Olson. Now Bozo Olson. The name should ring a bell.

GRAND PRIX driver Dan Gurney and longtime racing promoter J.C. Agajanian will be named to the Sears Point International Raceway board of directors shortly.

I asked Aggie about the rumor Sunday and he replied: "We're very close to an agreement. Yes, Gurney and I are to be named directors at the same time but I have no announcement to make. We're going to let the speedway people (Sears Point) make the announcement when the time comes."

Time Out For A Cigarette

UNTIL SUNDAY I didn't know race drivers smoked cigarettes during competition, but United States Auto Club stock car champion and Indianapolis veteran Roger McCluskey admitted he puffed three cigs en route to his 200-mile victory at Sears Point Sunday. The USAC chief steward "lit the smoking lamp" during the yellow caution flag laps and Roger puffed away.

And all that time I thought that was dirty exhaust.

McCluskey, a personable type, laughed that he once drove a stock car whose owner was such a cigarette fiend that he had a built-in lighter on the dash board and cigs taped to the dash.

Bristol Takes Blame

OAKLAND (AP) — It isn't often that a manager takes the blame for losing a baseball game, but Milwaukee's Dave Bristol was willing to do it Monday night.

"I tried to protect a victory for our starting pitcher and I ended up losing the game," he said after the Oakland Athletics nipped the Brewers 2-1.

Rather than walk Jackson to load the bases and set up a force play, Bristol had O'Donoghue pitch to Jackson. Reggie lined a single to centerfield to bring in two runs.

"I wanted the left-handed pitcher for Jackson," Bristol said. "There were two left-handed batters coming up and he got one of them out—the wrong one."

NO COMMENT

Manager John McNamara of Oakland wouldn't comment on the Milwaukee strategy.

"I have enough trouble worrying about my own team," he said.

McNamara also brought in a relief pitcher but it worked out perfectly. Diego Segui struck out four batters in the final two innings to save a victory for Jim Hunter.

Hunter allowed only two hits in seven innings before leaving the game for a pinch-hitter. Tito Francena singled for Hunter, moved to third on a a single by Rick Monday, and eventually scored on Jackson's hit.

McNamara would have liked Hunter to pitch the entire game. "The game is played without emotion. I don't care which pitcher gets the victory as long as we do," he said.

The A's victory was their first in four games and snapped a three-game winning streak for Milwaukee.

Commissioner Kennedy Hits Guerin With $1,000 Fine

ATLANTA (AP)—"There'll be a lot of blood spilt on that floor," said a tough-talking Atlanta Hawks Coach Richie Guerin, but National Basketball Association Commissioner Walter Kennedy talked tougher—$1,000 worth.

Guerin called a press conference Monday afternoon to charge that officials deliberately protected Elgin Baylor and Jerry West Sunday afternoon as they helped the Los Angeles Lakers to a 119-115 victory over the Hawks in the first game of Western Division final playoffs.

"If that's the way they're going to call the game, Baylor and West won't be around to shoot 18 or 20 fouls," Guerin said.

'INCONCEIVABLE'

"It is inconceivable to me," said Kennedy, that any coach in any sport, even under the most severe emotional strain, would threaten 'there will be a lot of blood spilled on that floor tomorrow night' and that 'certain players may not be around when the game is over'."

Kennedy then announced that he is fining Guerin $1,000 and holding Guerin personally responsible for the conduct of his Hawks in the second game of the best of seven series tonight in Atlanta and for the rest of the playoffs.

Guerin replied that he would appeal the fine and that his "players aren't going to be pushed around again, that's for sure."

Meanwhile, Lakers General Manager Fred Schaus refused to "dignify" Guerin's charges with a reply, but said he was going to request increased security at the coliseum in Atlanta tonight around the players bench and between the floor and the dressing room.

NEVER KNOW

"You never know afte a statement like that what some fan will do," Schaus said.

The winner of the Hawks-Lakers series will meet the winner of the Eastern Division playoffs between New York and Milwaukee. Monday, the Knicks edged the Bucks 112-111 to take a 2-0 lead in that series.

Guerin said that many persons have told him that Sunday's officiating was the "biggest disgrace that they've ever witnessed in sports."

TAMPERING VIOLATIONS

Dolphins Lose No. 1 Choice

Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League, handed down that penalty Monday to the Dolphins when he found the club guilty of tampering in its successful effort to lure Don Shula away from the Colts.

Rozelle said his investigation uncovered that Miami had violated league rules on three counts.

They permitted a third party to approach Shula with an indication of possible terms, including part ownership; they began direct negotiations with Shula without informing the Colts of their interest until Feb. 18, the day Shula's hiring was announced.

Rozelle said neither Shula nor the Dolphins told the Colts of their negotiations until preliminary discussions had already begun.

When Shula requested permission to negotiate, Rozelle said, it was granted by the Baltimore management on Feb. 3. Rozelle said that NFL rules specifically require that a prospective employer make a direct phone call to the employer "for permission before any negotiating discussions took place."

AARON STILL YOUNG

S.F. In Rematch Against Braves

ATLANTA (AP) — "You don't hit a home run as far as he did if you're slowing down," Manager Clyde King of San Francisco said Monday night after Atlanta's Hank Aaron, a 36-year-old slugger, drilled a tape-measure blast into the third deck of Atlanta Stadium.

"The only way to pitch to him," King said, "is to walk him. I'm just kidding, of course," he quickly added.

No one knew how far it went, but estimates ranged from 450-500 feet.

"I didn't know how far it was going," Aaron said, "but I knew it was going out of the ball park. It probably was one of the hardest I ever hit but I don't know about it being the longest."

The homer, Aaron's third of the year and 557th of his career, staked Atlanta to a 2-0 lead en route to a 9-3 victory in the Braves' home opener.

A crowd of 37,181 watched the game, which was delayed 45 minutes in starting when a thundershower hit Atlanta.

Aaron, who drove home another run with a single in the Braves' five-run fourth, became only the third player to reach the third tier of the stadium.

"No, I haven't hit any up there in practice," he said, "but I never tried."

Aaron's blow, which came on a law fast ball from Frank Reberger, went to left. The others —one by the Giants' Willie McCovey and the other by Chicago's Willie Smith—were hit to right field last year.

Aaron, who says he's shooting for Babe Ruth's career record of 714 home runs, said he believed he was off to his best start since 1959 when he was batting close to .400 at the All-Star game break. He is now 12 for 26 in Atlanta's first seven games.

Tony Gonzalez swatted a two-run triple in the fourth when the Braves put together five hits for five runs.

The Giants hit Atlanta starter Pat Jarvis hard, but three double plays helped the Braves out of trouble. Bob Priddy, who relieved Jarvis held San Francisco to two hits over the final four innings.

Ask Giants, April Games Important In October

ATLANTA — It was here in Atlanta a year ago that the Giants got off to a miserable start in the 1969 baseball campaign. The Braves swept them in a three-game opening series. When the campaign ended six months later, it was precisely three games by which the Braves finished ahead of the second place Giants in the National League's Western Division.

NOW NO profound conclusion can be drawn from that other than the old truism that April ball games count equally in the standings with those in September and October. Except for opening day there isn't too much excitement about major league baseball races in April.

The Masters golf tournament, the Stanley Cup hockey matches and the pro basketball playoffs command the primary attention of the sports world. There still is plenty of time to take notice of baseball. After all, baseball is a 162-game affair, plus divisional championship playoffs now, before the big World Series show.

THE GIANTS, finishing No. 2 in 1969 for the fifth straight time, didn't lose the pennant in last year's opening series. Nobody would be foolish enough to argue that. In fact, the Giants didn't lose it at all. The Braves won it on Sept. 30 with their tenth consecutive stretch victory.

The race last season in the Western Divison was the closest five-club affair in baseball history. On Aug. 22 Cincinnati was in front by decimal points. The Reds' percentage was .5454. The Dodgers were .5447, the Giants .5440 and the Braves .539. Fifth-place Houston was two behind.

THEN THE Braves, having started strong with their opening series sweep of the Giants, finished strong with their 10-game streak.

What will happen this season may or may not be as dramatic in the stretch drive. The close 1969 race in the Western Divison was overshadowed by what went on in the Eastern Division where the Mets overtook the Cubs in spectacular style and then beat the Orioles in the World Series to become cinderella champions.

BASEBALL IN September receives its share of attention, particularly when the races are tight and as exciting as they were in 1969. And when the World Series gets under way everybody gives the game its due.

But any effort to stimulate excitement over April ball games, notwithstanding the fact they count equally with the more dramatic ones in September and October, is wasted.

However, don't tell team managers that.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

A check on wrist position should be made as you hold the ball. To keep the wrist properly straight and in the best relation to your hand, your right forefinger should be parallel to your forearm while holding the ball at address. Take a look before each bowl until this becomes automatic.

Sutton Hurls Two-Hitter At Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Los Angeles pitcher Don Sutton figures that God gave him the ability to get into the major leagues.

Sutton used that ability well Monday night, stopping the Houston Astros on only two hits as his Dodgers squeezed out a 2-0 victory.

"That's the only way I got here," said the curveballing Los Angeles righthander. "God gave me the ability for one reason, and that one reason is to pitch in the big leagues."

The Dodgers got only six hits themselves, but one of those was Andy Kosco's sixth-inning home run. It gave Sutton all the margin he really needed.

Denis Menke poked a double in the second inning for the Astros and Norm Miller started the sixth inning with a single. That's all the Astros could do at bat.

The victory gave Sutton a 1-1 record for the young season and was the Dodgers' second successive shutout after blowing the first five games of the campaign.

Kosco hit his homer off starter Denny Lemaster. To make sure in the ninth inning, Sutton slapped an infield single that drove in Jack Billingham.

Al Attles To Return As Coach

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors will have Al Attles back as their coach next season.

Owner Franklin Mieuli hopes he can soon say the same about Nate Thurmond and Rick Barry.

Attles, who took over from George Lee as coach of the National Basketball Association team near the end of the season, received what Mieuli said Monday was a "multi-year" contract.

"We feel that Al has passed the test and is qualified to head up the team for the next few years," said Mieuli Terms were not announced.

Attles, 33, may also be back as a player next season, but said he would rather coach full time. It all depends, he says, on how the team shapes up.

That, he admits, is anybody's guess. It depends on whether the NBA's rumored imminent merger with the rival American Basetball Association goes through.

If it does, it is likely that the well-traveled Barry, who began his pro career with the Warriors, would return to San Francisco.

Barry jumped to the ABA's Oakland Oaks two years ago. The club became the Washington Caps before the start of this season.

Thurmond, who announced his retirement after a knee injury during the season, had indicated he would return if Barry is there to help out on the front line.

Mieuli said it would be "imprudent" to comment on the possibility of a merger, but indicated it might happen soon.

"Within the next 30 days," the flamboyant owner said, "there will probably be all kinds of strange things happening and hopefully the Warriors won't always be on the losing end of those strange things."

It was the 22nd perfect game in the history of the 67-year-old tournament and the tournament was the fifth in which Yoder has rolled.

Al Southern Man Behind Marin Junior Ice Hockey

By RALPH CHATOIAN

The Marin Amateur Hockey Club has just completed a season which saw the youngsters more than double their number of the year before, and it's not going to stop there.

Before he took over as president of the group, it numbered about 40. There were more than 120 boys playing in four divisions this year and Southern expects this number to swell to 150 in the next year or two.

Expansion to include more youngsters, and even adults, is the aim of Southern, native of Portland, Ore. who didn't play much hockey himself but has always been a fan of the ice sport.

AL SOUTHERN
Hockey Fan

FOUR DIVISIONS

Currently there are four divisions — Beginners for learners of all ages, Squirt for boys 10 and under, Pee Wee for boys 12 and under, and Bantam for boys 14 and under. Southern says the club is hoping to start a Midget program for those 16 and under and also junior (18) and adult divisions.

Marin's team play their home games at Raydine Ice Skating rink in Corte Madera, and compete in the Northern California Junior Hockey Association against teams from Berkeley, San Francisco, Belmont, Santa Rosa and Sun Valley, near Walnut Creek.

To the hockey kids, it's a year-around season, even though league play ended Feb. 22. "From now until the next league year we'll be playing intramural games, and possibly some exhibition games with other teams," said Southern. "The basic idea of the league is to get the boys out skating. It gives them something to do, and they really have fun."

League games are played on Sundays, and Marin's teams practice on Saturdays, so it makes a full weekend of hockey for the youngsters.

BIG LEAGUE

Once or twice a month Shaun Wiltshire, owner of Wiltshire Towers Motel in San Rafael, packs the kids into his double-decker red bus for a trip to the Oakland Coliseum Arena for Seals' National Hockey League games.

The Marin Squirts team even got a chance to play in the arena last month, between the first and second periods of the Seals-Montreal Canadiens game, against the Belmont Squirts.

"Surprising enough, they weren't shook up as much as I thought they would be playing before all those people," said the 34-year-old Southern. "The only trouble was that the game lasted only five minutes and they sure wanted to play more."

They got another chance, however, playing an exhibition contest with the Belmont Squirts Easter Sunday in the Oakland Arena prior to the game between the Seals and Minnesota North Stars.

COACHES SQUIRTS

Southern is a sales representative for Edwards Dental Supply Co. of San Francisco. And in addition to being president of the Marin club for the second year, coaches the Mariners' Squirts team, the goalie of which is Jeff "Spike" Southern, his 10-year-old son. Al and wife Karen also have two daughters, Wendy, 12, and Sheri, 8.

"I feel the hockey program has been tremendously successful," Southern said. "We've got a group of at least 25 adults that has really helped make the program go. The cooperation has really been something."

MARIN PREP NOTES

Longest Win Streak Belongs To---Girls!

By DAVE EINSTEIN

The longest winning streak in Marin County does not belong to Redwood High School's basketball team, which has won 27 straight league games, nor to Tamalpais' golf team, undefeated in league competition for the past two seasons.

The distinction falls to San Domenico School for Girls in San Anselmo, which last Thursday racked up its 41st consecutive tennis victory, shutting out Holy Name school, 6-0.

It's been more than four years since coach Paul Wilkins' girls have tasted defeat. This year's squad consists of singles players Bee Kilgore, Darby Auerbach and Pam Winslow, and the doubles teams of Ann Bolcum — Jane Huber, Winnie Hamilton — Mary Ellen Yates, and Mary Ann Dohn — Shiela Maloney.

FRESHMAN phenom Rick Demont of Terra Linda, who began the season on the class B team, continues his assault on the swimming record books. Last Friday against Redwood he swam a 400 yard freestyle in 4 minutes, 8 seconds, third fastest in county history and a school record.

He just seems to get better with each meet, and should be at peak form for the Marin County Athletic League championships on Saturday, May 2 at Redwood.

WHO DO you know who celebrates his birthday by pitching a shutout and hitting a grand slam home run? Probably nobody, unless you happen to know Paul Kime, the Tamalpais senior who pulled off that combination last Friday against San Rafael.

Paul, who turned 18 Friday, also hit a double and drove in five runs. Perhaps the question should be asked: Just what was in that birthday cake?

DOUG McVICKAR may be the only high school student from this area who has a varsity letter for hockey. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm McVickar of Kentfield, Doug was recently awarded the letter for his participation on the hockey team at Lake Forest Academy near Chicago.

BATTLE OF SUPER-CENTERS

Reed Is No Little Brother

NEW YORK (AP) — Willis Reed said he felt like "Lew Alcincor's kid brother" on the basketball court. Maybe . . . but he didn't play like his kid brother.

Reed took on Milwaukee's super rookie in a matchup of matchless centers and helped New York bounce the Bucks 112-111 Monday night in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

2-0 LEAD

The hard-earned victory propelled the Knicks into a 2-0 lead in the best-of-7 Eastern Division finals that move to Milwaukee for game No. 3 Friday night.

After Reed and Alcindor played to a standoff, the 6-foot-10 New York center quipped: "Man, it must be great to be tall."

He alluded to Alcindor's height, listed as 7-1 in the programs. But on the court, the difference appears to be more than three inches.

"He's the toughest center to guard," said Reed of the Big A. "Right now, with (Wilt) Chamberlain hurting, I'd say Alcindor's the No. 1 center in the NBA."

If Alcindor is No. 1, then what about Reed? All he did Monday night was score 36 points, wrestle 19 rebounds away from the Bucks and play his usual 110 per cent.

"I can't remember a game in which we played better," said Reed of his season-long wars with Alcincor. "Yes . . . this had to be one of the most satisfying games of my career."

Coach Red Holzman of New York, pointing to Alcindor's 38 points and 23 rebounds, agreed: "It's hard to imagine guys putting on a better performance . . . they did about everything you could ask of centers."

Riordan, who had entered the game seconds earlier, plunked in a spectacular, reverse lay-up that gave the Knicks a 110-107 lead. And Russell, the hip-twisting forward, tossed in a key bucket and later two foul shots with 34 seconds to go that made it 112-109.

ALMOST GOAT

Russell, incidentally, was almost the goat when he missed a dunk shot with three minutes left. The Super Sub then came right back with a 15-foot jumper that made it 108-106 New York and kept the pressure on the Bucks.

"There's no excuse for missing that dunk," said Russell, peeling off tape and dumping it on the floor like an old onion shell. "But those two foul shots at the end gave me a chance to nullify all the bad things I did."

Alcindor earlier missed two foul shots with 50 seconds to go that could have given Milwaukee the lead. The Bucks were losing 110-109.

What about Alcindor's misses, Cazzie?

"Forget about it," he retorted, "I'm still thinking about the shot I missed. I'm just grateful that we won."

Rough Going Ahead For Pan American

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I purchased several shares of Pan American at an average of $28. I don't need the income now; should I sell?—C.H.; Bought Pan American at $30, should I sell?—T.L.; To date I have a substantial loss in Pan Am. What do you advise?—N.W.

A. The immediate prospects for Pan Am shares are not encouraging. For the first time since 1959 PN reported an operating deficit last year. Preliminary results indicated a net loss of $25 million compared with 1968's profit of $49 million. Loss per share was 73 cents versus earnings of $1.46 for 1968. Inflationary costs, labor problems, increased competition from domestic carriers and traffic advantages permitted to supplemental airlines were major factors contributing to the loss.

Although Pan Am aims to make the going at least better for 1970, it will be rough flying in this period of industrywide transition. A strict economy program has been undertaken. Unprofitable fights have been eliminated, resulting in labor cutbacks; federal approval has been obtained for Caribbean fare increases and the first 747s have been put into operation.

The 747 service has been initiated on transpacific flights to boost PN's deteriorating position here. Although the addition of 24 747s to its international routes will bolster traffic, the planes' seating capacities will largely offset any improvement in the load factor. Thus, a real earnings pickup is not expected until the mid-'70s.

Q. I would appreciate information regarding Lykes-Youngstown $2.50 convertible preferred and its future.—O.H.

A. Lykes convertible preferred has come down sharply, due to weak market conditions and higher money rates. In general, market recovery for the common shares should also be reflected in convertible preferred price levels. Your issue merits long-term retention for its generous yield as well as for its growth potential. While 1969 results were not exciting, good earnings progress is forecast for the 1972-1974 period. Recovery is expected for the steel business and shipping operations continue to look promising.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Chris-Craft Corp., Industries Inc., said its subsidiary, Tele-Rep, has obtained a contract as national spot advertising representative for all five television stations of Cox Broadcasting Co. in San Francisco, Dayton, Pittsburgh, Atlanta, and Charlotte, N.C.

"In consideration for the tax loan, the bank will assume a modest interest in your business."

Franchising Tie-Ins Illegal, U.S. Jury Rules

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Tie-in arrangements between a fast-food franchise chain and its dealers are unlawful, a U. S. District Court jury has ruled.

The jury's decision was given in a suit by Chicken Delight dealers against Chicken Delight, Inc., and its parent company, Consolidated Foods Corp., both based in Chicago. Both companies plan to appeal.

Michael Khourie, the lawyer for the dealers, claimed the verdict will have far reaching effects in the fast-foods franchise business and damages may run into the millions of dollars.

Chief U. S. District Judge George H. Harris directed the jury to find that requirements by Chicken Delight that its dealers buy their packaged food from the company violates the antitrust statutes. The jury also found that an arrangement to buy dips, spices, mixes, cooking and frying utensils was not legally justified.

Japanese Firm Will Buy Coal

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan's Mitsui Mining Co. has disclosed plans for a joint venture with Kaiser Resources Ltd. of Canada that will make three million tons of coking coal available to Mitsui annually.

Okiho Kurata, president of the company, said the joint venture would develop mines in the Balmer coal fields on the mest side of the Canadian Rockies.

The venture is aimed at meeting the growing demand of the Japanese steel industry for coking coal.

American Tel Plan Drives Market Lower

NEW YORK (UPI)—Concern over the effect of American Telephone's rights offering on the overall stock market and disappointment with some first quarter corporate earnings drove prices sharply lower on the New York Stock Exchange today. Trading was moderately active.

Yesterday AT&T revealed details of the biggest corporate financing in history. Many analysts believed it was attractive enough to siphon off capital that otherwise might have been invested in stocks.

Shortly before the final bell, the UPI Marketwide Indicator was off 1.15 per cent on 1,571 issued crossing the tape. Of these, 1,018 pointed lower and 299 gained.

A turnover of around 11,000,000 shares compared with 8,810,000 shares yesterday.

Pointed sized losers cropped up in oils, electronics, conglomerates and chemicals, while most other major groups traded in fractions and in both directions.

Seaboard World Airlines was high on the most active list as a result of an early block of 166,200 shares at 8 off 1½. The trade was handled by Shearson, Hammill & Co. for institutions on both sides of the transaction.

Also active were Becton-Dickinson, which traded a block of 124,400 shares at 46 off 3⅛, American Telephone, American General Insurance and Occidental Petroleum.

Prices also back tracked on the American Stock Exchange in moderate turnover.

Fibreboard Reports Substantial Slump

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Fibreboard Corp.'s first quarter earnings will be down substantially from the same period a year ago, president George W. Burgess has reported.

Though final figures are not yet available, Burgess says the principal declines in sales and earnings have occurred in the company's lumber and plywood operations.

Aetna Mutual Fund Shares Go On Sale

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) —Aetna Life and Casualty Insurance Co. has begun selling shares of its new mutual fund following authorization from the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Shares in Aetna Fund Inc. will be sold on a commission-free basis up to June 30, and thereafter will be offered by Aetna agents. The fund will be managed by Aetna Investment Management Inc., an Aetna Life subsidiary.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

A Certain Kind Of Player Should Always Wear A Hat

A certain kind of bridge player should always wear a hat while playing. Then he can truthfully claim that he has something on his mind besides hair. If you doubt this bald statement, consider today's hand with an open mind.

HIGH—LOW PLAY

West opened the king of clubs, and East joyfully began a high-low by playing the ten. West continued with the ace of clubs, noting East's completion of the signal. West then quite properly continued with a low club to allow East to ruff out dummy's queen.

So far, so good. Hats and hair have not yet appeared on the scene. East returned a trump to dummy's king, and declarer promptly continued with the ace of trumps. This play had no redeeming social significance.

Beaming with satisfaction because he had drawn the trumps, declarer cashed the ace of diamonds and ruffed a diamond. Then he led a few trumps with a studious air, as though he had a plan, and wound up by leading a heart to try a finesse with dummy's queen.

TAKES KING

East took the king of hearts to defeat the contract. "Well played," East declared. "You almost made that. You had me worried."

There was no need to worry, as East well knew. The contract was unbeatable, but South found a way to go down.

After winning the first round of trumps with dummy's king, declarer should take the ace of diamonds and ruff a diamond. Then he enters dummy by leading a trump to the ace. This enables him to ruff a second low diamond.

KEY RUFF

As it happens, the king of diamonds falls when South ruffs for the second time. Now declarer doesn't need the heart finesse. If the king of diamonds failed to fall, South could still fall back on the heart play. It would have cost nothing to try.

ANSWER: If you are not vulnerable and the opponents are, you might open with a frisky bid of three spades.

Most rubber bridge players would want slightly better spades or a trick on the side for such a bid. In any other vulnerability, a bid of three spades would be very risky at rubber bridge. Duplicate tournament players might well bid three spades except when vulnerable against nonvulnerable opponents.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, April 14, the 104th day of 1970 with 261 to follow.

The moon is between its full stage and last quarter. The morning star is Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1861 the Union troops at Fort Sumter surrendered to the Confederacy.

In 1865 John Wilkes Booth shot President Abraham Lincoln in the Ford Theater, Washington, D.C. Lincoln died the next day.

In 1910 President William Howard Taft started a precedent when he threw out the first baseball of the major league season.

A thought for the day: British actor Sir Arthur Wing Pinero said, "I believe the future is only the past again, entered through another gate."

Convicted Critic Wins Fellowship

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Dr. Leslie A. Fiedler, literary critic and teacher convicted last week of a narcotics violation, was announced yesterday as a winner of a John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation fellowship.

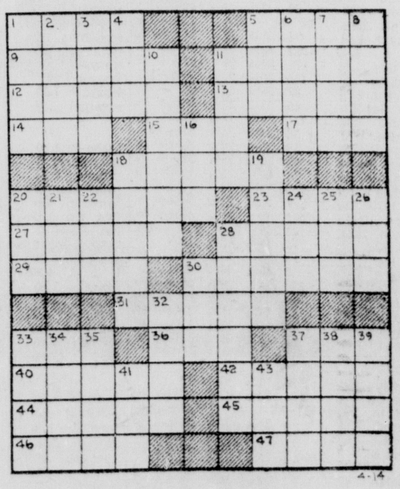
Yesterday's Answer



"Now, make me a newspaper by tonight"

Tall order . . . since a complete newspaper such as the Independent-Journal is at once the most complex yet lowest-priced product that can be made in one day.

Every day a new "model" . . . delivered by nightfall. To do this job against the clock—

- our 18 reporters comb the county, observing, interviewing, phoning, writing, getting the facts for you.
- thousands of AP and UPI newsmen check the world for you, put its pulse on the wire.
- teletypes chatter some 120,000 words to us, from as close as Mill Valley, as far away as Capetown.
- rolls of paper, each 850 lbs., move in from Canada and the Northwest.
- electronic impulses turn into photographs on a machine—the world in black and white, caught in action.
- the managing editor watches for the big stories, gauging the importance of each, overseeing the editorial "construction" of the paper, from content to design.
- pressmen feed the giant press with ink and paper—a taste of what's to come.
- "Circulation" readies for the job of distributing the paper, via 700 newspaperboys, to two out of three homes in the county.
- experts set type for news, for ads—enough in one day to fill a good-sized book.
- the retail advertising staff, 10 strong, contacts almost every business in the county . . . planning campaigns, offering merchants professional service in copywriting, layout and merchandising.
- the city editor "feels" for the news on a hundred fronts, hands out assignments, shaping the news force to the shape of events.
- engravers work their chemical magic, placing print and picture on metal.
- the women's editor and staff of 5 molds food and fashions, social doings, meetings, school events, into a women's world.
- syndicates send in both national and world-wide features—columns, comics, cartoons.
- specialists "make up" the paper, designing every page of news and ads.
- the art department creates illustrations, layouts, designs, cartoons.
- photographers race the news throughout the county, clicking the visual happenings of Marin today.
- ink for the press arrives not in bottles but tank trucks.
- color plates and color inks are being readied for ads, special editions, covers—all to brighten your reading eye.
- sports "jump" in the typewriters of the sports department and Willie Mays leaps up into a headline.
- "Classified" is setting up the county's daily market place, and the phone rings with "wanted" and "for sale."
- headlines are being written against deadlines—and the tight confines of space.
- vital statistics are being compiled; weather and stock reports are coming in.
- the mechancial superintendent moves the copy through a maze of linotypes, electronic typesetters and the precise hands of men who literally know type up-side down.
- the library is digging up background data for stories, filing photos, micro-filming each edition of the newspaper.
- legal ads get eagle-eyed checking for accuracy.
- orders are coming in from the nation's advertising agencies with mats for advertisements—everything from autos to ant spray.
- issues become the tissue of editorials—the reasoned interpretation of events.
- proofreaders scan every line of news and advertising trying to hold errors to a minimum against the pressure of time.
- letters to the editor are being read for possible publication.
- the dispatch office is moving ads into production—checking size, type, mats, insertion dates, art, photos—a hundred elements.
- our national representatives are meeting with ad agencies and advertisers in New York, Detroit, Chicago—a dozen cities—telling them about Marin County and its newspaper.
- special contributors' columns on fishing, baseball and many others are being processed.
- Marin Magazine is being dummied; stories developed for the Saturday edition—picturing life in Marin.
- the business office moves against a mountain of financial and administrative detail.
- stereotypers cast the weighty cylinders for the big press—the final imprint of the news on metal.
- last minute news comes through and the front page changes under the expert fingers of typographers and the eye of the editor.

Harbor Goals Formed

The Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission last night formulated recommendations for the city's small craft harbor, seeking a balance between an economically feasible harbor and an overdeveloped one.

The commission also recommended that the city hire an environmental planner to translate the goals into a workable plan for the harbor.

The seven priorities will be turned over to the planning commission April 27 and incorporated into that group's recommendations.

SMALL COATS

"Tonight we're charged with deciding just what type of harbor the city should have," Richard J. Young told his fellow commissioners. And the picture that emerged from the discussion was of a limited development meant for small boats and small numbers of users.

The first point, suggested by Paul N. Hewett, was to prohibit development of more than half the surface area of the water.

"This would limit the number of boat slips that could be crowded into the water," he said, though he admitted that some berthing was necessary to provide income for the city.

He also recommended, and the commission adopted, a provision that berthing be allowed only on one side of the lagoon, the side that now has a launching area, gravel parking lot and boat storage pen, and that only boats 24 feet in length or less be allowed in the harbor.

NON-POWERED CRAFT

Commissioner Robert Jenkins next proposed that all nearby marshlands be preserved as they now exist.

There was general agreement that the area should include facilities for docking and launching of small non-powered craft.

"We want to preserve free access to the water," said Donald L. Dimitratos, parks and recreation director. "There should be provisions for the young people who want to launch their canoes and small sailboats without having to pay a dollar when they put the boat in and another dollar when they take it out."

Point five, proposed by Jenkins, was that a marina green to retain the park-like open space be established, and that a permanent recreation center should be built.

In the sixth recommendation the commission declared the need to weigh economic feasibility against overdevelopment. It proposed that the plan provide for enough commercial uses to pay at least part of the cost of the harbor, while at the same time carefully avoiding overdevelopment.

NO PARKING

In the final point, commissioners established that the boat area would be people oriented when they asked that there be no parking facilities within the confines of the harbor area.

"In many harbors," Dimitratos said, "Cars can bring in boats for launching but they must be driven away and parked elsewhere."

The Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission also:

THEE CONTROL — Unanimously recommended that the city council adopt an ordinance limiting the size of trees on private property that block views or otherwise constitute a nuisance.

RULES—Unanimously recommended that the city council adopt a new set of rules for the city's tennis courts. The new rules promote a rapid turnover of tennis players by limiting the number of games that can be played at one time.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to its next regular meeting April 27 at 8 p.m. in the public library.

Eighth Grade Girl Outspells The I-J

If "intelligible" were easy to spell, it would hardly win a spelling contest for anyone, would it?

Which may explain why the word was misspelled in an Independent-Journal story Saturday relating that Lynn Gutstadt of Ross had won the countywide eighth grade spelling bee for spelling "intelligable" correctly.

Off-Ramps For Defeated Judges?

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — "One minor amendment" to a resolution naming Route 90 the Richard M. Nixon Freeway was offered today by a Democrat.

The first two offramps, insisted Sen. Alfred E. Alquist of San Jose, "must appropriately be called 'Clement F. Haynsworth Jr.' and 'G. Harrold Carswell' to maintain historial integrity."

The Nixon Freeway resolution cleared the Assembly last week and went to the Senate for hearing. Alquist is a Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor.

Role Of Dental Floss Is Hailed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —An Illinois dentist says dental floss, if used correctly, is more valuable than a toothbrush in keeping teeth healthy.

Dr. Robert F. Barkley of Macomb, Ill., told 600 California Dental Association convention members Monday, "You can brush between bites and still have cavities."

"A mother can clean her teeth while watching the daily soap opera," he said," and children can do it while watching cartoons on television. Ideally, the process should only take about four minutes for adults."

Dr. Barkley does not recommend tossing away toothbrushes but says the use of floss plus proper diet and flouride treatment can "drop decay to almost nil."

Nixon Criticizes, But Signs Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has signed into law a bill authorizing expenditures totaling $24.6 billion for education, but declared the sum was "unrealistic" and "unwise."

Nixon said he wouldn't approve the large sum when handed the actual appropriation legislation.

The measure is the largest federal school aid bill ever considered by Congress and extends for three years.

Nixon said in a statement that he signed the measure only because it includes "important education programs in fiscal year 1971."

Apollo 13 Team Battles To Bring Crippled Space Ship Safely Home

Many Perils Ahead For Friday Splash

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 13's astronauts battled today to bring their crippled craft back to earth from a quarter million miles away as Mission Control decided they would aim for a Friday splash down in the Pacific.

James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. took shortcuts to conserve their precious consumables of water, oxygen and power as they raced farther from earth toward a moon which had been their landing target until a violent eruption of a pressurized fuel tank Monday night.

They were to loop around the moon tonight and two hours later, at 6:40 p.m. PST, were to fire their lunar lander engine to speed them back toward earth and a dawn splashdown in the Pacific north of New Zealand at 9:13 a.m. PST Friday.

Asked whether the three spacemen, principles in the most dangerous drama in American space history, would make it home safely, flight controller Glynn Lunney, answered, "Yes, barely."

"We've got the situation stabilized," he said. "The most critical thing now is to keep it stabilized the rest of the flight."

—The command ship, disabled by the still mysterious rupture, was completely shut down electrically. Emergency batteries and oxygen supplies were available to take the ship, the only vehicle that can carry the men home, through the atmosphere.

More Apollo stories, page 30.

—The lunar module which became the astronauts' lifeboat, was providing critical power, oxygen, water and other life support. But its supplies were dropping and the astronauts were operating on minimum requirements.

—Officials were concerned mainly with the water supply. With 72 hours to go, based on a Friday landing, they had enough water for 84 hours, a margin of 12 hours. To keep this margin, the astronauts must power down to minimum electrical power of 17 amperes per hour for most

Schneider Quits Sausalito Schools

By PAT ANGLE

Phillip W. Schneider, superintendent of the troubled Sausalito School District last night informed the district board he will leave the post he has held for four years. (Other Sausalito School District stories, page 18.)

In a move which did not come as a total surprise to observers of the Sausalito school scene, Schneider told the trustees he has decided to resign effective December 31 (the date when contracts for superintendents are signed throughout the state). His contract with the district is scheduled to run until June of 1972.

He also requested the option to be released from his contract, provided 60-day notice is given, any time after June 30.

The board listened unhappily to Schneider's announcement, then voted unanimously to accept his resignation "with regret and great thanks for the enormous efforts you have made in this school district over the last four yeas."

The superintendent's decision evoked an emotional response from Trustee Martha Freebairn-Smith, who thanked Schneider for his "leadership, courage, and the energy given to our children and to us."

Although Schneider did not give the board a reason for his decision to leave, he told the Independent-Journal he felt his effectiveness in the district in the future "would be limited because of the past positions I have had to take.

"I think this is the logical time for some individual to come in who can view the situation impartially," he said. "perhaps a new personality, someone who has not been involved in all the problems in the district, can bring about the much needed unity among members of our school community."

PHILLIP W. SCHNEIDER
Also requests option

Schneider, often the target of criticism for his conduct of district affairs, said he felt his greatest contribution to the district has been "to maintain a truly integrated school system." He said he is not leaving to accept another job.

The 50-year-old superintendent, a native of San Rafael, was named to his present position in May of 1966. Before that he was a professor of education at Sonoma State College and for 11 years served as superintendent of the old San Jose School district, now part of the Novato Unified School District.

In 1962, he was named to a U. S. State Department team appointed to set up a school system in Liberia, West Africa, where he spent two years. Just prior to coming to Sausalito, he was superintendent of a Mountain View elementary district.

He and his wife, Edith, who live at 91 Glen Drive, Sausalito, have three grown children.

Minutes after Schneider announced his resignation, Royce McLemore of Marin City rose to tell the board that Sausalito has a qualified black administrator — Sidney F. Walton Jr., principal of Martin Luther King School — "right here in the district."

Mrs. McLemore drew scattered applause when she asked the board to consider Walton for the superintendent's post rather than seek new talent outside the disrtict.

Asst. Supt. Joseph Amato, who would be a possible successor to Schneider, said last night's decision "has not altered my plans at all; I am still looking for a job outside the district." Amato's position was recently eliminated in budget cuts for next year.

The board directed president Nathaniel Johnson to take immediate steps toward finding a new superintendent.

Former Larkspur Mayor Allen Dies

Daniel Allen, former mayor of Larkspur, died today in a local hospital after illness of cancer. He was 65.

Allen served on the Larkspur City Council from 1956 until he resigned in 1963 to take a tour abroad with a group of American square dancers. He was mayor in 1958-60.

Square dancing was his principal hobby and he was a leader in square dance circles in Marin, being a member for many years of the Mill Wheelers square dance club. He also had a noted collection of oldtime phonograph records, some dating back to the time of Thomas A. Edison.

Allen had resided in Marin County since 1942, and in California since 1928.

He was born in Andover, Mass., received his degree from Yale University and took postgraduate studies in business and law at Stanford University. He was on the Yale University football and track teams for two years.

He first came to Marin as a teacher at Tamalpais School for Boys in 1938, remaining two years and then moving to Pasadena. He returned in 1942 for a wartime job at the Marinship ship building yards. His first in-

Voting Off To A Slow Day's Start

Polling places will remain open until 7 p.m., except in Novato, Belvedere, Cotati, Tiburon and Rohnert Park, where the polls will close an hour later.

In San Anselmo, where seven candidates are running for three seats in a lively election, the vote was fairly heavy, with 24 per cent of registered voters having voted at the city hall poll at 11 a.m., some 18 per cent at Brookside School's poll, and 16 per cent at the Wade Thomas School.

Sausalito, with six candidates seeking two seats, reported a heavy early turnout at four of the city's five precincts, but City Clerk Miriam Ansell said that voting was light in the Bayside precinct.

Voting was light in Larkspur,

President Reported Supporting Blackmun

WASHINGTON (AP) — An informed Senate source said today that President Nixon will nominate Judge Harry A. Blackmun of Minnesota for the Supreme Court.

This was the word reportedly passed to key senators. An announcement from the White House was expected shortly.

Blackmun, a close friend of Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, has been a member of the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis since 1959. He was appointed by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Before word that Blackmun was Nixon's choice for the court post for which two Southern judges were rejected, key Republican senators were briefed by Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst in a Capitol hideaway.

Afterward GOP Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said that possible nominees had been discussed and that he expected announcement of the President's nomination "in the very near future."

Scott was asked if he thought Blackmun's chances had been hurt by former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's statement Monday that Blackmun is the kind of man he would like to see on the court.

"I don't think Humphrey's endorsement hurts anybody," Scott replied.

Scott said the meeting with Kleindienst was the type of consultation he had urged on the administration after the Senate's rejection by a 51-45 vote last Wednesday of Nixon's nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell of Florida.

Daly City Couple Dies In Car Crash

A Daly City couple was killed and a Cotati man injured yesterday when their car struck the center divider on Highway 101 north of Novato and rolled over twice, ejecting them, according to the California Highway Patrol. (See photos, page 30)

Dead on arrival at Novato General Hospital were Lloyd W. Hickey, 33, and his wife Oksan, 30, a native of Korea. The driver of the vehicle, Lionel Raymond Hall, 25, was reported in satisfactory condition in the intensive care unit at the hospital today with unspecified injuries. A hospital spokesman said he is "in for observation and didn't have any broken bones."

Patrolman Richard L. Myers said he had been chasing Hall at speeds of up to 90 miles an hour near Gnoss Field and was about to stop him when Hall passed a truck and lost control of his pickup at 1:20 p.m. Hall was booked in absentia at Marin County jail on suspicion of felony drunken driving and manslaughter. A court date was not set. Myers said a witness told him that Hall had been drinking beer with one hand and steering with the other just before the accident.

The Hickey deaths brought to 14 the number of pesons killed in traffic accidents in the county this year. Seven had died at this time last year.

Mill Valley Moves To Annex Strawberry Shops; Tiburon Irate

Mill Valley today served notice it will try once again to annex the Strawberry shopping center and surrounding area into the city boundaries.

Mill Valley City Manager William H. Cunningham submitted a letter of intent to annex the area to Assistant County Administrator John F. Barrows, who is also chairman of Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission.

Mill Valley's move brought immediate and bitter reaction from the City of Tiburon, whose mayor, Branwell D. Fanning, labeled the action "political opportunism" and announced a renewal of the 1968 annexation fight between the two cities.

At stake is the tax-rich Strawberry Town and Country Village shopping center, whose tax revenue both cities have long coveted.

The annexation would bring 110 acres east of Highway 101 into the Mill Valley city limits, between Reed Boulevard to the north and Ricardo Road to the south.

The application says about 62 acres of the proposed annexation is vacant land which will probably be developed at a residential density of 15 units per acre.

Today's action by the City of Mill Valley came on the heels of an adjourned meeting of the city council last night at which the council took up the annexation question which had not been listed on the agenda.

The council voted 3-1, with Hobert H. Anderson dissenting, to request annexation approval by the angency formation commission. Councilman George Wickham was out of town and did not attend the adjourned meeting.

Mayor Dean N. Meyer read to the council a list of reasons for the annexation, Cunningham said. These included the points that virtually all property owners' in the area have requested annexation, the land lies in the Mill Valley watershed, and agencies such as the Mill Valley School District and the Mill Valley Post Office serve residents of the area.

Cunningham said the decision followed discussion of deannexing another area, called

Senate Would Let Highway Commission Divide Up Cash

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate passed today landmark legislation to abandon the state's 23-year-old formula for splitting highway building funds between Northern and Southern California.

The bill, passed 21-13, gives that $750-million-a-year decision to the seven-member State Highway Commission.

A straight geographic interest vote of 21 Southern California senators approved the bill, written by Sen. James Mills, D-San Diego.

Northern California opponents warned against turning the decision over to the commission.

Sen. Alan Short, D-Stockton, recalled that Northern Californians now are regretting approval of the State Water Project to ship water from the north to the south.

"We've been plundered once. Are you going to do it again?" asked Short, a former chairman of the Senate Transportation Committee which successfully had blocked such legislation for years.

The current formula for dividing highway building revenues calls for virtually automatic apportionment of 55 per cent of the money to the 13 Southern California counties with the remaining 45 per cent going to 45 Northern California counties.

The 1970-71 fiscal year high-

Russ Nuclear Sub Vanishes; U.S. Tells But Kremlin Mum

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Soviet nuclear attack submarine, perhaps with as many as 88 crewmen aboard, apparently has been lost in Atlantic waters 400 miles northwest of the Spanish coast.

The word came Monday from the Defense Department, which reported that American planes observed at least some of the drama of the high seas incident before the submarine disappeared last weekend.

The 3,500-ton vessel, one of a class of hunter-killer submarines capable of tailing American ships, was seen in distress Friday and Saturday, then vanished Sunday—with two oil slicks remaining.

No one actually saw her go down but Navy antisubmarine patrol planes had watched over the weekend as two Soviet surface ships attempted unsuccessfully to tie a towline to the sub in rough seas.

At one point Soviet crewmen stood on the deck of the surfaced submarine. The U.S. Navy P3 Orion planes, flying from an airbase in the Azores, saw none of them leave.

There was no immediate reaction from the Soviet government to Washington's announcement. But Westerners in Moscow believed the submarine was on its way to take part in large-scale maneuvers which the Soviet Defense Department announced today are being held in both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans through May.

The apparent loss came 23 months after an American nuclear submarine, the USS Scorpion, mysteriously vanished with a crew of 99 in the Atlantic while returning from a Mediterranean exercise.

There were no obvious similarities in the two incidents, however. The Scorpion was never sighted nor heard from and apparently disintegrated in the ocean depths.

Scorpion debris was later found 400 miles southwest of the Azores. The Soviet submarine was spotted 400 miles northwest of Cape Finisterre, Spain—roughly 1,000 miles from the Scorpion's grave.

The question arose as to why the Pentagon elected to announce the Soviet misfortune, which was not immediately confirmed by the Russians.

One reason, knowledgeable officials said, was that the incident was certain to leak out anyway to American newsmen.

There was also the possibility the Soviets might claim an American submarine or ship had bumped the Russian vessel.

Presidential Reporter, Merriman Smith, Dies

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Merriman Smith, the dean of White House correspondents, died Monday. He covered six presidents over nearly three decades for United Press International and won the Pulitzer Prize and the Presidential Medal of Freedom.

Smith, 57, was found in his suburban Virginia home dead of a gunshot wound, apparently self-inflicted. A death certificate was expected to be issued today.

His six presidents spanned 28 eventful years, from Franklin D. Roosevelt just before the Pearl Harbor attack in 1941, to Richard M. Nixon, who said of Smith: "He was one of the great reporters of our time."

At his death, he was dean of the White House press corps. For some years he had been senior wire service correspondent and traditionally ended presidential news conferences with the words: "Thank you, Mr. President."

Smith won the Pulitzer Prize, American journalism's highest award, for his reporting of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy in 1963. He sent the first bulletin of the shooting in Dallas from a radiotelephone in a car speeding toward the hospital and stayed with the story until Kennedy's body was returned to Washington, where Smith wrote a moving recapitulation of the day's events.

Smith became seriously ill in late 1968 while covering President-elect Nixon in Florida. He returned to duty in 1969 at the start of the new administration. About 10 days ago, he was briefly hospitalized in Washington, but he had returned home and was immersed in helping plan the annual White House Correspondents Association dinner scheduled Saturday night.

Late Monday afternoon, Mrs. Smith discovered his body in a bathroom after he did not answer her calls. A .357 magnum revolver —he was an avid gun collector —was on the floor. He left no note.

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Marijuana Hit

CHICAGO (UPI)—A New York drug expert says the use of marijuana for social purposes would cause "a public health catastrophe." One from California says that if marijuana use is not stopped, "we will see a violent, riotous upheavel the likes of which we haven't seen in this nation."

The warning came Monday at the opening session of the four-day National Institute of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs. About 1,200 persons are attending the conference, which is sponsored by the Chicago-based National District Attorneys Association.

"The curious fact is that heroin has followed marijuana into places where heroin has never been seen before." Dr. Henry Brill of New York said. "There will be a public health catastrophe if we ever permit its use—marijuana's—for social purposes."

Denies Beating

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Denying testimony by his common-law wife that he beat his 5-year-old stepson to death, Ronald Fouquet testified Monday the child died of a sudden illness.

"I've never stomped on a kid or anybody in my life," the 31-year-old mechanic said as a witness in his own defense against first-degree charges in the death of Jeffrey Lansdown in 1966.

Previous witnesses, including his common-law wife Betty Lansdown Fouquet, 26, testified Jeffrey died after a series of beatings and mistreatment by Fouquet lasting near three weeks.

Fouquet admitted spanking the boy with a belt or paddle, but he denied any brutal beatings.

Suharto To Visit

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—President Suharto expects to leave for the United States May 26 for a 10-day official visit, a presidential spokesman said today. Suharto will be returning President Nixon's visit made during his Asian tour last July.

Ford In Moscow

The Soviets are studying plans for a giant truck factory with a capacity of 150,000 vehicles a year. Western observers said they may be approaching Ford to handle a major phase of the operation.

Ford, his wife, his daughter Charlotte and three top Ford executives spent their first of 10 days in Moscow Monday as guests in an elegant government villa in Lenin Hills and talked with officials in the Soviet automobile building industry.

Aspirin Tests

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UPI)—Human trials are to begin soon to find out if two aspirin tablets a day will keep a heart attack away.

This was disclosed today by three scientists who have proved that in dogs aspirin in low dosage can prevent the artery-closing blood clots which cause about half of all heart attacks and a high percentage of strokes.

Dr. Harvey J. Weiss of New York City told the annual meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology that the next step is to see if the experiment can be applied to human therapy.

Arrives For Talks

VIENNA (AP)—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vladimir Semenov arrived today for the resumption of the strategic arms limitation talks with the United States. He said the Kremlin had instructed his delegation "to conduct negotiations in a factual and constructive manner."

"One would hope that this will also be displayed by the American side," said Semenov in a statement at the railroad station.

Gerard Smith and his U.S. delegation arrive tonight. They stopped in Brussels today to talk with the NATO representative of the other members of the

A KISS FOR AGNEW

Most of the campus was without power Monday from 11:48 a.m. until about 7:30 p.m. The Lawrence Radiation Laboratory a half mile away, went on emergency power shortly after the blast. The two main accelerators had not been in use.

Oakland police are investigating the explosion, the fifth in two years at utility towers operated by Pacific Gas & Electric Co. There were no injuries.

Berkeley police also were trying today to determine who threw two firebombs against the front facade of the Berkeley police station late Sunday.

The small explosion scorched the cement structure, but no injuries or other damage was reported. Several police were injured in a bombing at the station parking lot in February.

Contra Costa County sheriffs' deputies said the bombings apparently were unrelated to the theft Saturday night of 485 pounds of dynamite from the American Smelting and Refining Co. in Selby. Officers said a lock was sawed off and explosives were taken from a powder magazine.

The campus outage forced the library and student office buildings to close at 5 p.m. because of no lights. A noon rally by the Student Mobilization committee was called off because the loudspeakers wouldn't work.

Elevators did not work in one eight-floor dormitory and lunch was not served in another. Cowell Memorial Hospital operated with auxiliary power.

The explosion happened at 10:34 a.m., just inside the Oakland city limits, about two miles from the university stadium in a wooded area.

Grace Walpole, a radiation laboratory employe, said the blast was deafening and "there was a brilliant yellow flash."

Two novice milkmaids, Sunny (left) and Tara, steal the show in the University of California annual milking contest between the Davis and Berkeley campuses. Sunny and Tara, two North Beach topless dancers out of uniform, represented respectively Davis and Berkeley in yesterday's contest in Berkeley. Both confessed never meeting a cow before, but Tara managed to produce 10.5 ounces of milk from her Jersey cow, while Sunny got only half an ounce.

Reds Use Cambodia For Rocket Base

SAIGON (AP) — Striking from inside Cambodia with big rockets and assault troops, North Vietnamese wrecked the South Vietnamese border crossing post on Highway One, but the defenders killed 96 of the attackers, sources said.

Many of the North Vietnamese were killed by South Vietnamese bombers and artillery fire that crossed the border 42 miles northwest of Saigon.

Seven of the 150 militiamen manning the border post were reported killed and more than a dozen wounded, but sturdy defense bunkers kept the South Vietnamese casualty toll down. One civilian, a member of a militiaman's family, also was killed.

One source said North Vietnamese positions in Cambodia bombarded the complex of yellow one-story buildings with 240mm rockets weighing about 200 pounds each and mortar shells. Then sappers broke through the perimeter firing rocket grenades.

"The damage was extensive," the source said. "It was pretty bad."

South Vietnamese ground troops and bombers have been making regular forays across the border in collaboration with Cambodian forces in efforts to crush North Vietnamese and Viet Cong units that have their base camps in the area that juts into South Vietnam. It is known to the military as the Parrot's Beak.

Farther south, AP Correspondent John Vinocur reported from Takeo, Cambodia, that Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops who have been operating in the Seven Mountains region of the western Mekong Delta attacked two Cambodian posts about six miles from the border and captured about 50 soldiers and policemen.

Takeo Province's assistant military chief said the Viet Cong were looking for rice. He estimated that there are 20,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in his province.

There was no word of fresh fighting 25 miles farther west along Highway One, where more than 3,000 Viet Cong troops advancing into Cambodia are reported on three sides of Svay Rieng, a provincial capital with a population of nearly 20,000.

Cambodian officers in Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital, told AP Correspondent T. Jeff Williams that U.S. or South Vietnamese planes and helicopters were flying photo-reconnaissance flights day and night around Svay Rieng to pinpoint Viet Cong positions for the Cambodians.

The enemy's spring offensive in South Vietnam ended its second week with other action reported along the Cambodian border north of Saigon, in the central highlands and just south of the demilitarized zone, as well as 45 enemy rocket and mortar attacks between 8 a.m. Monday and 8 a.m. today.

The allied commands said casualties included nine Americans, three South Vietnamese and 182 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed, and 72 Americans and 23 South Vietnamese wounded.

Four American helicopters were lost Monday, the U.S. Command said. One was a big Army Chinook hit by a North Vietnamese mortar shell as it was landing at an American artillery base three miles south of the DMZ. The helicopter crashed, killing one of the Americans aboard and wounding eight others.

Tiburon Downtown Plan Delayed For Seating Of New Councilmen

The Tiburon City Council — saddled with two lame duck councilmen — last night declined to ram through an election-eve adoption of the city's Buskirk-Noble downtown plan.

The council instead ended a four-hour public hearing by adopting a resolution which endorsed the plan and encourgaed the new city council to adopt it "at the earliest possible moment."

The council's reluctance to adopt the downtown plan was due to the fact that two of the councilmen — William R. Bremer and Thomas E. Drohan — are not candidates for reelection in today's balloting.

Both Bremer and Drohan last night recommended that the council not take final action, saying that they had "great confidence" in whomever is elected.

Approximately 50 persons filled the multi-purpose room at the Del Mar School last night for the public hearing on the long-awaited downtown plan. The plan, which has been some four years in the making, was finally approved by the planning commission on March 18 after several hearings.

The plan includes harbor development, a linear park, a system of pedestrian and bicycle paths, a professional office complex and the construction of a second major traffic thoroughfare. The proposed development covers 51 acres, including 9.15 acres in parks, 6.25 acres as a harbor, 9.76 acres in new streets.

Other acreage allotted under the plan is: conference center, 2.8; parking, 3.45; executive office park, 2.34; retail and professional office space, 5.47; hillside housing, 3.5; lagoon housing, 2.76 and Tiburon Peninsula Club recreation, 5.2.

Only two features of the plan came under any concentrated attack during the public hearing which was almost devoid of emotion. Several persons protested the establishment of a second thoroughfare into Tiburon, saying that it would only lead to increased vehicular traffic, creating 'another Sausalito.'

The second major road, according to Phillip Buskirk, the plan's chief author, is to provide residents access and exit from the city without having to go through the downtown section, which is currently served by Tiburon Boulevard.

Also under attack was a suggestion by Buskirk that the new yacht harbor, which calls for space for 77 boats, also be allowed to have a boat repair facility. Several of the councilmen and others in the audience objected to this, noting that such businesses are usually cluttered and messy.

"I think gross commercialism is creeping into the plan," he said. "When we signed a 25-year lease with the city we were told no other competition would be allowed in."

Vance Wolf, representing the Northwestern Pacific Railroad, which has a right-of-way in the area to be developed, asked that the city take no official action until the railroad had a chance to make a feasibility study on its own.

The majority of the audience, although critical of the traffic flow and possibility of a boat repair facility in the harbor, urged the council to go ahead and adopt the plan.

"The longest journey must start with a single step," said Dr. George Sugarman, head of the Chamber of Commerce. He read an endorsement of the plan adopted by the chamber and then urged the council to take action last night.

But Bremer and Drohan prevailed, saying they felt another public hearing on the plan was advisable and said they felt the new council should have an opportunity to take the final action.

Landscaping Bids Sought

Bids for landscaping an unsightly plot of land outside the Federal Building in San Rafael are now being sought by the General Services Administration.

The building was remodeled last winter and spring at a cost of $270,000, but no money was left to landscape the building.

Bids will be opened April 28, a year after the weed garden at Third and D Streets began.

Rezoning Of Many Parcels In Novato

The Novato Planning Commission last night rezoned all land to the city since incorporation except for those parcels previously rezoned.

Several months ago, the city planning staff found out that zoning applied by Marin County did not carry over with the land when it was annexed to the city. Last night's action gave legal zoning to approximately 40 parcels of property.

The Novato Planning Commission also:

TENTATIVE MAPS — Approved the tentative map of Marin Golf and Country Club Estates Unit 6, south of Alameda de la Loma adjacent to the Country Club Estates, containing 28 lots on 21 acres submittted by Marin Oaks Developments Co. The commission continued indefinitely the tentative map of Los Robles subdivision of 84 lots on 37 acres at the end of Los Robles Drive.

SAN MARIN—Continued until May 11 consideration of an amendment to the San Marin master plan to change to planned residential the area west of highway 101 and south of San Marin Drive.

CAR WASH—Continued indefinitely the application of Albert Tresch for a car wash at the Tresch Triangle, west of South Novato Boulevard and north of Center Road.

Youths Nabbed In Theft Probe

Two 16-year-old Santa Venetia youths were arrested on suspicion of burglary Friday after being caught rolling tires out of the San Rafael Tire and Brake Co., 666 Irwin Street, at 11:41 p.m., police reported yesterday.

The youths, Earl Ervin Radford of 637 Vendola Drive and Thomas Jeffrey Hauth of 144 Mabry Way, released to the custody of their parents, were cited to appear in Juvenile Court at 3 p.m. Wednesday.

The youths were also cited on suspicion of attempted burglary at the same time at Anchor Development, next door at 670 Irwin Street, police said. The attempted burglary was not discovered until after the youths were arrected, police reported.

Soviets Planning 2-Ocean Games

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government announced today it will hold large-scale naval maneuvers simultaneously in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans through May.

"For the first time in the history of both the Soviet and world naval art, the forces disposed on different oceans will operate to a single concept," said Kransaya Zvezda — Red Star — the Defense ministry newspaper.

The Soviet Union "is not only a great power in land warfare but in naval warfare as well," said another official paper.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the purpose of the maneuvers was to test and improve the combat skill of the navy and the operational preparedness of its staffs.

Noted Polish Sculptor Dies

VIAREGGIO, Italy (AP)— Michele Paszjun, a Polish sculptor widely known for his religious statues, died of a heart attack Sunday at his home in a 13th Century castle near Viareggio. He was 63.

Paszjun returned three weeks ago after six months in the United States during which he had a show of his works in New York.

His most noted work was the mausoleum at Monte Cassino for Polish soldiers who died in the World War II battle there. He sculpted numerous statues for the Vatican and did statues of President John F. Kennedy, Pope Paul VI, Pope John XXIII and many saints.

'Bloodbath' Comment Asked

Michael Peevey of San Rafael, unopposed candidate for the Democratic nomination for State Senate, has called upon Republican candidates for the Fourth District seat to "let the public know how they feel" about Gov. Ronald Reagan's reference last week to a "bloodbath" to stop campus violence.

Peevey, speaking Friday night at the San Rafael home of William Atwood, said the governor's language "was likely only to further polarize young and old at a time when we, as a society, have to come together."

County Rejects Offer Of Museum

The county today turned down the Pony Express retreat in the golf club tract as a county museum because of inadequate access and parking and strong objections from residents.

Marin County Board of Supervisors voted 4 to 1 to reject the offer made in the will of the late Col. Waddell F. Smith. The will offered the two-acre parcel and all improvements including Pony Express historical collections to the county on condition that the entire collection be kept intact on the site. The property is located at 75 Margarita Drive.

Marin County Parks and Recreation commission had recommended that the offer be declined because disadvantages outweighed the advantages, parks chairman Lothar Salin reported.

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. moved for rejection, with a second from Supervisor Louis H. Baar. Supervisor Michael Wornum cast the only dissenting vote, only because he wanted to see the premises before a decision.

Robert Lee, president of the homeowners of the golf club tract, presented a petition signed by about 75 residents opposing a public museum on the Smith property.

Lee said the area is zoned one-family, Margarita Drive is narrow, and the property has inadequate parking and turnaround space.

Max Thelan Jr. representing Mrs. Waddell F. Smith, estimated the replacement value of the Pony Express retreat building at $500,000 as a private home, he agreed, however, it would not bring that kind of price.

Labor Board Accuses Union In I-J Dispute

The National Labor Relations Board has issued a complaint against San Francisco Typographical Union 21 charging coercion of the Independent-Journal composing room foreman in violation of federal law.

The complaint was issued by Roy O. Hoffman, NLRB regional director, following investigation of allegations by publishers of the Independent-Journal. It charges that the union restrained and coerced Gordon Dixon from performing his supervisory duties as composing room foreman. It recites that last Oct. 17 the union charged Dixon with violating its constitution, general laws and by laws in performance of his duties as a supervisor; that on Jan. 18 it fined him because he carried out those duties, and on Jan. 30 it charged him with violating the union constitution by working at the Independent-Journal after the San Francisco local called a strike against it on Jan. 7.

All these are held to be unfair labor practices under the law.

Hearing on the complaint has been consolidated with an NLRB hearing on a previous NLRB complaint against the same union growing out of picketing at Pier 46-A in San Francisco in January, in an attempt to prevent delivery of newsprint to the I-J, which is charged as a secondary boycott in violation of the law. Hearing will be May 6 in Room 18201 of the Federal Building in San Francisco. The hearing examiner has not yet been named.

Youth Booked In Theft Probe

A 17-year-old Santa Venetia youth has been booked into Marin Juvenile Hall on suspicion of possessing stolen property after a stereo deck and tape recorder reportedly stolen earlier from Terra Linda High School were found in his bedroom.

Juvenile officers went to the home of David Monmouth Jones, of 870 Estancia Way, after receiving a tip that the stolen articles were there. They said they found them in his bedroom. Jones told the officers that he had found the articles hidden in the bushes near the school.

The officers also said that there was a heavy odor of suspected burning marijuana in the room. Two other youths in the room were not arrested.

Three Counties Lose Smog Control Round

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly approved 59-4 today a bill forcing Napa, Sonoma and Solano counties to join the San Francisco Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

The bill by Assemblyman John Knox, D-Richmond, now goes to the Senate. Knox said the measure was sought by the smog board after the three counties refused invitations to join the district voluntarily.

Reed District Trustees Close Tiburon School

Trustees of the Reed School District, citing "educational reasons," decided last night to close Tiburon School and shift its students to Belvedere and Reed schools, according to Robert B. Gaw, superintendent.

Reasons for the closure, which will take effect in the fall, included the division of the principal's time between Reed, Belvedere and Tiburon schools and the lack of facilities at the latter two schools as compared to others in the district.

Gaw said the board considered closing Belvedere School but found it to be economically impossible at this time because of the lack of facilities at Reed School, which would take Belvedere's students and "the cost of busing the youngsters to other schools in the district."

'Sgt. Sunshine' Going To Jail

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — "Sergeant Sunshine," the policeman who smoked a marijuana cigarette on the Hall of Justice steps in 1968, surrendered on a bench warrant Monday to start a nine-month term.

The ex-officer, whose real name is Richard Bergess, was asked if he thought the campaign to legalize marijuana did any good.

"I don't know whether it did anybody else any good," he said.

"I'm sick, broke, on welfare and I lost my police pension. It hasn't done me any good."

Bergess said he would formally surrender Tuesday when his attorney can be there.

Bergess smoked the cigarette on Easter 1968 while he was in uniform.

Suspicious Find

A plastic bag containing possible marijuana plants and seeds was found yesterday at 3 p.m. near a student's desk at Terra Linda High School, San Rafael police reported today.

Sausalito's Waterfront Plan Passes

Amid sighs of relief from waterfront property owners, the Sausalito City Council last night approved the Sausalito Central Waterfront Plan, in making for two-and-one-half-years.

After reviewing more than 30 recommendations from the city planning commission for changes in the William E. Spangle plan for waterfront development, the council made only minor revisions (chiefly in wording), then directed the city attorney to prepare a resolution for adoption at its April 21 meeting.

H. Eric Borgwardt, city planning director, said once the plan is adopted, the city will begin work immediately to implement development by amending zoning for the area and establishing local bulkhead and building lines.

The plan includes water-oriented commercial development in a nine-block area east of Bridgeway, between Anchor and Litho streets. Borgwardt said commercial uses will include yacht harbors and sales, restaurants, retail sales shops, studios, offices, boatels and motels. A shopping area for Sausalito residents is also proposed for the Caledonia Street area as part of the plan, he said.

Also proposed is a 13-acre waterfront park which could contain both a new city hall and a library if a $560,000 bond issue for city purchase of the land is approved by voters on June 2.

Borgwardt said the plan calls for limiting the amount of parking downtown and said major parking areas are planned for the Marinship area, north of the waterfront.

The Spangle plan also curtails additional filling of the bay, he reported.

way budget, a total of $761 million, was regulated under the 45-55 highway split formula, in effect since 1947.

Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, argued against turning the decision over to the commission, saying it would "institute a brand new system of logrolling."

Mills countered the seven-member commission, whose members are appointed by the governor, already decides how millions of highway dollars are spent.

"If you don't agree with letting the commission do it," said Mills, "let's go back to having the legislature decide county by county."

Mills failed in an attempt to have the bill approved Monday. He sought and won reconsideration today. A key vote for the bill was cast by Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, absent yesterday while campaigning for the Republican attorney general nomination. The crucial 21st vote was cast by a southerner, Sen. Clair W. Burgener, R-San Diego.

The measure now goes to the Assembly for action.

Jury Trial Slated In Burglary Case

A jury trial was set yesterday in Marin Superior Court for the week of May 25 for two East Bay residents who are charged with burglarizing a San Rafael apartment March 20 and possessing stolen property.

Raquel Wells, 33, of Newark, and Frederick Roy Schetter, 32, of San Leandro, were arrested after a San Rafael man said he saw them leave his apartment.

Wallet Containing $200 Reported Taken

A fast moving thief stole a wallet containing $200, stamps, credit cards, driver's license and medical pass Friday from the office of Dr. James R. Prest at 1114 Irwin Street, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Dr. Prest told police he thought his wallet was taken from his desk at 4:30 p.m. by a boy about 15 or 16 who entered the office through a rear door and left a few minutes later.

Beach Access Bill Is Sent Over To Senate

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill requiring future subdivision to provide "reasonable" public access to beaches and the shoreline was approved by the Assembly Monday on a 49-9 vote and sent to the Senate.

The measure by Assemblyman John F. Dunlap, D-Napa, specifies access would be to the land below the normal high tide line. It affects subdivisions to be built on ocean or bay front property.

Apollo Team Battles For Safe Trip Home

of the journey, reducing the average hourly water consumption from five to 2.68 pounds. The water is used for cooling the electronics and cabin oxygen as well as for drinking.

—The oxygen supply was more substantial. They had enough for 122 a margin of 50 hours, barring unforeseen events. The astronauts moved around as little as possible to reduce their consumption. Oxygen was fed through an open connecting tunnel into the command cabin so the pilots could operate there.

Looping the moon is the safest way home, officials said, because Apollo 13 was close to its target at the time of the accident and already was on a course that would take it around the moon's backside.

To stop short of the moon would have required considerable engine power and fuel expenditure, something the astronauts did not have with Apollo 13's big command ship engine idled by electrical failure.

The only powerplant available is the lunar module descent engine, the one that was to have lowered Lovell and Haise to the lunar surface. The spacemen triggered the engine 30 seconds early today to adjust the course slightly to a path that would take them back to earth Friday night if they made no additional maneuver.

The second firing at 9:40 tonight was planned to increase the speed enough for a landing 10 hours earlier.

Asked at a briefing if there had been any damage to the head shield, which must protect the astronauts from the tremendous heat of reentry, Lunney said there was a slight possibility of such damage but that there was no evidence of any.

The decision to try for a Friday landing in the Pacific meant that Mission Control had decided not to adopt a "superfast" return plan. Under this, the engine firing tonight would have been lengthened to give the ship a heavier push home. But this would have consumed more power.

Neither the United States or Russia has a space rescue capability. So the astronauts will have to depend on their skill and that of hundreds of experts on the ground to get home.

Following the tank rupture, the astronauts activated the systems of the attached lunar module, or LM. They opened the connecting tunnel between the two craft so oxygen would flow into the command ship and make it livable.

The cramped LM is difficult to sleep in, so the astronauts will rest in the command ship.

Swigert retired early today while Haise and Lovell monitored the command and lunar ships, respectively, planning to sleep later.

The astronauts remained calm and poised as they wrestled with the many procedures needed to stabilize their craft and to stretch their consumables.

To improve oxygen circulation and prevent a buildup of carbon dioxide in the command ship, Mission Control Center told the astronauts to use a hose from one of the unused space suits and extend it from the LM oxygen supply through the tunnel.

Lovell, Haise and Swigert were told to place any excess water in bags and to turn off all non-essential items requiring power.

Christopher C. Kraft Jr., deputy director of the Manned Spacecraft Center here, said "If the situation remains stabilized, there is no question we can bring them back to earth safely."

The astronauts' dream of achieving man's third lunar landing were dashed by the sudden, chilling accident Monday night that burst a tank and drained their command ship of electrical power and oxygen.

With barely 15 minutes of power remaining in the command vesssel, the astronauts crawled through a connecting tunnel to the safety of the lunar module.

The rupture could have been caused by an overpressurized tank or perhaps a speeding meteor.

"We're concentrating on saving their lives right now rather than learning what happened," said Kraft, who has been flight director for most U.S. astronaut shots.

The accident precipitated "the most serious situation we've ever had in the manned space flight program," he said.

Kraft and other officials appeared calm at a news conference. Later, however, observers noted that Kraft had never appeared so nervous.

Lovell, Haise and Swigert remained cool from the moment, about 6:15 p.m. PST Monday, when Lovell alerted the world with the sudden utterance: "Hey, we've got a problem here."

Scores of persons in Mission Control Center stiffened. They noted an immediate drop in power and oxygen supply in the command ship. Experts troubleshot the problem and radioed hundreds of orders to the astronauts.

The spidery lunar vehicle became their lifeboat in space, their only hope for salvation. They switched on its systems, and sent oxygen flowing into the command ship, enabling them to inhabit its cabin.

But the LM is built to operate only airless space and cannot re-enter earth's atmosphere. Therefore, the astronauts must rely on the command ship to take them the final miles back to earth.

They'll have to activate emergency batteries and oxygen supplies in the command cabin in the hours before re-entry, and then kick the LM free before re-entry through the atmosphere.

And they still could be doomed if the batteries or the oxygen source of the LM should fail on the way home.

Only one man has died in space—Russian cosmonaut Vladimir Kamarov whose spacecraft crashed when its parachute became tangled during re-entry through the atmosphere in April, 1937.

The first three American Apollo astronauts died in a space cabin fire during a prelaunch test on a Cape Kennedy launch pad in January of 1967.

That tragedy set the Apollo program back nearly two years while the spaceship and management were overhauled.

Once the Apollo program began flying it had an unprecedented series of successes, climaxed by the Apollo 11 and 12 moon landing missions last year.

Officials indicated it may be some time before Apollo crew flies to the moon as a result of the Monday night accident.

"We'll have to sit back and determine what happened and then fix it," Kraft said.

The Apollo 14 crew, headed by America's first spaceman, Alan B. Shepard Jr., presently is slated for launching Oct. 1.

Lovell's sudden exclamation of the trouble came without warning on a flight that had been flawless since the fiery liftoff of a Saturn 5 rocket from Cape Kennedy Saturday.

Lovell and Haise had just completed a very satisfactory inspection of the LM cabin, in which they reported that there was no pressure problem in a helium tank of the descent engine that was to have fired them to the moon's surface.

There had been some concern there might be an overpressure because of a prelaunch reading.

Odyssey and Aquarius were the names they selected for the command and lunar modules, respectively.

VOTE

where only three candidates are competing for two council seats. A sampling of polls shortly before noon showed between 6 and 10 per cent of registered voters had gone to the polls.

Only 70 of 1,300 registered voters had voted at noon in Ross, where there is no contest with two candidates seeking two seats.

A smapling of precincts in Fairfax indicated about 15 per cent of registered voters had voted by noon. There are six candidates for three open council seats.

Voting was running light, with an average of less than 10 per cent of the registered voters voting by 11 a.m., in a sampling of Novato precincts, where a combined city council and school tax increase election is being held.

In Loma Verde, where an $.85 school tax increase is on the ballot, only 56 out of 770 registered voters had appeared at the poll this morning.

Corte Madera, with six candidates seeking three seats, also reported about a 10 per cent turnout by noon.

In Rohnert Park, balloting to fill two seats on the city council was reported as brisk at two of the city's three polling places.

Cotati, which has three candidates seeking two council seats and a sewer bond issue on the ballot, reported light voting by noon.

the high school tidelands from the Richardson Bay Sanitary District so that Mill Valley could provide homes there with sewage service.

Strawberry annexation was not on the agenda, Cunningham said, but consideration of it followed discussion of extending the sewer lines. "The council figured that once the lines were brought to the highway they might as well be extended a little further to include Strawberry," Cunningham said.

Tiburon Mayor Fanning today declared:

"We regret it was done this way. This is political opportunism. The arbitrary way the lines are apparently drawn clearly indicates this is intended to be an annexation solely for the purpose of improving Mill Valley's strained economic circumstance.

"The residents are left outside to flounder for themselves. This isn't a people annexation, it is a business deal.

"We will oppose this sort of tinkering with people, resources, and enlightened planning and the ultimate destiny of the Tiburon community."

Commission Frowns On Nuclear Canal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atomic explosives should not be used to blast out a canal across Central America to relieve the crowded Panama Canal, a federal study commission says.

John Sheffey, executive director of the Atlantic-Pacific Inter-Ocean Canal Study Commission, said Monday nuclear explosives should be prohibited because "we don't know enough about what would happen."

The Cotati Planning Commission will consider the design of a supermarket planned at 7646 Redwood Highway when it meets at 7:30 p.m. today at the fire station.

OBITUARIES

Meningitis Takes Joseph C. Walton

Joseph C. Walton, 26, of 143 Pine Street, San Anselmo, who died Sunday at a local hospita, was the victim of a contagious form of meningitis, the county coroner's office reported today.

Dr. Carolyn Albrecht, Marin County director of public health, said, however, that his death does not indicate any health hazard in the county.

"Meningitis is usually only a hazard to people who take care of the patient and the close family," she said.

The coroner's office reported that Walton had been suffering from flu when he was taken very ill Sunday. He died a few hours after entering the hospital.

Funeral for Walton, who worked for a Novato roofing company, will be tomorrow at 11 a.m. at Harry M. Williams Mortuary.

A native of Long Beach, he moved to Marin County 25 years ago, and had been working for the roofing firm for about three years.

Lagunitas Panel Eyes Budget Drop

Lagunitas School District trustees—informed that the district has dipped more than $40,000 into reserves this year—sought ways last night to reduce expenditures next school year, according to Supt. Marshall J. McCunniff.

The board was told, the superintendent said, that the district had entered this school year with a carryover of $52,000 and would end the year with about $10,000 to carry over.

The board discussed means of dropping this year's $392,903 budget to about $337,000 next year, McCunniff said.

First to go would be transportation services, paid teacher's aides, the district librarian and special school supplies, McCunniff said.

However, the board hopes to stave these cutbacks by securing voter approval June 2 of a 90-cent tax rate increase, McCunniff said.

The trustees also were informed that the district's drug abuse education program for teachers is now in progress and that a similar program for parents arranged by the College of Marin will be offered in May.

Judge Again Locks Up Kopechne Transcripts

BOSTON (AP) — A federal judge today issued a temporary injunction barring distribution to news media, scheduled Wednesday, of the transcript and judge's report on the inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne. Judge Andrew A. Caffrey acted in U.S. District Court a few minutes after the 1 p.m. deadline he set for filing of briefs in the suit by a professional court stenographer.

The stenographer, Sidney R. Lipman, contended that he has sole right to reproduce and sell copies of the 764-page transcript and that plans of the clerk of Suffolk Superior Court to issue the documents Wednesday would harm him financially.

There was no immediate indication when Judge Caffrey would hold further hearings on Lipman's move.

The Superior Court Clerk, Edward V. Keting, had contracted with Xerox Corp. to reproduce the documents, and planned to issue them to news media who had ordered them at $75 apiece.

Novato Firemen Set Barbecue

Robert Robertson and Reno Pronzini last night were named co-chairmen for the Novato Volunteer Firemen's annual barbecue on June 14 at the Silviera Ranch on Highway 101 north of Novato, according to Fire Chief Jack Kidder.

Robert Ruzick was named to head the volunteers working on the city cleanup campaign on April 25 and May 2.

Wilfred H. Lieb of 1521 Hill Road, retired after 15 years as an active volunteer.

San Francisco Moves To Curb Topless Clubs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A new law to regulate this city's topless and bottomless entertainment — but not eliminate it — has moved another step closer to becoming official.

The supervisors amended the law twice Monday, each by a 7-4 vote, and unanimously passed the finished product. However, the law must still come before the supervisors next week for a final vote and then be signed to the mayor.

In one amendment, the board decided that when a club owner's license is suspended, he can reopen his club immediately by appealing to the Board of Permit Appeals.

Under the original version, the police chief could suspend the license for up to 30 days and the club owner would have to go to court to get the club reopened pending appeal.

Other sections of the law set limits on outside noise and prohibit barkers. Clubs also are required to remove, within four months after the law goes into effect, outside photographs, paintings and signs showing nude or partially unclothed bodies.

Army Prober Questions Medina On My Lai Deaths

Medina, 33, was commander of an infantry company at the time of a raid on the Vietnamese village in March 1968. He is charged with responsibility for all civilian slayings which occurred during the attack.

He told newsmen earlier that he is accused in the slaying of at least 175 persons, although the Army did not announce the number.

Today's hearing, which lasted two hours and 15 minutes, was behind closed doors. It is to determine whether Medina will be tried before a court-martial.

The Army said the hearing was recessed until April 28.

Newsmen asked him if he had anything to say, but he replied that any comment would have to come from his attorneys.

In the past, Medina has commented freely in television interviews. He has repeatedly denied that he ordered a massacre at My Lai, or that he saw one take place.

Restitution Of Funds Ordered

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court yesterday ordered former Tiburon resident Astarte Davis, 36, to spend five weekends in jail and make restitution to a former employer from whom she embezzled almost $2,000.

Mrs. Davis, who now lives in Sonoma County, had earlier admitted taking the money from the Kent Manufacturing Co. in San Rafael before she left the job in June 1969.

McGuire also placed her on probation for two years.

Car Engine Tax Proposal Shelved

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Senate Transportation Committee plans a between-sessions study of a bill which would tax cubic inch displacement of an engine rather than the motor vehicle's cash value.

The committee Monday defeated the measure by Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, on a split voice vote but decided to study the proposal during between-sessions months.

Nejedly said the measure was designed to encourage persons to buy lower-powered cars, which he said emit less air pollutants.

Tow-Away Zone Approved By Petaluma City Council

Petaluma City Council last night approved a no-parking, tow-away zone along Washington Street described as the "second busiest street in the city."

They met the objections of merchants by ruling that only the three-quarter-mile stretch of East Washington Street from Copeland Street to Highway 101 be converted to a three-lane street.

East Washington Street from the Petaluma River Bridge to Copeland Street would remain two-lane and only the areas there now designated "no parking" would be included in the tow-away zone.

Overall the tow-away zone will extend from Kentucky Street to Highway 101.

The vote for the two-away zone was 6-0 with Councilman John W. Cavanagh Jr. abstaining, because he owns property in the area.

When the public hearing opened before about 40 persons the proposed plan was to have three lanes from the bridge to Highway 101.

This brought protests from merchants in the area from the bridge to Copeland Street who said the revamping would adversely affect their businesses.

The council received a request from the Walter Kieckhefer Co. to limit the tow-away time to from 4 to 6 p.m., but it voted for no stopping at any time.

The two-lane stretch from Copeland Street to Highway 101 will be converted to three lanes to permit center left turns, he explained.

After merchants complained about loss of parking and loss of needed loading zones, Councilman Albert L. Battaglia proposed eliminating the three-lane plan in their area.

The tow-away regulations were made effective in 60 days.

The council called for bids for the tow-away and vehicle storage contract to be opened at 2 p..m May 14. Bidders will propose the rates to be charged motorists whose cars are towed away.

The council also authorized spending up to 4,000 for tow-away signs and equipment to erase existing striping on the roadway.

The action was taken at an adjourned meeting.

Teen-Ager Named To Fire Board

Harvey R. Crotts Jr. of Bolinas last night was chosen by commissioners of the Bolinas Fire Protection District to fill a vacancy on the commission caused by the recent death of Manuel S. Peters, Fire Chief Jose A. Silva reported.

Crotts, 18, has been a volunteer fireman for about a month and is a 1969 graduate of Tamalpais High School, now working in Bolinas.

The commission also authorized the chief to purchase caps and badges for eight new volunteer firemen and asked Silva to explore the cost of a fire alarm system for Bolinas' new fire station. Construction of the station will begin April 15, Silva said.

Montessori School Given A Use Permit

A use permit sought for a Montessori school was approved last night by the Corte Madera Planning Commission.

The commission told applicant Ellen H. Lochmann that the school at 5200 Paradise Drive must be limited to 50 children, and that the play area must be fenced from the street and the parking lot.

The commission also approved a proposed five-acre expansion of Marin Country Day School on the west of the present site, 5221 Paradise Drive.

Two applications for design review and a use permit for a proposed Gemco store were withdrawn, reported secretary Betty Long, since the town council last week turned down Gemco's request to build the store.

The commission postponed a hearing on parking space standards to the May 11 meeting, approved a tentative map for three units of Hidden Valley subdivision, and approved plans submitted by William Coyne for a deck addition at 63 Prince Royal Drive.

Parochial School Spelling Bee Set

San Rafael Council 1292 of Knights of Columbus will hold its annual spelling bee for seventh and eighth grade students of Marin's parochial schools at 8 p.m. next Friday at St. Anselm's Church parish hall, San Anselmo.

First prize will be $25. Second and third place finishers will receive $10 and $5 respectively. There will be no admission charge.

Counterfeit Bill

A teller at the Bank of Marin, Fifth Avenue and B Street took in a counterfeit $10 bill Friday, San Rafael police reported today.

Scholarship To Marinwood Youth

Paul Melcon, 17, of 234 Cobblestone Drive, Marinwood, was named yesterday as winner of a $4,000 scholarship from Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

Melcon, a senior at Terra Linda High School, was one of 16 high school seniors in Northern and Central California granted scholarships, offered by the utility company to children of its employees.

The scholarships are to the college of the student's choice at $1,000 a year for four years.

Melcon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Zenope P. Melcon, plans to attend the University of California at Berkeley.

Council Orders Suit To Stop Pollution From Oyster Dust

Petaluma City Council last night ordered the city attorney to file suit against Pioneer Shell Co. of 100 East D Street to stop air pollution.

For several years the city has received complaints about dust emission from the plant which grinds oyster shells for calcium-fortified chicken feed.

In October, 1968, the council authorized City Atty. Edouard E. Robert to declare the plant a public nuisance and bring suit if it didn't comply in 90 days.

City Engineer David A. Young explained that the firm had installed a sprinkler system that has cut dust emission. Councilmen said there was still a dust problem.

Councilman John W. Cavanagh Jr. said the dust was damaging the gears at the nearby city bridge and was "so thick" on a stop light that people thought the light was out.

Robert explained he hadn't proceeded with the suit because he understood that the condition had been corrected.

Young explained there was a dual problem because as the firm used the sprinkler system, the waste spray containing dust drains into the Petaluma River.

Thus the firm is in a bind because, if it cuts down on the dust, it contributes to water pollution, Young reported.

When Pioneer Shell Co. operates its spray, the dust is "cut down 85 to 90 per cent, but there is a grey mass under the D Street Bridge," Young commented.

"We gave them 90 days in 1968. . .the 90 days are now up," said Battaglia.

The city council also heard a request from Cavanagh to change budget review policy so that the council receives budget requests made by department heads with no restrictions placed on those requests by the city manager's office. He said the council was receiving department requests which had to meet restrictions, and commented "sometimes we're run too much by the staff."

The council adjourned until 7:30 p.m. next Monday at city hall for its regularly scheduled meeting.

Nixon's Mideast Expert Leaves Egypt For Israel

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Nixon administration's specialist on the Middle East left Cairo today and turned his peace-seeking mission to Israel, where officials were expected to renew their request for more U.S. warplanes.

Assistant Secretary of State Joseph Sisco ended his four-day stop in Egypt as the Israeli command was announcing more air raids across the Suez Canal against Egyptian military targets.

An announcement said the strikes against sites on the northern and southern sectors of the 102-mile canal began at 6 a.m. and ended 10 minutes later when all the raiders turned safely home.

Sisco flew from Cairo to Cyprus to change planes for the hop to Tel Aviv, a one-day stopover before he continues on to Jordan, Lebano Iran and possibly Saudi Arabia.

Israeli sources said Premier Golda Meir's government is going to ask him to explain fully President Nixon's decision to put off sending more warplanes to Israel as requested. They said the request for Phantoms and Skyhawks will be renewed.

According to these sources, Mrs. Meir's government feels the recent Soviet shipments of new SAM3 antiaircraft missiles has turned the Middle East arms balance to Egypt's favor, putting Israel in need of more planes to right the imbalance.

At least one newspaper cast suspicion on the fact that Sisco spent four days in Cairo while scheduling one in Israel—interpreted by Western diplomats as meaning the Nixon administration felt it had much more fence-mending to do in Cairo.

Picasso's Son Seeks Legitimacy

GRASSE, France (AP) — A French court today denied Claude Ruiz-Picasso, a son born out of wedlock to artist Pablo Picasso, the right to be recognized as a legitimate son of the painter.

Claude, 23, and his sister, Paloma, 21, were born to Francoise Gilot during the period when she was living with Picasso. With Picasso's approval they were given the right to use the name Ruiz-Picasso under a court order in 1961. But they were never legally recognized as legitimate children.

Picasso's attorney argued that Picasso was married to Olga Kokhlova in 1918 and that they were never divorced. She died in 1953. Thus, the attorney said, Claude was born of an adulterous relationship in 1947 and could not be legally recognized.

Conservation Group Meets In Novato

The newly formed north Marin unit of the Marin Conservation League will meet at 8 p.m., Thursday in the library of Hill Junior High School in Novato.

There will be an election of officers and the formation of committees, according to Mrs. Richard Grosser. The group will then discuss problems of hillside preservation.

Good things come in little oak barrels.

What makes a brandy smooth?
Mostly, it's the wood the brandy is aged in. That's why the best barrels are small ones which allow close contact between wood and liquor.

Fairfax Approves Park Regulations

The Fairfax City Council last night finally passed a set of rules and regulations for the use of city parks, rules which had been bouncing back and forth between the council and the Fairfax Parks and Recreation Commission since the beginning of the year.

The council then moved on to the next item on the agenda, and immediately got bogged down in a half-hour discussion of a city park.

The regulations adopted last night set fees, application requirements, and other stipulations on the use of the parks by groups of 74 or more.

Councilman Frank J. Egger voted against approval saying the regulations "seem like a lot of red tape to go through for the use of the park.

Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson joined Egger in voting against the regulations, but the two were outvoted by Mayor Francis J. O'Connell and Councilmen Robert R. Souza and Cornelis Van Vliet.

The proposed regulations, drawn up on the parks and recreation commission, were presented to the council in January and again in March. Both times they were returned to the commission for clarifications.

With the regulations out of the way, the council moved onto consideration of a proposed ordinance regarding cans and bottles on the ballfield.

The council eventually directed City Administrator Frances Lestanguet to talk to merchants regarding selling canned soda instead of bottles, and City Atty. Wallace Myers to determine the legality of an ordinance prohibiting alcoholic beverages at the park.

Before the council got that far, however, the discussion ranged from state alcoholic beverage control laws to whether the ballfield was city property or a schoolyard to an eloquent defense by O'Connell of "the beautiful name of Little League and motherhood."

Myers told the council that unless the ballpark could be considered school property, the council could not prohibit alcoholic beverages.

The council ordered the subject studied and adjourned to 8 p.m. next Tuesday, when it will take up seven items on last night's agenda which it didn't get to.

Building Inspector's Remarks Bring Sparks

"A pig was inherited," Dale W. Hostrup, Fairfax building inspector, reported to the city council last night regarding the city annexation of the Meadowland development last year.

Hostrup's report agreed with angry Meadowland residents who claim the area is a "planned slum," but concluded that there really isn't much the City of Fairfax can do about it.

His report was labeled "not only amazing, but appalling and insulting to our intelligence" by a spokesman for Meadowland residents.

Jack R. Greig, of 26 Sherman Court, said "We're speechless. That report will have to be answered by our attorney."

In the end, Mayor Francis J. O'Connell, told the Meadowland residents that the council was "not trying to hedge" on the controversy, but suggested that representatives of the residents meet with Hostrup, City Atty. Wallace Myers and City Administrator Frances Lestanguet to determine what, if anything, the city could do about Meadowland's problems.

The residents last month petitioned the council to issue a "stop all work" order to Mathew Farr, the developer, because he had failed to carry out promised projects in the area.

Hostrup said last night that Farr was told last October that he could have no more building permits.

Farr was not present last night to hear Hostrup report that "a project is only as good as its developer."

Myers explained last night, as he had a month ago, that Farr had posted a performance bond with the county prior to the development being annexed to Fairfax.

The county has accepted Farr's performance in the installation of curbs, streets, grading and other public facilities, but the bond's maintenance clause runs until November.

The Fairfax City Council Also:

HOUSING—Accepted the resignation of Gary Grace, 12 Vista Way, as Fairfax's representative on the citizens committee working for 600 federally financed low-rent housing units to be built in Marin County. Grace said he was in favor of such housing for the elderly but had "reservations about the same thing for low-income families. . . I came to the conclusion that if the ballot issue passed, a greater number of units for low-income families would be constructed than for low-income elderly." The council appointed Joanne Walla, 665 Cascade Drive, to succeed Grace on the Committee for Adequate Shelter for All. Van Vliet voted against the appointment without comment.

ANNOUNCEMENTS — Heard O'Connell: report that the annual spring debris clean-up will be conducted April 27 through May 1, when the Fairfax Garbage Disposal Co. will collect up to one cubic yard of debris per customer free; urge Fairfax citizens to cooperate with the federal census, and commend the eighth grade basketball team at St. Rita's School for its outstanding record in Catholic Youth Organization competition.

STREET—Accepted completion and authorized a progress payment of $9,315 to Maggiora & Ghilotti Inc. for slide repair work on Forrest Avenue, but withheld $11,208—15 per cent of the contract—until the cost of additional engineering work and a penalty for delayed completion of the project are determined.

FEES—Approved the transfer of $1,550 from the general fund to pay attorney fees.

WARRANTS—Approved payment of $56,444 in payroll and demands.

TELEVISION—Postponed discussion of a renegotiated franchise contract with Clear View Cable Systems until April 21. Myers reported a verbal offer from Clear View, but the council decided to wait until it was in writing before considering it.

APPOINTMENTS —Approved the nominations by O'Connell of Hugh T. Gallagher, 4 San Gabriel Court,to the board of review; Shone M. Martinez, 171 Frustuck Avenue, to the design review board, and the reappointment of Louis A. Soldavini to the parks and recreation commission. Egger and Wilson voted against Martinez's appointment and said an architect should be appointed to the design review board. Souza and Van Vliet voted against Soldavini's appointment without comment.

STORM DAMAGE — Authorized $2,600 for the repair of Meadow Way bridge, damaged by winter storms. Half of the $3,750 project will be paid for by federal funds. The council also authorized $3,400 for the removal of debris at 29 Canyon Road, where the home of Peter A. Wynne was destroyed in a winter slide. The total amount will be reimbursed by the federal government. Egger voted against the Wynne authorization, saying that, even though the city would be reimbursed, the home was on county property and not in the city.

Bill Would Retain Span Incumbents

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to retain on the Golden Gate Bridge board two incumbent directors from Sonoma County has been introduced by Assemblyman Frank P. Belotti, R-Eureka.

A 1968 law increased the number of representatives on the bridge board from Sonoma from two to three. The law required that one be a county supervisor, one a city councilman, and one a member of the public — all appointed by the board of supervisors. Previously, both representatives had been appointed from the public by the supervisors.

The law thus would have replaced one of the two previous incumbents with a supervisor on Dec. 12, 1968. So Belotti last year won passage of a bill delaying this provision two years.

The two inclumbents affected are E. J. Guidotti, a former supervisor, and L. E. Castner. Sonoma's third seat, added by the 1968 law, was filled by Healdsburg councilman W. R. Lucius.

West Marin Couple To Get Water Supply

The Inverness Park Water System agreed to furnish water for a Point Reyes Station couple during a two-hour Public Utilities Commission hearing Friday, the commission reported yesterday.

The water system had refused to supply water to Michael A. and Deborah Dreiling of Balboa Avenue, but reversed its stand at the hearing, according to Eugene Raleigh, spokesman for the commission.

The Dreilings, previously supplied by the private Gadner Water Co., have been using bottled water and well water since service was discontinued.

A water system representative, James Downey, complained that the Dreilings are not in his area, that there is insufficient water, that mains would have to be enlarged, and that water pressure would be too high, but finally agreed to supply water at the normal price.

The Public Utilities Commission still must make a formal decision reflecting the resolution of the problem, Raleigh said.

Richardson Bay Specific Plan To Get Airing

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Marin County's controversial "specific plan" for development of Richardson Bay will be heard for a fourth time by the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission at 2 p.m. on Thursday in Room 1194 of the State Building, 455 Golden Gate Avenue.

The public hearing has ended, and this time the commission's staff is to make its recommendations on the plan.

Conservationists have attacked the plan's provisions for high-rise buildings and for allowing each property owner to fill up to 40 per cent of his existing open water. The plan's defenders have said it is the last chance for rational development of the narrow bay, development which they say is needed to keep it from choking with mud.

ABAG Unit To Review Regional Plan

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — A blueprint for development in the Bay Area for the next two decades will be reviewed by the Association of Bay Area Governments executive committee at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday in the Hotel Claremont.

A draft of the 93-page regional plan was unveiled on March 26, as reported by the Independent-Journal. It called for an end to urban sprawl through creation of homogeous "center cities" from new or present communities and a system of checks on haphazard absorption of open space.

Also on the agenda is a request to Gov. Ronald Reagan to restore to his 1970-71 budget allocations for 2,500 acres under the 1964 State Park Bond Act. The allocations were dropped from the budget when the state was unable to market the bonds.

The ABAG request notes that passage in the June primary of a proposition to raise the limit the state can pay for bond interest would allow purchase of the 2,500 acres. If the money is not allocated by the budget, however, the bond funds could be spent otherwise by the state, according to the proposed request.

Greek Prisoner Flies To Paris

ATHENS (AP) — The Greek military-backed regime liberated Monday one of its most celebrated political prisoners, composer Mikis Theodorakis, and allowed him to fly to Paris for medical treatment.

This was confirmed by the 45-year-old composer's mother and his wife. There was no statement from the government.

Theodorakis' wife, Myrto, said her husband looked "very pale, very surprised and very emotional" on the ride to Athens airport. He has suffered from tuberculosis for 10 years.

Swiss Conductor To Assist Ozawa

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Niklaus Wyss, 34, a native of Zurich, Switzerland, was named assistant conductor of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra yesterday.

Wyss studied music in Rome and Venice and became assistant conductor of the Toronto Symphony in 1965, serving two years under Seiji Ozawa, new conductor of the San Francisco Symphony.

Since 1967 Wyss has conducted music for operas and ballet in Switzerland and Germany.

Rejoining Ozawa, Wyss will be in charge of the San Francisco Symphony youth concerts, said Joseph A. Scafidi, general manager of the San Francisco Symphony Association.

New Secretary

BONN, Germany (AP) — Sigismund von Braun, West Germany's ambassador to Paris and the brother of American rocket expert Wernher von Braun, will become a state secretary in Foreign Ministry in Bonn, the ministry announced yesterday.

Praszker Again Hits West Marin Density

Michael Praszker, chairman of the Marin County Planning Commission, took one final swing at the county supervisors yesterday for allowing a density of 1.15 units per acre in potential earthquake and slide areas of West Marin.

Yesterday was the last day on the commission for Praszker, who will not seek reappointment when his term expires next Monday. He sounded the earthquake warning after the planning commission had voted 4 to 1, with Praszker abstaining, to approve 340 condominiums for the Oceana Marin development, north of Dillon Beach.

Praszker, a soils engineer, had consistently warned that the San Andreas fault runs through West Marin, and density should be kept to a minimum. He was particularly critical when the former board of supervisors raised the density from .88 units per acre to 1.15 units per acre in 1967.

Warning that dense development in West Marin could lead to disaster in case of another earthquake, Praszker declared:

"The message I want to leave is this. I hope nothing will happen. But if it does and when it does, I hope members of the board of supervisors will be alive and live to see what they decided against the reasonable warnings by knowledgeable people."

Robert A. Roumiguierre, a spokesman for the developers of Oceana Marin, replied: "I'm glad that the people who built San Francisco did not feel that way."

"San Francisco is not on a fault," snapped Praszuer.

Approval of 340 condominiums at Oceana Marin came on a motion by Niels Schultz Jr. and a 4 to 1 vote, with Margaret Azevedo dissenting and Praszker abstaining. Walter F. Freitas was absent.

Mrs. Azevedo dissented because she wanted some provision for public access to Estero de San Antonio at the northern boundary of the development before the rezoning for condominiums was approved.

The planning commission accepted the recommendation of Jan Medbo, county planner, that the bulk of the condominiums be concentrated on the southern end, just north of Dillon Beach, leaving as relatively open land the northern cliffs overlooking Estero de San Antonio and the Pacific Ocean.

On March 16, the planning commissioners approved tentative maps for 330 single family homes at Oceana Marin. These, plus the 340 condominiums, brings the total to 675 units of housing on the 688 acres at Oceana Marin.

Attorney Benjamin P. Bonelli spoke for the owners of the property, Bodega Bay Lands Incorporated and Highway Properties Incorporated.

State Board Hopeful Names Marin Aides

Former Assemblyman John C. Williamson, candidate for the Democratic nomination for the State Board of Equalization in the Third District, has named Elizabeth R. Gatov and Roger Kent, both of Kent Woodlands, as co-chairmen of his campaign.

Mrs. Gatov is a former U.S. treasurer and a former Democratic national committeewoman from California. Kent is a former state Democratic Party chairman.

Greek Composer Works In Prison

PARIS (AP) — Greek composer Mikis Theodorakis says he composed a major work while imprisoned in Greece by tapping out the rhythms on the bars of his cell.

Theodorakis, who wrote the scores for the movies "Z" and "Zorba the Greek," was freed and flown to Paris Monday for treatment of a 10-year-old case of tuberculosis. An avowed Communist, he had been a political prisoner of Greece's military dictatorship for almost three years.

Friends said that while he was in prison, he wrote part of an oratorio which he considers his most important work. They said it is a setting of a poem, "State of Siege," which was written by a woman prisoner and smuggled into Theodorakis' cell.

Library Patrons To Get Questions

Patrons of the San Rafael Public Library this week will be handed two-page questionnaires asking what they think of the library.

The questionnaires were prepared by the Consulting Organization of San Francisco, which has begun a study of San Rafael's needs for library expansion. Their distribution started yesterday.

Members of the library board last night reviewed the initial responses, and agreed to hold a special meeting later this month with a representative of the consultant firm to complete results of the questionnaire survey.

Ponding Area To Be Filled

More than an acre of tidelands on a lot near Inverness will be filled so that a home can be built on what is now a ponding area.

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday voted 5 to 0 to grant a use permit to Lawrence Walters of Point Reyes Station, who owns a 1.6-acre lot on the west shore of Tomales Bay south of Willow Point, adjacent to property owned by the Inverness Garden Club.

Commissioner Margaret Azevedo had left the meeting a few minutes earlier, and Commissioner Walter F. Freitas was absent.

The area that Walters wants to fill is behind a levee, which has a couple of openings to allow tidal action behind the levee.

Acting Planning Director Werner Von Gundell objected to the fill, pointing out that a tidal waterways ordinance is being prepared to control just such filling.

Schultz drew a line on an aerial map of the site, proposing that Walters be allowed to fill about three-fourths of his 1.6-acre lot. His motion carried by unanimous vote.

The Marin County Planning Commission also:

TIDAL WATERWAYS ORDINANCE—Made several changes in the proposed tidal waterways ordinance to protect such industries as oyster beds and to ease requirements on small lots. The ordinance, which would control fill and construction on all tidal waterways, will be sent back to the county supervisors for approval.

AGRICULTURAL PRESERVE—Granted agricultural preserve status to 34 acres of land owned by Nancy Dunn on the west side of Shoreline Highway, just north of Marshall-Petaluma Road. Mrs. Dunn said she wants to breed purebred Arabian horses on the property.

LAND DIVISION—Continued until May 11 a request by owners of land at Cypress Avenue and Palm Avenue in Kentfield to create six building lots, each 20,000 square feet. Raymond Coffman, Derek Parker and Bruce Kenworthy will combine their properties and redivide the lot lines so that each lot will meet the minimum 20,000 square-foot minimum.

Los Angeles Teachers Defy Court's Orders

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Teachers vowed today to defy a court order to end their strike for smaller classes and larger salaries in the nation's second biggest school district.

School officials, in turn, said negotiatoins wouldn't be renewed with teachers "until they are back in their classrooms."

The strike, which began Monday, will continue until the Board of Education in the 650,000-pupil district agrees to a school system which "at least begins to meet the needs of the students and the teachers," a strike leader stated.

School officials said nearly half the district's 25,000 teachers went on strike. Union officials claimed 60 per cent. Supt. Robert Kelly termed the strike "very effective" although most schools stayed open and attendance was reported near normal.

Superior Court Judge Richard Schauer issued an injunction ordering teachers back to classes and said defiance of his order "may mean jail or fines for individual teachers and their leaders."

But Kelly said school officials have "no intention of putting anyone in jail." Robert Ransom, president of the 22,000-member United Teachers of Los Angeles, said the teachers would test the court order by ignoring it and that citations would be appealed.

Authorities said apparently no law directly forbids teachers to strike in Los Angeles, although police and firemen strikes are banned.

Gov. Ronald Reagan, in Sacramento, had no comment but press secretary Paul Beck said "the governor does not think public employes have the right to strike." Beck added: "There is no legal action he can take, however."

A 11-3 Los Angeles City Council vote urged Reagan and the legislature to take immediate action to increase state support to schools.

The Los Angeles school district says it's too broke to boost teacher wages more than five per cent in a projected near $700 million budget. School revenue proposals have been buried at the polls for years, resulting in economies that in many schools means teachers act as their own janitors in sweeping out classrooms every morning.

School officials said 3,071 of 5,969 high school teachers failed to work Monday; 2,878 of 6,241 teachers skipped classes in the junior highs, and 5,888 of 12,489 grade school teachers stayed away.

Schoolchildren also got an unexpected holiday due to teacher strikes in Santa Maria, and in Minneapolis, Minn., Muskogee, Okla., and Butte, Mont.

Air Jam Eases; Trucks Idle

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A 20-day-old strike by air traffic controllers appeared to be ending today, but some teachers and truck drivers remained on strike.

A Federal Aviation Administration spokesman said 250 air controllers returned to work today in New York. He said there were no absentees in Boston or Cleveland on the first shift. Washington, D.C., reported only one controller absent.

The back-to-work trend followed increasing court pressure on the controllers around the country, including a temporary injunction issued Monday by U.S. Dist. Court Judge Orin G. Judd in New York.

Wildcat trucking strikes in various cities have caused thousands of layoffs in some parts-short industries. Cities affected included St. Louis, Buffalo, Milwaukee, and Kenosha, Wis.

The truck drivers are protesting a tentative nationwide contract that provides wage increases of $1.10 over three years. The Teamsters union is setting up a referendum on the contract.

Among the cities affected by trucker strikes were Chicago, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Detroit — where shots were fired at a passing truck — Buffalo, N.Y., and Cherryville, N.Y.

Newspaper employes remained on strike at the Boston Record American, New England's largest circulation newspaper. They were asking wage parity with other Boston newspaper workers.

In Madison, Wis., state Atty. Gen. Robert Warren drew up court papers today in an effort to head off a threatened strike by several thousand workers at 24 state mental institutions.

Plea Made To Forgery Count

Donald Richard Storkan, 30, of San Rafael, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to charges of forgery and possessing a check with intent to defraud another persons.

A jury trial was set for the week of June 22.

Storkan was arrested March 18 after a cashier at a San Rafael market refused to cash a check for him which was made out to another man.

Mrs. Reagan Speaks Her Mind

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Nancy Reagan, wife of California Governor Ronald Reagan, captivated yesterday more than 200 delegates attending the convention of the Golden Gate District of the California Federation of Women's Clubs being held at the Holiday Inn in San Rafael.

Guest of honor at the opening luncheon, she scored time after time with her deft fielding with wit and graciousness of a barrage of impromptu questions from the floor. In accordance with plans calling for no speech—only answers to non-political queries—she commented for 45 minutes on a wide range of subjects.

By coincidence both she and Golden Gate District president Mrs. William B. Wright were wearing leg casts, and her opening remarks on the situation established her flair for humor.

"We have been comparing notes," she said, "and I find Mrs. Wright hasn't received any toe warmers such as people have been sending me. I have to keep wiggling my toes, but it's not a form of greeting and I don't expect her to wiggle back."

HOW HER accident happened: "You'll never believe it—I broke my foot having a race with my 11-year-old son in the back yard. I stepped in one of the sprinkler head holes. To add insult to injury, I didn't win the race. I guess my racing days are over."

On pronunciation of the name Reagan: "It's Raygan—an easy way to remember is that it's spelled with an A. It would be spelled Regan if it were pronounced Reegan."

Who is head of their house: "He is, you bet, and I wouldn't have it any other way. This whole women's liberation movement where women want to be equal—I'm not in favor of it. I don't know what they are talking about."

How she met her husband: "In New York I was getting telephone calls and mail for another girl named Nancy Davis—my maiden name—and she was far, far out, and I continued to get mail for her when I came to California. I was making a picture with Mervyn Leroy and he suggested Ronald Reagan, as president of the Screen Actors' Guild, would be able to straighten out the problem for me. . . . .he did. He says he solved my problem by changing my name."

The governor's mansion: "We have been trying to get a new mansion for 36 years, but it has become a political football. I couldn't care less if I never set foot in it. I just would like to get this question settled once and

ONE OF THE "extras" that Petaluma's mayor Helen Putnam characteristically manages to add to her schedule was this tea she put on at her home in Petaluma to entertain R. H. Hackendahl, director of the National Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up Bureau headquartered in Washington, D.C. The two met when Helen went to Washington to accept the city's award from the bureau for the Petaluma beautification program. The mayor invited him to Petaluma should he be in the area, and last month he came. Joining him at the tea she gave were Petaluma City Council members and the beautification chairman, Mrs. Agnes McGilvra of Petaluma, left.

Petaluma's Leading Citizen

By GEN HUDDLESTON

Petaluma's mayor, Helen Putnam, seems to be everywhere at once. In the classroom as teacher and principal of Two Rock Union School, snipping ribbons at openings and other official duties of the city's mayor, spearheading the Petaluma beautification project, speaking at meetings in other cities, serving as commentator at benefit fashion shows, and home writing a book of songs to aid classroom teachers.

The wife of Rutherford Putnam, Helen became interested in politics and local government as a result of her service on the Sonoma County School Board from 1947 to 1959.

Elected to the board, at the first meeting the board immediately named her chairman. Next she became board president and maintained that position during her tenure.

While on the school board, Helen served as president of the Sonoma County School Trustees Association. In 1958-59 she served as president of the California School Boards Association working with all school boards in California, thus proving, she declared, that the president doesn't necessarily have to come from a large California city.

FOLLOWING DEFEAT in the 1960 election she re-entered the teaching profession, one she had pursued for many years.

The Marin School on Spring Hill Road, in Petaluma, a one-room school, which had the first through the sixth grades and is now out of existence, was where she renewed her career as a teacher.

"I feel that because of the limited number of pupils (there were only 21) and the individual attention they received from me, as well as the knowledge the younger ones picked up from the older ones, those children received and retained a vast amount of facts. All of them went on to bigger and better things and made the transition to higher education with absolutely no hangups," said Helen.

Recalling a reunion at the Marin School shortly before its deactivation, Helen said former students from all over the area and from many parts of the state congregated for the occasion. It was sponsored by the school's Parent-Teacher Association. At the suggestion of its former teacher the P-T-A located the old school bell which had "rung out" the school hours for years before renovation of the structure removed the belfry. Located and owned by a former Marin student, the bell was mounted on the back of a truck, returned to the school for the day and once again rang out to call together "students of dear old Marin School."

After two years, Helen left Marin School to go to Waugh School in Petaluma. With three teachers who taught two grades each, first through sixth, Helen not only taught first and second grades but also was the school principal.

After two years at Waugh, she was asked to go to Petaluma's Two Rock Union School as principal and first grade teacher. That school had kindergarten through the sixth grade. Helen is now completing her seventh year there as teacher and principal.

Not all of her teaching experience has been in elementary schools. Helen has taught adult classes and junior high grades in both English and foreign languages.

"THE THING that encourages me about today's children," declared Helen "is that generation after generation they are enchanted by the same thing: the humor in something or the wonder of something is the same as it has always been."

After the school board defeat — and at the urging of friends — Helen decided in 1960 to run for the Assembly on the Democratic ticket. The incumbent was Richard H. McCollister. Her thoughts were. . . "This is an interesting opportunity and — why not?" While not elected, she found the experience very rewarding, serving to hone her political acumen. Winner was the present incumbent, William T. Bagley (R-San Rafael).

FOLLOWING THE unsuccessful bid for the Assembly, Helen decided to run for mayor of Petaluma principally because the incumbent was unopposed. Feeling she had the background to fill the position, she entered the race, won the election and took office in 1965 for a four-year-term. The first woman to seek the position in Petaluma, she was elected mayor although she had never run for the council, a normal procedure before seeking the higher office. She is now serving her second term, following re-election in June of 1969.

According to the 1968 edition of the California Roster, there are only 15 women mayors heading city governments in all of the incorporated cities of California, only six of which have a population exceeding that of Petaluma.

It was shortly after her installation as mayor that the City of Petaluma decided to hold a Mayor's Beautification Conference calling upon the community to look at the area in a general way and focus on points for improvements. The first conference, chaired by Lloyd Burlingham of radio station KTOB, generated the action to have the city burn old, outmoded and useless chicken houses in the area. Thus was born the thriving beautification program which has picked up momentum rapidly since its inception, now headed by Mrs. Agnes McGilvra, co-owner of KTOB in Petaluma. Mrs. McGilvra had lived in a community which had actively participated in the National Congress of Beautification Program and was therefore familiar with the various types of effective programs. She was selected by the Petaluma Chamber of Commerce to head up the thriving project.

THE EFFECTIVENESS of the project thus far may be gauged by the award presented to the City of Petaluma by the National Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up Bureau in Washington, D. C.

Helen went to Washington on Feb. 23, 1970 to accept the honor presented by R. M. Hackendahl, bureau director. Impressed by the city's progress in its beautification goals, Mr. Hackendahl accepted an invitation from Petaluma's mayor to visit the city and was here

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

If A Babysitter Is Unhappy He Should Look For A Better Job

DEAR READERS:

Each time I publish a letter from a disgruntled baby sitter, I'm deluged with replies, from sitters and employers alike. Here are a few of the best answers to the girl who wrote "What is a Baby Sitter?"

DEAR HELEN:

When I read the letter from P.J., the "put upon" babysitter, I got so mad that I tore it from the paper. Here is my version of sitting:

A baby sitter is a person who:

Is always ready on time, without complaint.

Has to stay up later than expected, but doesn't complain. After all, it's a job well done, and he gets paid for the extra hours.

Is prepared for the unexpected.

Brings toys and games for the kids, and books for himself after they go to bed.

Sits for extra kids, and usually is treated fairly by the parents, with extra pay or some kind of gift.

Obeys all rules set down by parents.

Is asked many questions, but why not? An employer doesn't want a stranger sitting with his children.

Eats before leaving home and doesn't clean out the refrigerator, though he enjoys the snacks left for him. (But he makes sure they are for him, not for dinner next day.)

Does what he is told, without griping, and is given a bonus.

Doesn't howl about the salary. After all, he knew what it was when he took the job.

I am a boy babysitter. My rate is 50 cents per hour. — G.W.

DEAR HELEN:

I look at sitting differently from the girl who saw all the bad things. It is a privilege for me to be allowed to sit with young children. Sure, I help the parents to have a free night, but also they are trusting me with their children, knowing they will be exposed to my beliefs, morals and judgments.

Baby sitting is an opportunity for me to learn from and about children, to explore with them, get training for motherhood. I learn about self-control and composure. Children teach you to use your imagination and they help you forget your problems. They're fun to be with, and a challenge in coping with the unexpected. — PAT

DEAR HELEN:

We're the lucky ones—we who have nice employers. If P.J.'s are so bad, she should look for a better job. But it seems to me that she just doesn't like kids. Here's my version, in answer to hers:

A babysitter is one who:

Gets off an hour early because the party wasn't so good, but is still paid $1.50 more than she should have gotten if she'd remained the whole time.

Sits for people who are courteous and care about what's happening in her world. They bring her into the picture, but she doesn't hog it.

Entertains friends of the family because she enjoys life and people, (but never lets anyone in she doesn't know)

Laughs at the silly personal questions asked by the small fry. Why resent? Has fun playing with them. If they are bratty sometimes, well, she probably was at their ages too. —

for all for the State of California.

"THE OLD mansion, a private home bought by the state, is still open for tours, but you can't go on the third floor. It was declared a fire hazard 15 years ago."

Mrs. Reagan explained that her contribution has consisted of getting some furniture donated for a new mansion, obtaining some paintings of young Californsia artists for display in the Capitol and the house and collecting some "wonderful old prints of California that I found at Fort Sutter."

Rebellious youth: "It seems to me a lot of our problems come from a very permissive age we have been in." Referring to a recent encounter she and the Governor had with militant students, she said, "I was frightened. . . .but way down deep you feel so terribly sorry for them. You feel that they don't believe in anything. They are anti religion, anti God, but you feel they want to believe in something and someone. You want to say it is there for you to believe in, and you wonder where their parents are and what they are doing.

"I'm speaking of the hard core radicals. We must keep in mind they are a minority, but I wish the majority of young people would take a firmer stand."

FASHION: Mini or Midi? "I'm delighted skirts are getting longer. There wasn't any other direction for them to go, was there? I'm tired of looking at knees. I have to sit on a lot of platforms, and I'm always conscious of grabbing my skirt. Longer skirts are so much more graceful, more feminine and more becoming. Besides my husband likes them!

"My favorite designer? Galanos. I've known him for years. I think I got the first dress he ever designed, cost only $100 then.

"Men's clothing? My husband and I both just want a man to look like a man. He's not terribly fashion conscious. What he calls his new black suit is eight years old. He would be very happy in blue jeans or riding pants."

Academy awards: "We are delighted Duke Wayne won—we're very close friends—and that Cary Grant got a special award. We don't see many pictures any more. In fact there are a lot I don't want to see."

Asked how she would feel if her daughter wanted to marry a member of a minority group, she said, "I would hope she would marry a fine young man she loved and who loved her—the rest falls into place."

Hobbies and club activities: "Since we came to Sacramento there is not much private personal time left. We used to have a ranch that we had to sell before election because of the high taxes, but I loved ranch life.

"In Los Angeles I belonged to the Junior League, the Assistance League and the Colleagues, which support a home for unwed mothers, and I worked on the board of my children's school."

Need of a vagrancy law in California: Questioned as to whether women should work for one since vagrants cannot be dealt with adequately without a vagrancy law, she declared, "I'm a great believer in the power of women to do anything they want to do. After all, it took only one woman to get prayer out of the schools (a mistake which should be corrected in her opinion)."

Silver Cleaning

A cotton swab dipped in silver cleaner cleans the decorative work on silver platters or serving bowls. The swab does the job better than a cloth—especially when it comes to getting into tiny crevices.

on March 26 to witness for himself the successes attained.

"Beautification is simply a means of making your environment more healthful, more attractive and therefore a more pleasant place in which to live," declared the mayor. "For a really effective program, all the people in the community must lend a hand, backed, of course, by its government. I feel that this kind of on-going program with so many individuals involved in so many different ways makes for community oneness and a pride in itself."

Helen said she was a bit surprised during her visit to Washington to have so many persons approach her and introduce themselves when they learned she was mayor of a California city.

"I've never shaken the hand or even met a lady mayor before," they stressed.

IN HER CAPACITY as mayor, Helen has served as chairman of the Sonoma County Mayors and Councilmens Association and has served as president of the Redwood Empire Division of the League of California Cities, which encompasses Marin and all counties up to the Oregon border. This entails meeting and working with many other city officials throughout the state.

"I like to believe I was chosen president of the organization, the first woman to hold that office, not because I am a woman but rather because it was felt that I was capable of doing the job," declared the mayor.

Not content with her considerable duties as teacher, principal and city mayor, Helen is often called upon to be commentator at fashion shows not only in the surrounding area but also in other counties, an assignment which she thoroughly enjoys. Of consuming interest, too, is her effort on behalf of the Guide Dogs for the Blind.

A woman of many talents, in the early 1950s, Helen had her own radio show over KSRO in Santa Rosa. On for 15 minutes, five mornings a week, she discussed philosophy, children, clothes, books, cooking, gardening, household hints and any subject of current interest.

OTHER INTERESTS are music and dancing. Several years ago, Helen was teamed with two other Petaluma performers, Pierce Thompson and Robert Mallet, a trio, who were hits with songs and soft shoe dances executed to such oldies as "Moonlight Bay" and "Tea for Two."

A project now underway is a book of songs with words and music by the mayor. Written with simple musical notes, the book is primarily to aid teachers who must include musical works in school programs but lack the musical knowledge to do them effectively.

The wife of Rutherford Putman, a third generation Petaluman who is associated with the Sanderson Ford Co. in Petaluma, Mrs. Putnam is the mother of two children. Her son, Rush, who served with the Peace Corps for two years in India, is completing his third year as a teacher in an upper elementary school in Harlem, N. Y. Her daughter Kate (Mrs. McKenzie Oliver), also a teacher, is living in Melbourne, Australia.

Leisure Clothes Predicted For Future Business Wear

By WALTER LOGAN

NEW YORK (UPI)—Robert Schafer often works 10 and 12 hours a day because he strongly believes in leisure—for other people. He is a designer and he believes the leisure clothes he designs for men will be the business clothes of the future.

The sale of men's conventional suits has been static for two decades despite the increase in population although the sale of sport jackets and blazers has boomed. Booming along with these have been all sorts of slacks, sweaters, sports shirts and the like.

Schafer, 35, is one of the pioneers of shirt suits, which are leisure combinations with matching sports shirt and slacks, and of non-suits which are slightly more formal combinations and usually of a heavier fabric than the sports shirt weight. He believes knits will takeover in this field.

A GOOD EXAMPLE of the shirt suit in his fall line would be a cardigan shirt in a printed plaid with matching but fully fined slacks and worn with a belt which seems to be a current fashion or with a chain belt which is even more fashionable. One suit was yellow plaid on a white background, another was white plaid on a black background.

Schafer designs for Burma-Bibas, Inc., a firm which for years made only neckwear and still does a tremendous business in such neckwear lines as Oleg Cassini, John Weitz, Prince Igor, Schiaparelli—and Robert Schafer.

A few years ago Burma-Bibas decided to go into the sportswear business and looked around for a "bright, young designer" with experience and found Schafer in the same building working for a rival firm. So Schafer moved down in the world—from the 20th to the 16th floor. He still sometimes gets off at the wrong floor.

"One of the first things we produced were His and Hers tailored blouses which were very important at the time," Schafer said. "Italian knits were coming into popularity then and we eliminated the women's line and concentrated on men's wear only.

"FROM THESE Italian knits came such things as tailored knit sports shirts and the first non-suits. There were, of course, sweaters, lots of leather in jackets, cut-and-sewn sports shirts—and, of course, there were always the ties.

"We're going toward the non-suit because it embodies the very thought of leisure wear. With more and more leisure time in the 70s—we might even get down to the four-day week—men are going to want more and more comfortable clothes, and knits represent comfort.

"I think that eventually it will be worn even for business. These are the times of the young thinkers—it's a young thinking world. Not just young people but young thinking people of all ages. The younger generation is already wearing these non-suits and pretty soon they will want to wear them to business. And, of course, such ideas always filter upward to the older generation."

Schafer's fall line leans heavily to both knits and leather and the whole key is in combinations of both. Knits are combined with pony skin, calfskin, fleece and suede. Some of the knits have wide pony fur lapels or ostrich leather collar and cuffs.

ONE OF THE more outstanding fall models looked like a suede jacket with builtin suspenders, with leather buckles on each side of the chest. Another showed pony collars on leather with both knitted and leather sleeves. Most of the woolknits had leather trim, such as a V neck navy and red tunic with leather trim on the neck and with a matching leather belt.

What is bound to be an important item in the field is the mix and match coordinates which make up into all sorts of non-suits. For example there was a combination of plaid knitted slacks worn either with a plain shirt or with a matching slipover shirt—or any other combination.

Schafer is a native New Yorker who attended New York University where he studied English literature and psychology. He fled from there to the Fashion Institute where he learned the basic facts of life about clothing. He first thought designers dealt only in terms of glamorous evening wear — sweeping ball gowns and the like. Then he learned more facts of life—people don't wear sweeping ball gowns very much. They wear sports clothes.

Face-Framer Hat Varies The Look

By AP NEWSFEATURES

The "face-framer" look is gaining fresh importance as fashion-alert young girls discover that an exciting new hat is the ideal "picture frame" upon which to build an exciting head-to-toe look. With the switch of her hat, a-girl sets the illusions of her fashion close-up—femininity, efficiency, a return to the 1920s, the modern hippie, whatever she wants.

Nixon Names Admiral Head Of Joint Chiefs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon today named Adm. Thomas H. Moorer as new chairman of Joint Chiefs of Staff, succeeding Gen. Earle G. Wheeler in the nation's highest ranking military post.

Moorer is now Chief of Naval Operations. Wheeler, 62, who has held the office since July, 1964, plans to retire when the change becomes effective July 2, subject to Senate confirmation of Moorer.

Moorer, 58, will be the second Navy man to hold the position of chairman of the joint chiefs. Adm. Arthur Radford held the post in 1953-57.

Moorer, a native of Mount Willing, Ala., was named chief of naval operations June 3, 1967, and was re-appointed by President Nixon last July 12.

Zumwalt, 49, a native of San Francisco, has been serving since September 1968, in the dual role of commander of naval forces in Vietnam and chief of the U.S. naval advisory group.

Gale Troubles Southern Coast

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Winds whipped through Southern California at up to 50 miles an hour, harassing motorists and batting offshore craft including a 467-foot ship.

The 12,500-ton La Jenelle was anchored offshore near Oxnard 50 miles north of Los Angeles Monday when gale-force wind and 10-foot swells ripped it from its moorings and drove it aground.

The two men aboard were picked up by the Coast Guard before a breaker tipped the ship on its side .

The La Jenelle, which once carried tourists through the Caribbean as the Bahama Star, was being converted into a floating restaurant.

In other parts of Southern California, wind grounded boats, toppled power poles, whipped small brush fires and sandblasted cars traveling across the desert.

San Francisco Hikes Water Bill

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Water rates for two million residents of San Francisco and the Peninsula will go up 15 per cent on June 1.

The $3.2 million a year boost was approved by a 10-1 vote yesterday of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors.

About 56 per cent of the 235 million gallons of water distributed daily by the city's water department is used on the Peninsula by cities and water districts which buy it from San Francisco.

Arthur H. Frye Jr., department general manager, said the increase was "an absolute necessity if we are to meet our present and anticipated needs." He said the department has started an 11-year, $106.5 million capital improvement program.

Store Window Hit

A burglar broke a window Sunday in a burglary attempt at Melody TV S/B, 446 Fourth Street, San Rafael police reported yesterday. Nothing was reported missing from the store, police said.

Consumers Back Auto Repair Law

The Association of California Consumers, based in Sausalito, today urged all car owners to wire their legislators to support a bill regulating auto repairs.

The bill, SB 11 by Sen. Anby the Senate Business and Professions Committee Thursday afternoon.

The bill, SB 11, by Sen. Anthony Beilenson, D-Los Angeles, would set up a state bureau to police repair practices, and require dealers to register with the bureau.

Donald Vial of San Rafael, president of the association, said the bill was patterned after the 1963 state law that drove dishonest dealers out of business.

Marked equipment would be run through auto shops where complaints are received by the bureau, and unnecessary work or charges for work not actually done would be detected.

Vial said that oil companies and new car dealers were opposing the bill. "Only concerted consumer action will counter these powerful lobbies," he said.

Halprin, Jordan Get Fellowships

Two Marin County residents are among 286 recipients of John S. Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation fellowships, foundation officials have announced.

Ann S. Halprin, choreographer and founder of San Francisco's avant-garde Dancer's Workshop, and Lawrence C. Jordan, an experimental filmmaker, have received unattached grants from the foundation.

AT&T Warrants, Bond Sale Brisk

NEW YORK (UPI)—The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. rang up millions of dollars in sales on the first day of its $1.57 billion bond offering Monday, part of a giant four-way drive to raise $3.1 billion for new phone facilities and construction.

The $1.57 billion of debenture bonds with warrants, the largest financing package in American corporate history, carry 8 3-4 per cent interest and will mature in 30 years. The debentures closed at 100 3-4 and the warrants at 12 7-8.

AT&T is issuing about 549 million rights to its 3.1 million stockholders that will enable them to buy 15.7 million bonds with a face value of $100 each, plus about 31.4 million warrants to purchase 31.4 million shares of common stock at $52 a share.

Prince Charles Gets Back Rub

KYOTO, Japan (AP) — Britain's Prince Charles has learned at first hand about one of the functions of geisha girls —they give effective massage for a weary back.

After a visit to a restaurant where he ate native food, Charles was asked by an attendant geisha whether he had found his current Japanese tour tiring. He said his back was tired, and accepted the girl's offer to massage his back and shoulders.

"Arigato, a rigato," Charles said when she finished. That means thanks in Japanest.

DRAMA REVIEW

'R And G Are Dead' Has A Lot Of Life

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

SAN FRANCISCO — "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead" which helped lift the American Conservatory Theater last season to new heights returned last night to the Geary Theater.

The play, which will be in ACT's repertory for a short run, is again under the brilliant guidance of William Ball, the company's masterful general director.

In Shakespeare's "Hamlet," the names of these two former classmates of the "Mad Dane," are spoken only once—thus the title of Stoppard's play .

As the play unfolds R and G find themselves summoned to Elsinore to help solve Hamlet's madness. It is Stoppard's springboard to what it might have been like in the cold, windy and foreboding castle seen through the eyes of two who simply cannot comprehend the tragedy surrounding them. This is what makes Stoppard's R and G such warm and identifiable characters. In a sense they know theirs is a doomed fate, too.

Ball again has called upon last year's leads — James Milton as Rosencrantz and Philip Kerr as Guildenstern — for this revival.

They are expertly matched. I found myself so wrapped up in their comic counterplay (i.e. questions and answers; that it was at times difficult to distinguish them.

Also back in his same role of the Player is Ken Ruta, who is one of ACT's most distinguished actors. He fits the juicy assignment.

Another amusing role is handled very well by Mark Wheeler as Alfred, a member of the Players who is called upon to play the troupe's female roles.

The rest of Stoppard characters are the major leaguers of the original who are given a chance to do a little over-acting.

Taking opening night roles in some parts which are double cast: Tom V. V. Tammi as Hamlet; Suzzane Collins as Ophelia; Jim Baker as Claudius; Carol Mayor Jenkins as Gertrude; Dennis Kennedy as Polonius, and Jeff Chanddler, the player king.

The simple slanted stage with the barest of properties is ideal for Stoppard's contemporary, yet silken, prose. Also helping to create the mood is Lee Hoiby's timely placed music and Robert Fletcher's softly hued multicolored costumes.

While having no basis for comparison to R and G. of last season since having not seen it, I find this production to be another sterling offering from ACT.

Florida Busing Plan Launched

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Yellow school buses transported black and white children to their new classrooms today in Manatee County as officials implemented the desegration plan blocked last week by Gov. Claude Kirk.

Some 2,600 of the county's 17,000 public school pupils were sent to new schools to provide the 80-20 black-white ratio ordered by a U.S. district judge. The plan also transfered 107 teachers.

Kirk was at the state Capitol in Tallahassee when the busing began.

School Supt. Dr. Jack Davidson said everything was going smoothly.

Community Cooperation Plan Voted

A plan to gather a group of residents representing all points of view in the Sausalito School District who would work with members of the Sonoma State College psychology department in an attempt to establish better communications in the district was endorsed last night by the Sausalito School District Board.

The board urged Mrs. Joel J. Kudler of the Sausalito Parents Club to go ahead with plans to assemble 25 to 30 individuals, who would seek assistance from the college.

Mrs. Kudler told the board that members of the parents club and Supt. Phillip W. Schneider met last week with members of the psychology department. "They agreed to take us on and help us to do something about helping this community pull together," she said.

Mrs. Kudler said specific plans for the communications group such as methods to be used in dealing with problems, have not yet been decided.

The Sausalito School District Board also:

CLOSED SESSION—Met in closed session for more than an hour to consider teachers' salary demands.

NURSERY SCHOOL — Granted a request from the Sausalito Nursery School to use Central School facilities for a flea market April 26.

LEAVE OF ABSNCE—Approved a leave of absence for 1970-71 for Mrs. Gene Willis, reading specialist at Martin Luther King School. Mrs. Willis has been offered a federal fellowship to San Francisco State College.

Yoko's Reported Part In Split

LONDON (AP) — Paul McCartney's split from the Beatles was precipitated by the marriage of John Lennon, his songwriting partner, to Japanese artist Yoko Ono, the group's official biographer says.

Hunter Davies, the biographer, said in the Sunday Times that after Lennon and Yoko got together—they were married in March 1969—"the rest of the Beatles didn't matter any more."

Davies said that under Yoko's influence Lennon began taking charge of Beatle business affairs, also mounting peace campaigns, holding offbeat art exhibitions and issuing records without other members of the group.

Sausalito Parents Get New Hearing On Cuts

After listening to demands from parents for a special meeting to discuss proposed personnel cuts and use of school facilities for the coming year, the Sausalito School District board reluctantly agreed to hold the meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the district office. (Another Sausalito schools story, page 1)

The board's decision was made in response to Royce McLemore of Marin City who reminded trustees she had presented them (at the board's last meeting) with a petition signed by more than 300 residents asking for the meeting.

The petition rejected the board's decision to close Bayside School next year and transfer students to Central School and called for the retention of all teachers, James T. Tolver Jr., vice principal at Martin Luther King School and Gabe Jackson, a community worker for the district.

Toliver and Jackson's positions had earlier be eliminated by the board as part of drastic budget cuts for the next school year and eight teachers informed they would not be rehired for budget reasons.

Trustee James E. Muldoon objected to the call for a special meeting, saying that all the topics contained in the petition "have already been discussed — at great length — in public meetings."

Trustee David E. Freeheim, in answer to charges in the petition that the community has no chance to voice opinions in policy-making, said wearily that at "every board meeting, people voice opinions; every day in the mail and every night on the telephone I hear people voicing opinions.

"The problem is that if we make a decision that does not appeal to certain individuals, we are not listening to the community," he added heatedly.

Trustee C. Gerald Clear, who said he favored a special meeting "only if there is new information to present," read briefly from a memorandum from a group of district residents which listed various changes in district operations which the residents said would save the district $170,000.

In a quick, point by point discussion of the changes, Clear said he felt the proposals would result in less than $20,000 in savings.

After much discussion and heated comments from members of the audience, the board agreed to again discuss the issues on Monday, then go into a regular board meeting if time permits.

Hamilton's Air Controllers Play Major Civilian Role

Unit Serves Wide North Coast Area

By C. P. McCARTHY

"Hamilton RAPCON, this is Nan 456 Alpha. . ."

With a similar introduction, any plane flying under certain altitudes over Marin, as well as most of Sonoma and Napa counties, will contact RAPCON—radar approach control—at Hamilton Air Force Base.

With a few minor exceptions, and one big one, Hamilton air traffic controllers play the same role as air traffic controllers around the nation.

The big exception, of course, is the amount of traffic in Hamilton's air space.

Hamilton controls a chunk of the sky up to 7,000 feet bounded by Calistoga to the north, Napa to the east and Point Reyes to the west. South of Hamilton, the area ranges from a high of 5,000 feet near the field and drops to 3,000 feet at the boundaries which are Richmond to the east, Sausalito to the south and Stinson Beach to the west.

With no major metropolitan airport in the area, the life of a Hamilton air controller can hardly be compared to the pace and atmosphere of a controller at, for example, the Oakland center, which handles traffic in and out of the major Bay Area airports.

But the five Air Force men sitting at radar screens, surrounded by sophisticated communications equipment, are handling all traffic — military, commercial and general aviation — through Hamilton air space, which totals about 5,000 planes a month.

They control traffic in and out of the Air Force base, as well as Napa County, Sonoma County and Coddingtown airports — all of which handle small commercial flights — and the Petaluma Sky-Ranch, Sonoma Skypark, Sonoma Valley and Smith Ranch airports and Gnoss Field.

Occasionally, even a slow climbing commercial jet from San Francisco International will enter Hamilton air space and be handled by base controllers.

Only about half of the air traffic controlled by Hamilton is military. The controllers assist commercial and private flights in their approaches to area airfields and also keep all air traffic separated to prevent midair collisions.

Hamilton will guide a plane into any one of the area airports until the landing guidance can be taken over visually by the airport's own control tower.

Traffic through or out of Hamilton air space will be handled until it is handed over to whoever controls the next chunk of sky.

The sky above Hamilton's space, as well as to the south of it, is handled by the Bay Tower and Radar Approach Control Facility at Oakland. Traffic to the east is controlled by Travis Air Force Base.

There are five controllers on the day shift at Hamilton, compared to 21 at the Oakland facility, which handles about four times the amount of traffic Hamilton does.

A private plane taking off from Gnoss Field and flying south would be assisted by Hamilton until it crossed into Oakland's space when it would be handed over to Oakland. While one controller at Hamilton talked to the pilot, another would be in contact with Oakland, preparing to hand the plane over to them.

The same standards, regulations and language are used by the civilian and military controllers.

The skies are the domain of the Federal Aviation Administration, whether for military, commercial or private use.

Hamilton air controllers are certified by the FAA, and civilian Robert O. Proett is on duty at the base as the FAA's air traffic representative.

Proett said the only difference between the civilian and military controllers is who they work for.

That, and the amount of traffic they handle and the time they're sick.

Glass Vandals Hit Stores In Three Cities, I-J Office

The Independent-Journal office in Novato and six business firms in three cities were attacked last night in a spree of glass smashing vandalism.

A store in Novato, three in San Rafael and another in Petaluma were attacked, sustaining total damage of more than $2,000.

The Independent-Journal office's broken window was the same window which had a metal nut shot through it last Friday night.

Novato police discovered five holes in four plate glass windows at Johnson's Red Barn, 7388 Redwood Highway, at 10:37 p.m. Loss was estimated at $1,200.

LEAD SLUGS USED

In both cases last night, the windows were broken by pieces of cast linotype metal, police reported, and not metal nuts which have been used previously in the window vandalism that has been widespread since the Jan. 7 start of San Francisco Typographical Union 21's strike against the I-J.

A one-inch pipe was used to smash a front window early today at Martin and Harris Appliance Service, 1604 Fourth Street, San Rafael police have reported.

Owner Harris W. Martin also reported a window in his Petaluma branch at 150 Kentucky Street was hit twice today with the same type of missile. He said printer's lead was also found at the Petaluma store.

Martin estimated damage at both stores from $500 to $600. He said he had been asked by the typographical union to stop his advertising.

Police found two windows broken last night at McPhail's Inc., 917 C Street. Pipe couplings were used, a spokesman at the store said today.

DOOR DAMAGED

A glass front door at San Rafael Health and Dietary Foods, 1132 Fourth Street, San Rafael, was smashed with a metal nut yesterday after 6 p.m.

Owner Howard D. Embury told police he had been threatened by the union because of his advertising in the Independent-Journal.

A metal nut also was used last night to break a window at Casa Marin, 1654 Second Street, San Rafael police reported today.

Kentfield Shifts Pupils To Even Up School Loads

The Kentfield School District board last night approved a citizens' advisory council report recommending shifts in attendance area limits to even up the pupil load in the three district schools.

The changes will shift about 50 pupils from Adaline E. Kent School to Wolfe Grade School and 30 from Wolfe Grade to Greenbrae School, reported Supt. Anthony G. Bacich.

Final action on the proposal will be taken at the April 27 meeting.

The board also heard a request by the classified employees for an across the board 6 per cent pay increase, which would raise the pay scale from the present $433 to $743 range to $459-790. No action was taken.

The board approved a proposal by the classified employees association that two new job titles be added, those of multimedia clerk and library clerk II.

Resignations of three teachers were accepted, those of Anita Anderson, now on leave from Adaline E. Kent; Leslie Henningsen of Wolfe Grade, and Susan Berliner of Greenbrae.

The board approved hiring the firm of Leader, Jarvis and Keigwin of San Rafael to audit the 1969-70 books.

Tentative Approval On Operating Budget

A $208,850 operating budget for the 1970-71 school year was tentatively approved last night by trustees of the Bolinas-Stinson School District, according to Supt. Clarence B. Larison, who presented the budget to the board.

Although the budget is approximately $8500 less than for the current year, Larison said no major cuts are planned. The board had discussed choosing a superintendent who would also teach next year, but decided the district's new superintendent, John A. O'Shea will be a full-time administrator with no regular teaching assignments, Larison said.

Larison said the budget is less than this year because the district was allowed to levy a 10-cent tax during the current year to bring buildings up to state minimum safety and fire codes.

The board will further discuss the budget at its May 11 meeting.

The Bolinas-Stinson School Board Also:

TEST RESULTS—Heard a report from Charles Billings, guidance consultant from the county schools office on results of statewide achievement tests taken last year by sixth graders in the district. Billings said the students had average scores in reading (as compared with national norms), above average scores in mathematics concepts and scores slightly below average in mathematics computation.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS WEEK — Agreed to held an open house at Bolinas School Monday, from 7 to 8 p.m. in recognition of National Public Schools Week. An all-day open house and ecology is planned for Wednesday, April 22, at Stinson School.

EXTENSION—Voted to give Erika Zettl, a teacher, until May 11 to decide if she will return to teach in the district next year after a year's leave of absence.

Study Slated On Removing Creek Wall

The Army Corps of Engineers agreed yesterday to make hydraulic studies to see what effect removal of a rock retaining wall on Corte Madera Creek in Ross would have on flood flows.

Twenty-one residents of the area have signed a petition asking removal of the wall and the house above it, on grounds the wall interferes with flow from a 60-inch storm drain and causes flooding on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

The house has been purchased by Marin County for the flood control right-of-way.

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Neil R. Brixon, chairman of the Ross Valley Flood Control Advisory board, met yesterday with Col. Charles R. Roberts, district engineer, to see if the wall could be removed before next year's storms, instead of two seasons from now as planned.

Roberts said the corps "would prefer not to do anything to the creek banks" before the project reaches that area, because the action might cause more problems than it solves.

If studies show no damage would result from removal, an entry right-of-way would have to be provided to the area, Brixon said. Only access now is by a bridge with a 5-ton limit, too light to allow a crane to reach the area.

Brixon said the Army has been "very cooperative" about the problem.

The retaining wall apparently causes a swirling action in the channel, Brixon said, which interferes with flow from the 60-inch drain and backs up water onto Drake between Bolinas Road and Berry Lane.

Werber Gets Jail, $2,000 Pot Fine

By MARY LEYDECKER

Former Kingston Trio manager Frank N. Werber, termed the "high priest of marijuana" by Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, was ordered yesterday to spend six months in jail and pay a $2,000 fine.

Judge E. Warren McGuire, after listening to about an hour and a half of arguments by Bales and Werber's attorney, Terence Hallinan, as well as testimony by three witnesses called by Hallinan, also placed Werber on supervised probation for three years.

Werber, 40, had been convicted by a jury in February of two felong counts of possessing and growing pot after Judge McGuire had ruled that Werber's claim that he needed marijuana for spiritual purposes was not a legal defense.

Werber was arrested at his luxurious home on De Silva Island in Richardson Bay on Oct. 14, 1968, after federal agents were led there by two men who had brought six seabags into the United States from Mexico.

Although he was acquitted in federal court in San Francisco of importing the seabags, Werber was convicted in Marin of possessing about four kilos of pot found throughout his house as well as growing 27 plants outside in a corn patch.

The judge said that he made his decision about the sentence after balancing Werber's clean record, good education and success in business against the large amount of pot in the case. He said that he also considered Werber's testimony during the trail that he gave away and sold marijuana to friends and business associates.

Deputy Probation Officer Jesse Johnson, who prepared a pre-sentence report on Werber, had recommended that the jail time be three months on each count with the terms to run concurrently. He had not recommended a fine.

Bales yesterday compared Werber to Timothy Leary and said that an example should be made of him by sending him to state prison. (Werber could have been sentenced to one-to-10 year terms on each count.)

"This man is idolized by children," Bales said, calling Werber a trafficker in narcotics. Bales added that he continues to hear reports that Werber's Sausalito restaurant, the Trident, is a gathering place for narcotics dealers.

Hallinan angrily denied this and called the manager of the restaurant, Lou Ganapoler, to testify that Werber is needed to manage the business.

Another witness, Rev. Cecil Williams of Glide Memorial Church in San Francisco, said that Werber has "a great deal of influence with young people." He argued that confining Werber to jail would leave many young persons with no one to turn to for help with their problems.

Hallinan also argued that Werber has already been impressed by the serious of the offense and has promised not to use drugs or narcotics while the case is being appealed.

The judge granted a stay of execution on the jail sentence until 4 p.m. Monday at which time he will hear arguments on whether the entertainment tycoon may remain free on bail while the case is appealed.

Hallinan said after court that he was sure the appeal will be successful and that "his client will never serve a term."

Werber himself, clad in leather bell-bottomed trousers, an embroidered smock, wool jacket, beads and carrying a beaded Indian pouch, said, "I am not bitter." He said that he had expected the sentence to be somewhere between three months and one year.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

A Refreshing Candidate For State Superintendent

Marinites are getting a lot of exposure to one of the nine candidates for the office of state superintendent of public instruction — and a very interesting one at that.

The plethora of candidates this year arises from two causes: the never-dying optimism of the unknown office seeker, and the realization by more hard-headed aspirants that Maxwell Lewis Rafferty Jr. is not unbeatable.

FOUR YEARS AGO, Rafferty was opposed only by an assortment of "guys named Joe." Potentially strong candidates figured the chance of beating him was too small to justify the cost. But when Alan Cranston trounced Rafferty for U.S. Senate in 1968, a lot of politicians awoke to the fact that the state superintendent's perfervid prose and oracular oratory did not fool all of the people all of the time.

And so this year, along with the merely hopeful, there are two serious contenders against Rafferty. They are Julian Nava, a member of the Los Angeles Board of Education, and Wilson C. Riles, on leave now from a deputy state superintendency.

It is Riles who has been making himself known in Marin. He has been here twice already and will be back again this week. Nava has yet to make an appearance here.

THIS MAN RILES is a refreshing candidate. Although he has been in education as teacher and administrator for over a quarter century, he does not talk like the typical educator (nor like Max Rafferty).

In fact, he says some things that must upset the educational establishment.

He says, for instance, that the teacher should be held accountable for the progress of his pupils. There is no mystery about doing this, Riles insists: You set reasonable goals for a child to attain in a year. If a majority of the class fails to reach these goals, something is wrong with the teaching. If this continues to happen, the teacher "should seek some other line of work."

THIS IS ANATHEMA to the concept of lifetime tenure. It is anathema, also, to the "new education" view that nobody should ever be tested on anything in the schools. But it is music to the ears of a lot of the public.

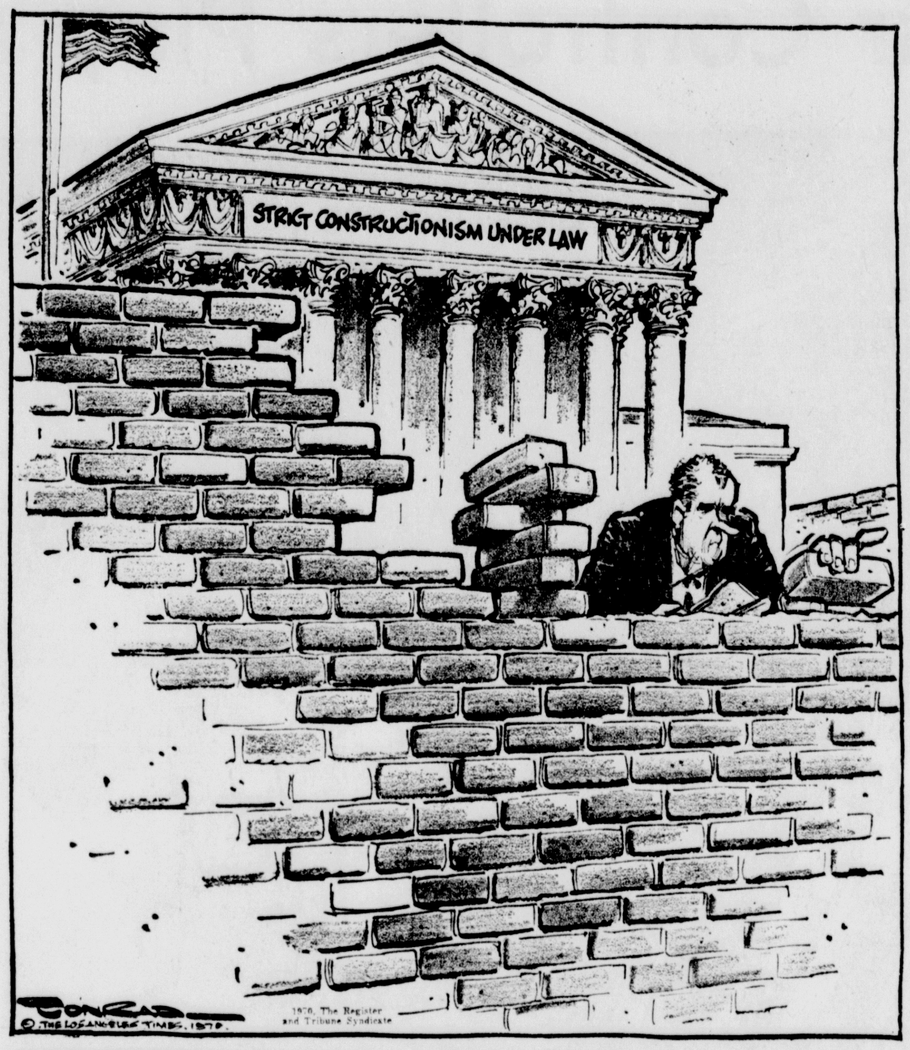
Riles says, also, that the answer to school finance problems is not entirely in getting more money: It is also in getting more for the money. The schools, as well as their teachers, should be held accountable.

This must rank as sheer heresy with many of his fellow educators.

Further, Riles, who is a Negro, contends that mixing children of different races in the same classroom in the name of integration may not mean much. More important, he says, is giving minority children "teachers who believe that they can learn."

THIS STRIKES a body blow at a dearly held belief of some of the leading educational integrationists, and at the whole concept of busing children about for ethnic reasons which has embroiled just about everybody from the President of the United States on down.

We like what Wilson Riles has to say. He says it rather well, too. If he survives the primary, he might give Maxwell Lewis Rafferty Jr. quite a race in November.



WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Get Behind Scouts; They Need Help

Your Marin Magazine section April 4 was a tribute to the boys who know "the surest way up the mountain." The pictures were marvelous, the article so interesting to me.

Scouting is for boys all ages — get behind them in their worthwhile activities when you are given the opportunity. We need them — they need us!

There is so much said about those youths in trouble these days. It is so good to read an article such as this about our boys doing and learning together and being so respected in our community.

Jacobson Favors Hilarita Proposal

I want to clarify my position regarding the Ecumenical Association's housing proposal for the Hilarita site in Tiburon. From your story of April 7, it might appear that I spoke against the project because of traffic problems that might be generated. This is not the case; the proposal and its entire concept have my complete support. I did urge, however, that the project's designers take care to accommodate the increased traffic that will result from the higher population density inherent in the project.

I commend the Tiburon Planning Commission for its vote of approval and hope that the city council will also favor this proposal.

Government Needs Spiritual Cast

I once read somewhere, "There is a destiny that makes us brothers; none goes his way alone; all that we send into the lives of others comes back into our own."

Some say we must strive for a bigger and greater San Anselmo. It's the people we should be concerned about. With bigness and greatness comes the breeding of hollow and brutal lives.

Why can't the council meetings be conducted in productive fellowship? I mean "Bible anchored."

Using secondary techniques, man-made techniques blocks the free working of spiritual cells, touching the social and economic life of our town. Christian cells — "civic cells," "fireside cells" — all these will affect community welfare and be made strong enough to reproduce themselves. Freedom, spontaneity, and informality are the hallmarks of spiritual cells. Care enough, share enough, and dare enough and God will work through you and a cell will be formed.

With brotherhood, under God, troublesome questions are talked through, and I believe a healthy factor for the community.

Computer To Pick Officials Next?

Recently our very able assemblyman, William T. Bagley, sponsored a bill that would suppress information garnered and computerized by a private concern that supposedly would affect all of us. How much of this information would be derived from our recent census (an invasion of privacy)?

Most of us have been numbered (social security) for many years, to be indivdually computerized is the next step toward regimentation. I can feel the hot breath of the computer ont he back of my neck already!

I have long felt the computer would be a useful instrument, if properly programmed, to select and elect the best qualified person for public office — no more expensive election campaigns, nor expensive elections.

Many worthy and well qualified men simply can not afford to run for public office.

Skunks Share New Life Of Spring

The little skunks came out of the woodshed the other evening, and like you say, new life is born in April or early spring. Year after year they have been here and no problem unless cornered. We are just careful in the dark.

By the way, day after day, the buzzard flies; how often he finds something dead, we do not know, and it is always a wonder the energy he does or does not expend in soaring flight, as the buzzard's shadow glides over the ground.

Amongst the flying swallows in morning and late hour he soars, swallows, catching thinss, and the buzzard soars on looking, looking over field and hill, carrion from birth and life must be found.

Arithmetic Error On Postal Pay

Your editorial of 8 April states that a postal pay hike of six per cent and then a further hike of eight per cent would amount to amost 17 per cent. After checking and rechecking I arrive at an overall figure of slightly less than 14 and one-half per cent. If I am correct, I would like a correction printed. . . .

Incidentally, you didn't mention how the proposed hike in mail rates would affect the newspaper. Probably not very much, since the entire Bay Area can be covered now at 5.2 cents per pound.

EARL P. ANDRE
Novato

(Reader Andre's mathematics is correct; the editor's, wrong. The two pay hikes would total 14.48 per cent — still nearly two and one-half per cent more than the union asked. The increase in second class rates would not amount to much, nor does much of the Independent-Journal's circulation move by mail. — Editor.)

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

April 14, 1960

A U. S. Senate subcommittee held a hearing at College of Marin on the proposal to establish a national seashore on Point Reyes Peninsula and visited the proposed seashore area.

Families in Marin City prepared to move from temporary housing built during World War II to new public housing units.

20 YEARS AGO

April 14, 1950

Georgia Neese Clark, treasurer of the United States, was honored at a banquet at the Meadow Club near Fairfax.

A proposal for a low-level Marin approach to the Golden Gate Bridge was turned down by Charles H. Purcell, state public works director.

Campaign Costs Discourage Long-Shot Political Candidates

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The high price of long shots discouraged a gang of potential Democratic candidates this political season.

In days past, some might have run despite their meager prospects, but the fantastic inflation of campaign costs has abolished this luxury. Most don't run any more unless assured a reasonable chance to make it.

Facing a tough incumbent quickly dissuaded Democratic challengers, especially against moderate Republicans like Assemblyman Willian T. Bagley and Representatives Willian S. Mailliard and Don H. Clausen.

In the end, the list of discarded candidates was about as long as the list of candidates who took their trial balloons seriously enough to get on the ballot.

Potential Democratic candidates in the Fourth Senatorial District were attorney Richard M. Adams of Belvedere; David R. Evans of Napa, chairman of his county's central committee; Vacaville attorney David Lowe; Judge Curtis G. Singleton of Solano County Municipal Court and even Marin Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos.

In the Sixth Congressional District, there was San Francisco Supervisor Roger Boas, Democratic state chairman. In the First Congressional District, Dr. George McCabe of Sonoma State College and Santa Rosa attorney Barry Keene floated leaden trial balloons.

There they go, fading into the political background.

CAMPAIGN contributions, which some dare suggest can be related to legislators' votes, are of no special interest to the voting public, accoring to Assembly Speaker Bob Monagan, R-Tracy.

Reports on campaign contributions were just "a curiosity item for the press," Monagan said in a news conference last week. Asked if he favored toughening requirements to report campaign contributions, he said "no one seems to be greatly disturbed about it."

His attitude was expressed only days after Edmund G. Brown Jr., Democratic candidate for secretary of state, noted that Sacramento lobbyists spend more than $1 million a year to influence legislation. That works out to an average of $50 a day for each member of the legislature, Brown said.

Flabby laws on reporting both campaign contributions and lobbyists' investments in votes deserve better than Monagan's shrug.

AT LEAST one lobbyist was asleep last year when the legislature passed a tough new water pollution law. The California Builders Council awoke to the law only last month when the state banned new construction in much of San Francisco.

A council executive conceded he had not noticed the law before, and said the council would have had a better crack at the law then — instead of battling its enforcement at the local level.

It was a mark of the council's effectiveness that its plea to exempt housing from the ban was rejected.

Weizmann Institute Of Science Gives Israel Unique Facility

REHOVOT, ISRAEL — In the vast expanse between Western Europe and Japan, the Weizmann Institute of Science is unique. It is a center for advanced research in all the sciences that is comparable to Rockefeller University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the United States.

In the dimension of the demands of this developing nation, it is more than that. There is an acute awareness of the need to generate new industry out of the laboratories where dedicated scientists from the four corners of the earth are working.

So much has come into being so swiftly in this astonishing new country. But nothing has more of a miraculous look than the Weizmann Institute.

MORE THAN a hundred scientists from 20 countries are here. From Japan, the United States and Western Europe, they spend up to two years at work in one of the half-dozen institutes. This was the dream of Chaim Weizmann, scientist and statesman, the George Washington of Israel, for whom the institute is named. At the ceremony marking the laying of the cornerstone for the first Weizmann unit in 1946 the venerable founder put it this way:

"I was for many years a wandering university student in my youth and felt, like my fellow Jews, that I was nowhere particularly welcome. But it was not so much the fault of our hosts as the fact that we could not offer hospitality in return. I thought that perhaps when the fiirst professor from abroad came to Palestine and found something of interest to him and learned something of what we were doing, it would be a sign that we had entered as equals into the comity of world scientists."

Another passionate motive he expressed not long before his death was to restore the reservoir of Jewish genius so large a part of which was destroyed in Hitler's gas ovens. For every scientist who escaped to America and contributed impressively to American scientific and technological development — Albert Einstein being the most conspicuous instance — 10 were lost. This is part of the consciousness not only of the devoted men and women of science at Rehovot but of millions of Jews in Israel and around the world.

It helps to explain the outpouring of funds from abroad contributing to the growth of the Weizman Institute. Many of the buildings are named for donors in the United States and England.

ISRAEL STANDS high on the list of those nations that could within a relatively short time produce an atomic bomb. Israel has not signed the nuclear nonproliferation treaty recently ratified in Washington and Moscow. The subject of atomic weapons is taboo. Foreign Minister Abba Eban put it as follows to this reporter:

"We have said that we will not be the first to introduce atomic weapons into the region. That is what we will continue to say. And we shall say nothing more."

In a nation enduring a war of attrition pursued by her Arab neighbors, even the peaceful retreat of the institute in its flower-scented setting cannot escape the signs and symbols of conflict. The stark concrete entrance to a bomb shelter expresses the reality of a condition of not peace, not war. No one really believes it will have to be used. And yet it is against that remote chance that this reservoir of brainpower, perhaps the most highly valued asset in the nation, must be protected.

Now and then a seminar is interrupted by the roar of jet fighters off on a raid on the Suez Canal. There is a brief pause until the sound subsides and then the discussion resumes. In the drive against ancer, the search for new resources of high-protein food, the potential of nuclear power from Israel's two reactors for desalinization—in these and many other fields the work goes on for Israel and, as these men of science say, for all humanity.

Touchy Talks Involve U.S. Presence In Spain

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Within the next week or so, Spanish Foreign Minister Gregorio Lopeaz Bravo will arrive in Washington to reopen talks on a question of importance not only to the two natins involved but also to the balance of power in the Mediterranean.

The question involves U.S. use of four military bases in Spain under an agreement first signed in 1953, renewed for five years and then left hanging after two years of fruitless negotiations through 1968 and 1969.

The current stop-gap agreement expires on Sept. 26.

Stumbling block is the price tag.

Both sides seek agreement but the long and intricate negotiations of the last two years also indicate failure is possible.

Spain's latest published asking price is $700 million over five years with emphasis on aid to education, science and technology and a commitment to defend Spain in case of an attack.

The Spanish also would like the Americans to permit a dollar outflow for direct U.S. private investment in Spain, an agreement to permit Spanish courts to judge U.S. military personnel, and U.S. pressure on Great Britain to return Gibraltar to Spain.

On the U.S. side there is a question not only of price but also whether the bases are a real necessity.

In Congress, there is resistance to any further U.S. military commitment.

The U.S. Navy wants retention of the Rota Naval Base on Spain's southwestern coast, the only European base for American Polaris submarines outside of Holy Loch in Scotland.

The loss of the big Wheelus Air Base in Libya, used for training American bomb and gunnery crews, led recently to reactivation of the base at Zaragoza in the Spanish northeast.

Other bases involved are the air bases at Moron in the south and Torrejon near Madrid.

Latest figures set Soviet naval strength in the Mediterranean at more than 60 ships, including two new helicopter carriers.

There is, in addition, uneasiness generated by a recent visit to Algeria and Syria by highranking Russian naval officers and the Soviet Union's obvious interest in the big former French naval base at Mares El Kebir in Algeria.

Official Washington regards the Soviet Mediterranean presence as of more importance politically than militarily but nonetheless also recognizes in the eastern Mediterranean the United States already is practically shut out except for Greece. The threat of anti-U.S. demonstrations recently led to cancellation of a scheduled visit by two U.S. Sixth Fleet units to Izmir, Turkey.

That All-Night Jenner Hearing Tough On Crowd, Coffee Supply

Marathon public meetings such as the all-night Jenner hearing conducted two weeks ago by the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors test not only the patience of public officials, but also their physical endurance.

The hearing, which opened at 4:30 p.m. in the supervisors' chambers, was moved to the Santa Rosa High School auditorium to accommocate the hundreds who could not find seats in the administration center.

THE DECISION at 6:30 p.m. to reconvene at the new location at 8 p.m. caught the school janitors completely unaware.

They assumed their duties would include the usual routine, hampered only by a handful of adult education night classes. Suddenly beseiged by 600 persons, the custodians could only stand back and shake their head in disbelief.

Also amazed was the janitor sitting in the teachers' coffee room as he watched the constant parade to the lone school coffee supply.

"That machine usually doesn't do that much business in a month," he said, viewing the procession which kept him from his regular tasks. Finally, in self-defense, he locked the coffee room doors at 3 a.m. and ignored the pounding by those desperate for more caffeine to keep going.

FOR THE MOST part, the crowd maintained interest through hours of testimony from scientists.

Despite the long hours and deep feelings caused by the controversial dredging proposal, few tempers were lost and those who have been known to raise their voices in the past were subdued, perhpas by the lateness of the hour.

Those who foresaw the all-night ordeal packed lunches and vacuum bottles in anticipation.

While the auditorium provided more than enough seats for the audience, it lessened the comfort of the supervisors. Instead of the padded easy chairs in the familiar surroundings, they spent the night on folding chairs.

Lost without their individual microphones, the five supervisors shared a single mike, passing it up and down the table for quetions and comments. This inconvenience no doubt reduced their discussion and shortened the meeting.

With the adjourning gavel at 5:15 a.m., the 125 stalwarts who had stuck it out stumbled into the hazy dawn, relieved that the hearing had finally ended, but knowing many more hours will be spent before the future of Jenner is decided.

Trust Attorney General Mitchell; He'll Come Up With Someone

WASHINGTON — Despite President Nixon's bitter remarks concerning the Senate vote on Judge Carswell, there was a certain amount of optimism at the White House the following day.

Atty. Gen. John Mitchell told the President, "They beat Haynsworth 55 to 45, while Carswell was only defeated 51-45. That means we picked up four votes in less than a year. At this rate we should have a man on the Supreme Court by 1972."

"YOU'RE A GOOD man, John," the President said. "How many more nominees do you think it will take?"

"Well, given the makeup of the Senate at the present time, I doubt if you'll have to put up more than six men before we can get someone confirmed."

"That's good, John. I'd love to fill that ninth vacancy while I am still in office."

"You have nothing to worry about, Mr. President. My wife, Martha, has been working on some senators right now. She should be able to get them in line before long."

"GOOD FOR MARTHA," the President said. "Where is she now?"

"What for?"

"She was trying to get them to crucify Senator Fulbright."

"Oh?"

"Martha feels that if she can crucify six senators, she can swing the Senate around to our side."

"WHY DIDN'T WE think of that?" the President said.

"I have always said, give Martha two sticks, a hammer, a mouthful of nails and a recalcitrant senator, and she'll turn him around every time."

"Do we have any other candidates lined up to nominate?"

"I've been getting a lot of suggestions. Vice President Agnew thinks that since we're looking for a strict constructionist, we ought to appoint someone from the building industry."

"That makes sense."

"Strom Thurmond just called in and said he thought Gov. Claude Kirk of Florida might make a good choice. Kirk's been wanting to get to the Supreme Court for over a week."

"But Kirk's a southerner, and everyone knows a southern constructionist can't win."

"JUDGE JULIUS Hoffman of Chicago is available, if you want to forget about the South."

"Let's put his name down," the President said.

"Senator Hruska gave me a new list of mediocre judges he has complete faith in," the attorney general said.

"I believe we better stop playing up the mediocrity of our candidates this time. It doesn't seem to have the appeal we thought it would."

"Exactly my thoughts, Mr. President. If we couldn't win on mediocrity with Judge Carswell, then we can't win with anybody."

"THERE MUST BE someone," the President said.

"Mr. President, I know it's not my place to advise you, but have you ever thought of appointing a woman to the court?"

"That's not a bad idea, providing she's a strict constructionist. Whom can we get?"

"Well, Martha was trying on Judge Carswell's black robes the other night, and we were all surprised how well they fit her."

Auto Wrecking Shop Is Eyed

An application for a use permit to operate an auto wrecking shop on property owned by Ernest Ongara at 25 DeLuca Place will be considered by the San Rafael Planning Commission at 7:30 p.m. today at city hall.

The application proposes the dismantling of vehicles and sale of usable parts at the site. Remnants which cannot be sold would be removed by a scrap metal dealer.

The commission also will consider an application for a four lot subdivision of property on the northeast side of Irwin Street. The commission rejected an application for a six lot subdivision of the same parcel in February.

Committee Schedule Reports

Reports from several members of the Marin County Committee on School District Organization will be heard at the committee's meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the county schools office, 201 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera.

The committee has no new buisness scheduled.

Bell Telephone Sets Interest

NEW YORK (UPI) — American Telephone & Telegraph Co. today set an 8 3-4 per cent interest rate for the $1.569 billion worth of 30-year debentures to be offered to its 3.1 million shareholders.

At the same time, the Bell company parent set $52 as the price at which new stock may be purchased with the warrants attached to the debentures.

That's $1.25 above last Friday's closing price.

Mrak To Head Williamson Bid

I-J Special Report

DAVIS — Former Assemblyman John C. Williamson, candidate for the Democratic nomination for the State Board of Equalization, has named Dr. Emil M. Mrak, chancellor-ameritus of the University of California at Davis, as a co-chairman of his campaign.

Dr. Mrak retired last year after having served as chancellor for 10 years.

Williamson is seeking the Third District seat being vacated by longtime incumbent Paul R. Leake of Yolo County. The district includes 25 Northern California counties, including Marin and Sonoma.

Window Broken

A front display window at Campbell-Bishop Chevrolet, 5880 Paradise Drive, has been broken in several places by BBs from a pellet gun, Corte Madera police reported yesterday. The damage was discovered Saturday morning by a janitor, police said.

Rock Concertgoer Arrested For Pot

A 15-year-old Santa Venetia youth was cited by authorities on suspicion of possessing marijuana after deputy sheriffs found him in a crowd of youngsters milliong around a rock concert in Santa Venetia Friday night.

The youth tried to conceal a plastic bag of vegetable matter when the deputies approached, they said. He was in a crowd of young people outside a concert at the Blessed Sacramento Church auditorium about 10:40 p.m.

Lack Of Priests No. 1 Problem:

VATICAN CITY (UPI)— Problem No . 1 for the Vatican at this time is the priesthood.

Pope Paul VI returned to the subject again Sunday, when he warned the shortage of young men entering the priesthood was endangering the Roman Catholic Church.

He made no mention of celibacy, the issue which is held by many to be a major cause of the poor recrutiting, as well as of the growing exodus of priests.

"Without priests and nuns, how can the church carry out its mission"? the Pope asked a crowd in St. Peter's Square for his weekly blessing ". . . What would become of evangelism? What would become of the salvation of the world?"

The Pope's speech coincided with the World Day of Vocations, on which Catholics are asked to pray for priests, monks and nuns.

China Is Topic Of Explorama

A feature-length film on modern China narrated in person by its maker, Jens Bjerre, will be shown at 8:15 p.m. April 28 at San Rafael High School auditorium under the auspices of Explorama of San Francisco.

Bjerre, a Dane, has produced documentary films for 20 years and written three books. The film on China required two visits to that country.

Seats may be reserved for $3 or $3.50.

SOME PRACTICAL TIPS IN BUYING Your Next Automobile

First, if you live – in Marin – you have an instant advantage. Marin dealers, with much lower overhead than "metropolitan" dealers, pass the savings on to you. And being local, they can service your car with far greater convenience. Saves the rat race, saves on sales tax, too (½% lower in Marin) . . . . Better deal all around ! ! !

Demos Eye Change In Tax Reforms

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly Democrats have agreed to push for substantial changes in Gov. Ronald Reagan's $645 million tax revision plan in the belief the governor secretly doesn't want his program approved.

During a closed-door caucus Monday Democrats picked the sales tax and oil depletion allowance features of the plan as two which could be reduced. Final amendments were to be developed at a caucus today just before the revenue and taxation committee hearing on the program.

Reagan's plan, sponsored by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, calls for a one-cent increase in the present five-cent on the dollar state sales tax. Bagley is chairman of the Reveune and Taxation Committee.

The oil depletion allowance currently is 27½ per cent. Reagan's plan would restrict the allowance to five times the actual cost of development.

"There are some Democrats who feel the governor may not want this tax bill — that he really wants it killed because the millionaires that support him may not want it," Assembly Democratic Leader John J. Miller told a newsman.

Miller also said Reagan's "oil supporters don't want what's there" in the bill to reduce the depletion allowance.

The Democratic leader said the sales tax "is the most regressive of all taxes."

Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, has introduced his own tax revision plan which would not increase the sales tax. Moscone's bill would substantially raise the taxes on liquor and cigarettes and cut the oil depletion allowance to strictly the cost of development.

Bagley and Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan are pressing for legislative approval of Reagan's tax plan before the June 2 primary election.

Proposition 8 on the primary ballot is a tax initiative sponsored by the California Teachers Association which would require the state to pay 50 per cent of school costs and 90 per cent of state and local welfare expenses.

The initiative makes no provision for raising the $1.3 billion the program is estimated to cost.

Bagley and Monagan contend passage of Reagan's plan before the primary would forestall voter approval of the teachers' plan.

Reagan's proposal includes payroll withholding of income taxes and a $205 million statewide property tax for schools. The plan is designed to reduce local property taxes.

Committee Strategy Revives Busing Ban

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A proposed constitutional ban on forced school busing had new life today, and the stage was set for a showdown vote in the Assembly Education Committee next week.

Assemblyman Victor V. Veysey, R-Brawley, chairman of the Assembly Education Committee, mustered enough votes Monday to reverse a subcommittee's attempt to kill the busing ban, but Democrats blocked final committee approval for a week.

A subcommittee voted 3-2 last week to kill the proposal. But Monday, as Democrats on the full committee complained of "scandalous" maneuvering, Veysey amended the measure and juggled half a dozen motions and substitute motions to schedule a new hearing on the amended proposal.

"Mr. Chairman, you are making an absolute shambles of the rules and the committee system," complained Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr., D-San Francisco.

Californians Forgetting To Take Their Tax Break

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The ides of April may turn out to be not quite so bad for some grumpy California income tax payers.

The state's income tax chief said today that some people are forgetting to take their special 10 per cent cut in figuring out their 1969 tax returns.

The deadline, of course, for submitting the tax returns is midnight Wednesday April 15.

Martin Huff, executive officer of the State Franchise Tax Board, says a special crew of 850 workers will handle an estimated four million or more returns containing $1.2 billion.

"I'd say our main problem has to do with some people who seem to be not fully aware of that 10 per cent reduction," Huff said. "Quite a few are not taking it."

"We'll end up having to give them a refund," Huff added.

Policemen Hurt In Speed Chase

Two Fairfax policemen received minor injuries yesterday when their patrol car crashed into a tree in San Anselmo while chasing a fleeing motorcyclist, San Anselmo police reported.

The driver, James Davis, 22, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a bruised forehead and a concussion, and the other officer, Wayne Rathe, 23, was treated for a bruised knee.

Fairfax police said the pair spotted the cyclist at 8:15 p.m. speeding east on Belmont Avenue and chased him. The cyclist turned off his lights and headed through side streets, then into San Anselmo along Oak Knoll Avenue, where the patrol car missed a turn at Pastori Avenue and skidded into a tree.

The motorcyclist eluded police.

Thief Takes Stamp From Church Office

A burglar has broken into St. John's Episcopal Church at 40 Fifth Street, Petaluma, and has taken $5 in stamps from an office desk.

Police said the thief gained entry Friday night by smashing a window with a hammer.

Bomb Threat Halts Classes

School and city officials evacuated Redwood High School and canceled evening classes last night after a telephoned bomb threat, Larkspur police reported.

Police said an elderly man called Corte Madera police at 7:03 p.m., said "Bomb at Redwood High School," and hung up.

Nicholas J. Gennaro, dean of the adult evening school, ordered classes closed and the school evacuated, and Larkspur police and firemen joined with school officials to search the building. Nothing was found in the two-and-one-half hour search.

A scheduled meeting of the Tamalpais High School District board on teacher salary negotiations was delayed by the bomb threat but proceeded after the search.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Dickens' Keen Eye For Man's Ailments: The Drowsy Fat Boy

THE FAT boy in Charles Dickens' "Pickwick Papers" comes to life now and then in medical journals.

Dickens was a keen observer and described many physical and mental disorders with the eye of an expert. Mr. Wardle's boy, Joe, is an example.

Mr. Lowton went to answer a knock on the door. There he saw "a wonderfully fat boy. . .standing up right on the mat with his eyes closed as if in sleep."

MODERN VERSIONS of this character are extremely fat, varying in weight from 250 to 400 pounds. These individuals fall asleep at the drop of a hat. The skin is livid, due to too many red blood corpuscles and hemoglobin (polycythemia). They are short of breath because the chest is crowded by fat.

A 51-year-old business executive, who always had been on the heavy side, encountered a series of anxieties.

As his frustrations mounted, he began to eat more heartily. With each additional pound gained, his listlessness and breathing difficulty grew worse. Ultimately, his ankles began to swell.

He fell asleep on the job so often that he had trouble distinguishing between reality and dreams.

ON ONE OCCASION he dozed off while playing poker and failed to notice he had a full house. It was this oversight that made him seek medical advice.

These obese, somnolent persons usually respond to a low calorie diet. It is surprising how well they feel after shedding a few pounds.

As a rule, damage to the heart is not permanent, and complete recovery usually occurs when the patient cooperates with his physician. This is more likely to happen if he appreciates the cause.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

SILVER ANTISEPTIC

REPLY

No. Years ago, mild silver proteins such as Argyrol were used for their antiseptic and astringent action. Modern remedies have a more specific action against bacteria and other microorganisms. Antibiotics, such as penicillin and the sulfonamides, are in this category. One objection to these silver products, besides their inefficiency in controling infection, is that skin discoloration (Argyria) may follow their continued, long term use.

A KIDNEY DISORDER

M. S. writes: What is glomerulonephritis?

REPLY

Bright's disease, a kidney disorder. The acute variety is more common in childhood. The condition is manifested by puffiness of the face, elevation of the blood pressure, and a reduced output of urine. Diagnosis is made through urinalysis. Luckily, 90 per cent of the children recover. The chronic type smolders for years.

LETTERS AND FLU

Mrs. E. I. writes: Will you accept a letter written by a person who has the flu?

REPLY

Yes, but we hope you are fully recovered by the time you receive our answer. Influenza is not spread through contaminated letters. It is a disease that is caused by viruses and these critters cannot survive for long outside a living cell.

STANDING ON HEAD

REPLY

No, and if it were, I am sure we would hang by our feet from trees when sleeping, or stand on the head when relaxed at home or waiting for a bus. We are animals that walk, stand, and sit upright. Furthermore, our circulatory and nervous systems have developed to accommodate this position.

Sonoma Team To U.N. 'Session'

A 20-student delegation from the Model United Nations at Sonoma State College was scheduled to leave today to participate in the Model United Nations Conference of the Far West at the University of Oregon, Eugene, Ore.

The Sonoma State College delegation will represent three countries, South Africa, Swaziland and Botswana.

John Harrington, a senior political science major, will lead the Botswana delegation, Marty Eyestone, the South Africa delegation, and Annette Lombardi, the Seaziland delegation.

Jury Trial Set

Vernon Robert Solomon, 34, of San Francisco, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of burglarizing a Mill Valley residence on June 28, 1969. A jury trail was set for the week of May 25.

Shouts At Envoy Lead To Arrests

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Four demonstrators shouting insults at the American ambassador were arrested outside the Royal Palace today, a police spokesman said.

The new U.S. ambassador, Dr. Jerome H. Holland, 54, a Negro, was enroute to the palace in a horse drawn, gold decorated carriage to present his credentials to King Gustaf VI when the arrests were made.

The arrests took place several minutes before the arrival of the ambassador. The estimated 30 demonstrators were kept 50 yards away from the carriage.

Holland is the first U.S. ambassador to Sweden in 14 months.

Plant Sale In May

The plant sale of the Chrysanthemum Society of Marin will be held May 16, not April 16, as erroneously announced in the Independent Journal yesterday.

(e) On the ballots to be used at said primary election and said special municipal bond election hereby consolidated therewith, in addition to all other matters required by law to be printed thereon, shall appear the measures, and each of them, set forth in Section 1 hereof. Each voter may vote on any or all of said measures. Each voter to vote for any measure hereby submitted and for incurring said bonded indebtedness shall stamp a cross (+) in the blank space opposite the word "YES" on the ballot to the right of said measure, and to vote against any measure and against incurring said indebtedness shall stamp a cross (+) in the blank space opposite the word "NO" on the ballot to the right of said measure, except that if and to the extent that Votomatic ballot cards are used at said elections, each voter to vote for any measure hereby submitted and for incurring said bonded indebtedness shall punch the ballot card in the hole after the word "YES" to the right of said measure, and to vote against any measure and against incurring said indebtedness shall punch the ballot card in the hole after the word "NO" to the right of said measure. On absent voter ballots the cross (+) may be marked with pen or pencil, except that if and to the extent that data vote ballot cards are provided for absent voters, each absent voter shall punch the ballot card in the hole after the word "YES" to the right of each measure or in the hole after the word "NO" to the right of each measure. Absent voter ballots setting forth said measures, and each of them shall be issued to qualified electors residing within the City entitled thereto, in the manner provided by law, and such absent voter ballots shall likewise be canvassed, or caused to be canvassed, by the Board of Supervisors of said County.

(f) At the next regular meeting of the Council occurring after the returns of said special municipal bond election have been canvassed, or caused to be canvassed, by the Board of Supervisors of said County, and the certification of the results thereof to the Council, or at a special meeting called thereafter for such purpose, the Council shall cause to be spread upon its minutes a statement of the results of said special municipal bond election as ascertained by said canvass.

Section 3. The Council proposes to issue and sell bonds of the City for the objects and purposes, but not exceeding the amount, specified in said respective measures if two thirds of the qualified electors voting on each separate measure at said special municipal bond election shall vote in favor of each of said measures; provided, however, that the votes cast for and against each of said respective measures shall be counted separately and, when two-thirds of the qualified electors voting on any one of said measures vote in favor thereof, such measure shall be deemed adopted and bonds of the City in the aggregate amount specified in the measure or measures which carried by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the qualified electors of the City voting on said measure or measures at said election shall thereby be authorized to be issued and sold for the objects and purposes specified in said measure or measures which received such affirmative two-thirds vote.

Said bonds shall be negotiable in form and of the character known as serial, and shall bear interest at a rate not to exceed seven percent (7) per annum, payable semiannually (except that interest for the first year after the date of said bonds may be made payable at or before the end of said year). Provision is hereby made for the payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds as follows: At the time of making the general tax levy after incurring the bonded indebtedness, and annually thereafter until the bonds are paid or until there is a sum in the treasury set apart for that purpose sufficient to meet all payments of principal and interest on the bonds as they become due, the Council shall levy and collect a tax sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds and such part of the principal as will become due before the proceeds of a tax levied at the next general tax levy will be available; provided, however, that if said bonds are authorized to be issued at said election, and it is expected that all or any part of said bonds will be sold at such time that the principal of or interest on such bonds will become due before the proceeds of a tax levied after such sale would be available to pay such principal or interest, the Council, at the time of fixing the annual tax levy, may levy a tax in an amount clearly sufficient to pay that portion of the principal of and interest on said bonds which it is expected will become due before the proceeds of the next succeeding tax levy will be available. If the earliest maturity of the bonds is more than one year after the date of issuance, the Council shall levy and collect annually a tax sufficient to pay the interest as it falls due and to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal on or before maturity. Such taxes shall be levied and collected as other City taxes and shall be in addition to all other taxes and shall be used only for payment of the bonds and the interest thereon.

Section 4. The City Clerk of the City is hereby directed (a) to publish this ordinance once in full in the Independent-Journal, which is a newspaper of general circulation published in the City, at least three days before its adoption, and (b), upon the passage and adoption of this ordinance, to publish the same once a day for at least seven (7) days in the Independent-Journal, which is a newspaper of general circulation published at least six (6) days a week in the City, and such publication shall constitute notice of said election. No other notice of the election hereby called need be given.

Section 5. This ordinance shall be forthwith entered upon the minutes of the Council and in the Ordinance Book of the City. This ordinance, being an ordinance calling and ordering an election, shall take effect from and after its final passage and approval.

Manson Is Held Killer Of Musician

The bearded long-haired Manson, the accused mastermind of those slayings, is awaiting trial on seven counts of murder. Previous witnesses had testified that Beausoleil killed Hinman with a Bowie knife. At his first trial, which ended in a hung jury, Beausoleil did not take the stand.

He told the jury he went to Hinman's home with two female members of the cult to try to force him to give $20,000 to the family. He said he telephoned Manson at the cult hangout at the Spahn Ranch and told him Hinman had offered to give only $100 or $200.

Manson came to Hinman's home looking "very fierce and very keyed up," Beausoleil said. The defendant said Manson slashed the bagpipe musician across the face with a sword and beat him over the head with the hilt.

Manson left, Beausoleil said, but came back a second time and talked with the musician about moving to the ranch, becoming a member of the family and "living like a king."

When Hinman said he didn't want to give up his Buddist sect or his friends, Beausoleil said Manson pulled out a knife and stabbed him twice in the stomach.

McCunniff said the appointment of the new superintendent will be announced as soon as the trustees reach a decision.

TV REVIEW

The Nation Gets Word On Apollo

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UIP) — Televiewers who already had grown blase about coverage of manned moon flights were shaken late Monday night and early today when a dangerous situation developed on the latest lunar mission.

Network bulletins, and then lengthy and continuous coverage, grew into a dramatic and sometimes nightmarish middle-of-the-night news story across the nation as it was confirmed that a mishap had affected the power and oxygen supply aboard the command module of Apollo 13.

In a news briefing televised live by all three networks, a space-flight spokesman said it was "as serious a situation as we have ever had."

LOUD AND CLEAR

As the developing reports indicated that the connecting lunar module, apparently in good working order, would serve a sort of "lifeboat" function for the three astronauts, televiewers used to impersonal technical jargon suddenly got the message loud and clear: The lives of the astronauts now were of more immediate concern than the obviously flawed mission.

Quick confirmation of this fact came when it was announced that the two scheduled, lengthy moonwalks that were to be televised back to earth later this week were canceled, that the mission in effect had been aborted, and that Apollo 13 now was aiming for a more rapid return that would bring a splashdown Friday.

What this also meant, of course, was that televiewers will be glued to their sets during the nervous, cirtical period until Friday, keeping up with the return flight, and realizing that there is no reason to be blase when men are in space.

HIGH DRAMA

The middle-of-the-night video coverage reached a point of understated high drama as watchers viewed, and heard, mission control exchanging comments on the crisis with the astronauts.

But the televised news briefing was perhaps even more riveting as reporters drew fact after tensely-spoken fact from three space-flight spokesmen in an extended session. One of these facts, according to one of the spokesman, was that if the situation continued in its present condition, with no more adverse problems, he was confident the astronauts would be brought back safely.

Another point brought out at the video briefing was that if the lunar and command modules had already reached a point in the mission where they had separated—say, in a rendezvous situation, with the command module circling the moon—it would have been "a fatal situation."

Thus, as the tension built and viewers wondered what would happen next, the networks stayed on, and the nation watched.

Nixon Requests More Park Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has proposed increasing federal spending to acquire new parks and recreation from $200 million to $300 million a year in fiscal 1971.

A spokesman told the House Interior Committee that the funds would "bring parks to people."

"We believe it is urgent that we act now to provide additional recreational opportunity, particularly in view of the high rate of development and the rapid escalation of land prices," said Harrison Loesch, assistant secretary of interior.

Bobby Gentry, Tycoon Split Up

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Married less than four months, composer-singer Bobbie Gentry and William Harrah, who operates Nevada's richest gambling empire, have separated.

The 27-year-old country singer wed the shy casino owner Dec. 18 in a quiet church ceremony conducted amid much secrecy. Afterward she and her 58-year-old bridegroom took off in his private jet for a honeymoon in Idaho and Europe.

The breakup was confirmed here Monday by Miss Gentry's agent, Michael Merrick Co., ending weeks of rumors. Her lawyers, however, have denied she plans a divorce.

The marriage was her first and his third.

'A PROBLEM HERE!'

Astronauts Keep Cool In Crisis

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—Never once, in the greatest crisis of their lives, in a danger that had materialized only in fiction, did the Apollo 13 astronauts lose their cool.

"Hey, we've got a problem here!"

Even that first cry of alarm, across 202,000 miles of space, was restrained, though urgent.

They'd finished a television show—such standard fare for a jaded public that none of the television networks made time for it. Mission control saw it and congratulated them on it. Now the ground was giving instructions for positioning the spacecraft to look for the comet Bennett.

"Hey, we've got a problem here." It was James A. Lovell Jr., the spacecraft commander, the only human to make four trips into space.

"This is Houston, say again please."

"Houston, we've had a problew. We've had a main B bust interval."

A power failure! An imbalance in the intricate system that gives oxygen and direction and the fragile voice lifeline to the ground.

By the very laws of the universe they challenged and used, their spacecraft continued on to the moon as indeed it would even if their ship were a derelict.

Many hours before they had forsaken the relative safety of a "free return" that would have required only the pull of the moon and the earth to put them back on earth. Deliberately they had changed the course so Lovell and Fred W. Haise Jr., could land on the moon.

"We're looking at it." A hundred experts on the ground, others quickly summoned. But advice was all that was possible to help three men in a disabled ships.

"Okay, right now, Houston, the voltage is looking good. And we had a pretty large bang associated with the caution and warning there."

"Roger Fred." Fred Haise, a first-timer in space. Beside him John L. Swigert Jr., also a rookie, but more so, an emergency substitute on the flight.

"It's a gas of some sort." They could see it out of their window. Droplets that turned into snow and drifted off like feathers from a molting bird.

The gas, it turned out, was their oxygen; a commodity on which their very lives depend.

Back and forth, across the miles, spun the questions, the numbers, the readings. Crisp and cool. Urgent, but not panicked.

"Okay, 13, we've got lots and lots of people working on this, we'll get you some dope as soon as we have it and you'll be the first to know."

"Oh, thank you."

Nobody said it but they knew and the ground knew that now there was no possibility of landing on the moon. Now the only thing was to use the power that remained — the power that would have set them on the lunar surface — to get back to earth.

"I didn't think I'd be back this soon," said Haise, who would have been the sixth human to touch the moon.

Mission Control held a conference for newsmen. Enough oxygen and electrical power, said the experts. It will be close, but they'll get home if nothing else bad happens.

Like kissing cousins the command ship Odyssey and the lunar lander Aquarius continued on to the moon. Now for Aquarius there was not the noble voyage to the highlands of the moon, nor the splendor of being crashed empty against its surface in the name of science.

Now they were plundering her holds for the oxygen they'd need to sustain them on a four-day journey back to earth, more than ever full of risks.

Cotati Trustees To Review Staff

The Cotati School District board is expected tonight to learn how many teachers wish to remain in the district for the 1970-71 year in order for it to determine whether staff cuts will be needed.

The board meeting will begin at 7:30 in the district office.

Supt. Duncan A. Coleman has told the board the district is faced with diminishing enrollment and the prospect of lower state and federal aid.

Nixon Keeps Watch; Has High Praise

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon was described today as concerned over the troubles of the Apollo 13 astronauts but "enormously impressed" by the way those involved in the space mission responded to the emergency situation.

After learning of the space craft's troubles, the President instructed members of his staff to keep him closely informed of all developments.

He talked twice directly today with Dr. Thomas O. Paine, the U.S. space chief, at mission control headquarters in Houston for direct reports. The first call was at about 8:45 a. m. and the second one as he began private conversations with visiting Danish Prime Minister Hilmar Baunsgaard.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon was "concerned, of course as are all Americans and people throughout the world for the safe return of Apollo 13."

He said Nixon told him he was "enormously impressed by the way the NASA organization responded to the crisis" and felt that "this kind of technical proficiency and coolness" was the best way to assure the safe return of the spacemen.

Ziegler said Nixon "will be following progress of the Apollo's return" and the difficulties being experienced by astronauts James Lovell, Fred Haise and John Swigert.

Two of Nixon's aides, H. R. Haldeman and Henry A. Kissinger kept in touch with space headquarters throughout the three critical events — discovery of the problem in the fuel cells, the decision to abort the mission and the successful firing of the Apollo 13 engines to put it into a trajectory to bring it back to earth.

"He has instructed the members of the White House staff to follow the events through mission control," Ziegler said.

Juvenile Staff To Study Case

The case of Nicki Lee Heller, 19, of Novato, has been referred to probation officials for a report on whether she is acceptable to Marin Juvenile Court.

Miss Heller, who is accused of shoplifting and possessing marijuana, was told to return to municipal court April 27.

She was arrested March 30 in a Novato drug store.

Radio Stolen

A $30 transistor radio was stolen Friday or Saturday from The Pottery Shop, 3 Lovell Avenue, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Wives Face Flight's Failure Very Calmly

TIMBER COVE, Tex. (UPI) —Marilyn Lovell and Mary Haise, who have lived for months with the possibility their husbands might sometime be marooned in space, faced the failure of Apollo 13 today with deep disappointment but nerves of steel.

"There were no tears," said NASA protocol officer Charles Bauer at the Haise House. Mrs. Haise is seven months pregnant.

Mrs. Lovell was "glued to the squawk box" but "composed," said Bob McMurrey at the fog-shrouded home of Apollo 13 Commander James A. Lovell on Glenn Bayou.

"Sure she's worried," Bauer said. "But she hasn't expressed any fear for his safety."

Mrs. Lovell, whose smile and quick greeting has made her one of the most popular astronaut wives, spent the tense hours listening to the air-to-ground communications with neighbor Charles "Pete" Conrad and his wife, Sue, at her side.

"I'm disappointed that they can't land on the moon and my only concern now is that they can safely return home," Mrs. Lovell said.

Conrad, who led the successful moon landing mission of Apollo 12, told Mrs. Lovell of the ad news after being called by NASA officials.

The Conrads came over on Pete's red motorcycle. Asked if he were concerned about the safety of the Apollo 13 crew, Conrad replied "Nah."

Neil A. Armstrong, the first man on the moon, hurried to the home of Mrs. Haise five houses away to reassure her during the waiting period. Alan L. Bean, who landed with Conrad on Apollo 12, also came over and drew her a diagram of how the spacecraft will circle the moon and return to earth.

Mrs. Haise, who had learned of the trouble from a bulletin "didn't seem upset like you might expect somebody getting a flash like that," the protocol officer said.

"She soon heard from (Deke) Slayton that there has been no personal danger," Bauer said.

"Then she was on the telephone talking to Fred's mother who is alone in Biloxi, Miss., and called her own parents," Bauer said. "She was the one who was doing the reassuring that everything was under control."

Mrs. Lovell called their oldest son, James A. Lovell Jr., 15, who is attending St. John's Military Academy at Delafield, Wis. He was asleep, however, and she asked officials not to wake him. Jeff, 4, the Lovell's youngest son, also was asleep. The two girls, Barbara, 16, and Susie, 11, were told before they went to bed.

Fred Haise, 11, and his brother, Steve, 8, also were asleep before the trouble developed and Mrs. Haise did not awaken them.

Swigert's sister, Mrs. Philip Spenille of Fort Collins, Colo., a priest and two sisters of his mother were with the Swigerts.

Registration For Kindergarten

Registration for next fall's kindergarten students in San Anselmo will be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. tomorrow, school officials said today.

Parents must bring proof their children were born on or before Dec. 2, 1965, and proof they have received measles and polio immunization. If parents' religious beliefs are against immunizations, the district will accept a signed statement requesting exception, administrative assistant Rulon H. Cook said.

Classes will be limited to 30 pupils, and enrollment will be taken in numerical order. Pupils registered above 30 will be bused to the next nearest school where space is available.

Registration will be at Brookside, Isabel Cook, Sleepy Hollow, Wade Thomas and Yolansdale schools.

Napa Man Cut In Car Mishap

A passenger, Lee G. Ray, 41, of Napa, sustained a cut forehead in a two-car collision on Hetherton and Third streets Sunday, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

The accident occurred at 10:17 a.m. when a car driven by Elizabeth M. Locati, 20, of 126 Van Tassel Court, San Anselmo ran a flashing red light and was struck by a car driven by Dean J. Morris, 49, of Napa, police said.

There was no report of Ray, a passenger in the Morris car, having received treatment at local hospitals.

A Meteoroid Could Have Ruined Trip

SEDONA, Ariz. (UPI)—One of the world's foremost meteoriticists said today the blast that knocked out Apollo 13's electrical system may have been caused by a small meteoroid.

Dr. Harvey Nininger, collector of the famed "Nininger Collection" of meteorites said he could not prove his theory, but told UPI:

"My opinion is that's what happened."

Weight was added to the theory by James McDivitt, Apollo spacecraft program manager and a former Apollo astronaut, who said:

"It was something that appeared to be quite violent that occurred in Bay Four (of the spaceship). And if it were struck by a meteorite, that would be quite violent. I wouldn't say that's what happened, but we won't rule it out."

Nininger, 83, who spent 40 years collecting the meteorites he ultimately sold to the space agency, said he had long feared a manned spacecraft would be hit, but still feels man must press on in space.

"We have pretty good evidence that at least one unmanned spacecraft . . . believe that it was one of the Mariners . . . was hit two or three times before it reached its destination," Nininger said.

He said the solar cells aboard the Mariner apparently were destroyed by the violent strikes.

License Plates May Aid Ecology

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—California car owners would be able to obtain personalized license plates for an extra $10 fee under a bill approved Monday by the Senate Transportation Committee.

The measure, authored by Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, and backed by Gov. Ronald Reagan, was sent to the Finance Committee without opposition.

Revenue produced by the fee would be deposited in the Environment Protection Program Fund created by the measure to finance environment preservation efforts.

First Crisis So Far From Earth

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—There have been crises in space before, but never with three men and never so far, so very far, from home.

James A. Lovell Jr., John L. Swigert Jr. and Fred W. Haise Jr. are more than 200,000 miles away from earth and they must go farther away before they can start home.

Earlier space crises occurred in orbit of the earth, never more than a few hours from safety.

Apollo 13 is four days from earth, four days of diminishing oxygen supplies and diminishing electrical power.

It was on America's second manned space flight that it had its first space scare.

Astronaut Virgil I. Grissom rode the Mercury spacecraft Liberty Bell 7 in a 15-minute suborbit flight in July 1961.

Grissom had to swim for his life in his awkward spacesuit. He was quickly picked up and lived to name his next spacecraft, Gemini 3, "the Unsinkable Molly Brown."

America got two other space scares in the Mercury program.

During the orbital flight of John H. Glenn Jr., the first American to orbit the earth, Mission Control got an indication that a rocket package had broken loose and possibly would not work. Without it, Glenn would have been trapped in orbit.

The rocket worked, and he landed safely.

The second time an American went into orbit, he came back to earth and was promptly lost in the Atlantic Ocean.

M. Scott Carpenter, on board the Aurora 7 mercury craft, in 1962, landed far beyond the planned ocean landing zone. Ships searched for hours before he was found, waiting patiently on his emergency raft.

In 1966, two American astronauts came with three seconds of death on Gemini 8.

The astronauts, Neil Armstrong and David Scott, completed a space rendezvous with an unmanned Agena rocket. Only minutes later, their craft began to spin out of control.

Faster and faster it whirled through space until the rotation speed built up to a revolution per second.

Armstrong, who was later to gain fame as the first man to walk the moon, finally stopped the spin by firing a re-entry rocket.

Mission Control ordered the spacecraft to return to earth and it made a safe emergency landing in the Pacific Ocean.

American's only space-related deaths occurred on earth.

Three astronauts perished in January, 1967 when their Apollo 1 spacecraft interior caught fire while they were conducting tests on a Cape Kennedy launch pad. They were Grissom, Edward White and Roger Chaffee.

The fire forced a major redesign of the spacecraft to make it virtually fireproof.

He died when the parachute system of his Soyuz 1 spacecraft failed during a 1967 flight. The spacecraft smashed into the earth.

Search Leads To Suspected Sellers Of Pot

Narcotics agents armed with a search warrant raided a Sausalito apartment yesterday afternoon and arrested the two occupants after finding plastic bags of suspected marijuana apparently ready for sale.

Booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of having pot for sale were Marc Roger Olson and Gerald Wayne Lahr, both of 7 Excelsior Lane. Lahr posted $2,500 bail and was to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow. Olson remained in jail in lieu of the same amount of bail and was to appear in court today.

The agents said that they found 26 bags of suspected marijuana as well as a large paper sack of what appeared to be marijuana stems. Lahr, who was home alone when the agents arrived, said that Olson, his roomate was upstairs in another apartment. The agents said Olson was smoking what appeared to be a pot cigarette when he answered the door of the other apartment.

One agent said that during the time the officers were in the apartment, about a dozen persons knocked on the door but were not arrested.

Drug Lecture

Inspector William Burgess of the drug abuse bureau of the Marin County Sheriff's Department, will speak on the topic "Drugs and You" at a public meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, 375 Calle Arboleda, Loma Verde.

Casper: I Just Get Better With Age

AUGUSTA, GA. (AP) — Bill Casper tipped all his listeners. It was 50 minutes before the first Monday shot rang out at Augusta National club's mammoth pines. The other side hadn't even put on its spiked shoes.

"Gene Littler played better golf at age 19 than he does now," said Casper, the game's onetime fat boy. "Me? I get better with age."

PROVED POINT

Four holes after the two-man war began, Casper had proved his point. It was all but over. Buffalo Bill was ahead by four strokes and all Littler did on the back nine was make it a bearable afternoon for late-tuning television customers.

Casper shot 69 and won his first Masters. He wore the famed coat of green. Littler had a 74 and wore short sleeves.

'59 AND '66

Casper won the Opens of 1959 and 1966, beating Arnold Palmer in a come-from-behind playoff in the latter. He has never won the PGA championship or the British Open, but has joined Palmer and Jack Nicklaus as golf's only golfing millionaire.

"A grand slam today is impossible--or next to it," said Casper. "It was something 20 or 30 years ago, but there are three times as many fine golfers now. The odds against it are astounding."

Casper will try anyway. He announced plans to play in the remainder of the Big Four, the U.S. and British Opens and the PGA.

Casper was a relaxed champion, looking as if he felt he belonged in that green coat--even though it was three sizes to big.

SKINNIER

"They must have measured it for me when I weighed 240," he said. "Hey, fellows, I'm skinnier now." Skinnier, yes, but the San Diego neighbor of Littler appears to have added back about 15 of the some 60 pounds he dropped on his famed diet a few years ago.

Despite playing Monday under sultry, 82-degree skies, Casper marched around the slopes of Augusta National in a thick sweater. "I like to keep my muscles warm," he said. "You won't catch me in short sleeves too often. I like being warm."

"I never three-putted a green, so that's about as well as I can stroke it," said the man who is known for his work with the blade. "My caddy, Mathew Palmer, was as important as anything to my victory. He is a master at reading the greens."

NAME CHANGE

Mathew, who doffed his cap along with Casper to accept thunderous cheers at the 18th green, said he was thinking of changing his name from Palmer to Casper.

Casper was greeted by his wife, Shirley, and their son, little Billy. There are six other offsprings back home in California, four of them adopted by the highly-religious Mormon family.

The Augusta National course was never supposed to be built for Casper's type of golf. It was popular to say it was best for the Palmers and Nicklauses. But Casper picked up a new, light-steel driver last week and it added more than 30 yards to his tee shots.

"I played a different golf course this week than I ever have before at Augusta National," he said. "I was hitting wedges where I once hit eight irons. It makes a new ball game."

Jackson Gets Key Hit In A's Win

JIM GILMARTIN

And In This Corner Is Carl 'Bozo' Olson

Sound like a good name for a fighter? It should, because Bozo's father is none other than Carl "Bobo" Olson, the former middleweight champion of the world.

Well, you'll be hearing and reading about the father-son team in boxing circles soon because Bobo will train Bozo in a professional boxing career that should be officially announced shortly.

Tim O'Donohue, a Marin County property developer, will sponsor Bozo's ring career and Al Schaff, an executive of Young America Homes of Santa Rosa, will serve as consultant.

"Young Bozo looks like he might be a good one," said Schaff. "He has the desire, that's for sure. Also, he's a middleweight, just like his dad. He did some boxing in the Army and scored seven kayoes in seven fights. The kid has four Purple Hearts from Vietnam. Like his dad, he's a fighter all the way."

Will Be Working Out In Napa

Bobo Olson is now living in Bennett Valley near Santa Rosa and will use "Newsboy" Joe Gavras' gymnasium over in Napa as Bozo's fight headquarters.

Unitl recently, Bobo Olson was recreation director for the Operating Engineers Union near Santa Rosa. At 41, he still keeps in good shape, doing three and one-half miles or road work every morning.

First Bobo Olson. Now Bozo Olson. The name should ring a bell.

GRAND PRIX driver Dan Gurney and longtime racing promoter J.C. Agajanian will be named to the Sears Point International Raceway board of directors shortly.

I asked Aggie about the rumor Sunday and he replied: "We're very close to an agreement. Yes, Gurney and I are to be named directors at the same time but I have no announcement to make. We're going to let the speedway people (Sears Point) make the announcement when the time comes."

Time Out For A Cigarette

UNTIL SUNDAY I didn't know race drivers smoked cigarettes during competition, but United States Auto Club stock car champion and Indianapolis veteran Roger McCluskey admitted he puffed three cigs en route to his 200-mile victory at Sears Point Sunday. The USAC chief steward "lit the smoking lamp" during the yellow caution flag laps and Roger puffed away.

And all that time I thought that was dirty exhaust.

McCluskey, a personable type, laughed that he once drove a stock car whose owner was such a cigarette fiend that he had a built-in lighter on the dash board and cigs taped to the dash.

Bristol Takes Blame

OAKLAND (AP) — It isn't often that a manager takes the blame for losing a baseball game, but Milwaukee's Dave Bristol was willing to do it Monday night.

"I tried to protect a victory for our starting pitcher and I ended up losing the game," he said after the Oakland Athletics nipped the Brewers 2-1.

Rather than walk Jackson to load the bases and set up a force play, Bristol had O'Donoghue pitch to Jackson. Reggie lined a single to centerfield to bring in two runs.

"I wanted the left-handed pitcher for Jackson," Bristol said. "There were two left-handed batters coming up and he got one of them out—the wrong one."

NO COMMENT

Manager John McNamara of Oakland wouldn't comment on the Milwaukee strategy.

"I have enough trouble worrying about my own team," he said.

McNamara also brought in a relief pitcher but it worked out perfectly. Diego Segui struck out four batters in the final two innings to save a victory for Jim Hunter.

Hunter allowed only two hits in seven innings before leaving the game for a pinch-hitter. Tito Francena singled for Hunter, moved to third on a a single by Rick Monday, and eventually scored on Jackson's hit.

McNamara would have liked Hunter to pitch the entire game. "The game is played without emotion. I don't care which pitcher gets the victory as long as we do," he said.

The A's victory was their first in four games and snapped a three-game winning streak for Milwaukee.

Commissioner Kennedy Hits Guerin With $1,000 Fine

ATLANTA (AP)—"There'll be a lot of blood spilt on that floor," said a tough-talking Atlanta Hawks Coach Richie Guerin, but National Basketball Association Commissioner Walter Kennedy talked tougher—$1,000 worth.

Guerin called a press conference Monday afternoon to charge that officials deliberately protected Elgin Baylor and Jerry West Sunday afternoon as they helped the Los Angeles Lakers to a 119-115 victory over the Hawks in the first game of Western Division final playoffs.

"If that's the way they're going to call the game, Baylor and West won't be around to shoot 18 or 20 fouls," Guerin said.

'INCONCEIVABLE'

"It is inconceivable to me," said Kennedy, that any coach in any sport, even under the most severe emotional strain, would threaten 'there will be a lot of blood spilled on that floor tomorrow night' and that 'certain players may not be around when the game is over'."

Kennedy then announced that he is fining Guerin $1,000 and holding Guerin personally responsible for the conduct of his Hawks in the second game of the best of seven series tonight in Atlanta and for the rest of the playoffs.

Guerin replied that he would appeal the fine and that his "players aren't going to be pushed around again, that's for sure."

Meanwhile, Lakers General Manager Fred Schaus refused to "dignify" Guerin's charges with a reply, but said he was going to request increased security at the coliseum in Atlanta tonight around the players bench and between the floor and the dressing room.

NEVER KNOW

"You never know afte a statement like that what some fan will do," Schaus said.

The winner of the Hawks-Lakers series will meet the winner of the Eastern Division playoffs between New York and Milwaukee. Monday, the Knicks edged the Bucks 112-111 to take a 2-0 lead in that series.

Guerin said that many persons have told him that Sunday's officiating was the "biggest disgrace that they've ever witnessed in sports."

TAMPERING VIOLATIONS

Dolphins Lose No. 1 Choice

NEW YORK (AP) — In gaining a new coach, the Miami Dolphins have lost their No. 1 draft choice for 1971 to the Baltimore Colts.

Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League, handed down that penalty Monday to the Dolphins when he found the club guilty of tampering in its successful effort to lure Don Shula away from the Colts.

Rozelle said his investigation uncovered that Miami had violated league rules on three counts.

They permitted a third party to approach Shula with an indication of possible terms, including part ownership; they began direct negotiations with Shula without informing the Colts of their interest until Feb. 18, the day Shula's hiring was announced.

Rozelle said neither Shula nor the Dolphins told the Colts of their negotiations until preliminary discussions had already begun.

When Shula requested permission to negotiate, Rozelle said, it was granted by the Baltimore management on Feb. 3. Rozelle said that NFL rules specifically require that a prospective employer make a direct phone call to the employer "for permission before any negotiating discussions took place."

AARON STILL YOUNG

S.F. In Rematch Against Braves

ATLANTA (AP) — "You don't hit a home run as far as he did if you're slowing down," Manager Clyde King of San Francisco said Monday night after Atlanta's Hank Aaron, a 36-year-old slugger, drilled a tape-measure blast into the third deck of Atlanta Stadium.

"The only way to pitch to him," King said, "is to walk him. I'm just kidding, of course," he quickly added.

No one knew how far it went, but estimates ranged from 450-500 feet.

"I didn't know how far it was going," Aaron said, "but I knew it was going out of the ball park. It probably was one of the hardest I ever hit but I don't know about it being the longest."

The homer, Aaron's third of the year and 557th of his career, staked Atlanta to a 2-0 lead en route to a 9-3 victory in the Braves' home opener.

A crowd of 37,181 watched the game, which was delayed 45 minutes in starting when a thundershower hit Atlanta.

Aaron, who drove home another run with a single in the Braves' five-run fourth, became only the third player to reach the third tier of the stadium.

"No, I haven't hit any up there in practice," he said, "but I never tried."

Aaron's blow, which came on a law fast ball from Frank Reberger, went to left. The others —one by the Giants' Willie McCovey and the other by Chicago's Willie Smith—were hit to right field last year.

Aaron, who says he's shooting for Babe Ruth's career record of 714 home runs, said he believed he was off to his best start since 1959 when he was batting close to .400 at the All-Star game break. He is now 12 for 26 in Atlanta's first seven games.

Tony Gonzalez swatted a two-run triple in the fourth when the Braves put together five hits for five runs.

The Giants hit Atlanta starter Pat Jarvis hard, but three double plays helped the Braves out of trouble. Bob Priddy, who relieved Jarvis held San Francisco to two hits over the final four innings.

Ask Giants, April Games Important In October

ATLANTA — It was here in Atlanta a year ago that the Giants got off to a miserable start in the 1969 baseball campaign. The Braves swept them in a three-game opening series. When the campaign ended six months later, it was precisely three games by which the Braves finished ahead of the second place Giants in the National League's Western Division.

NOW NO profound conclusion can be drawn from that other than the old truism that April ball games count equally in the standings with those in September and October. Except for opening day there isn't too much excitement about major league baseball races in April.

The Masters golf tournament, the Stanley Cup hockey matches and the pro basketball playoffs command the primary attention of the sports world. There still is plenty of time to take notice of baseball. After all, baseball is a 162-game affair, plus divisional championship playoffs now, before the big World Series show.

THE GIANTS, finishing No. 2 in 1969 for the fifth straight time, didn't lose the pennant in last year's opening series. Nobody would be foolish enough to argue that. In fact, the Giants didn't lose it at all. The Braves won it on Sept. 30 with their tenth consecutive stretch victory.

The race last season in the Western Divison was the closest five-club affair in baseball history. On Aug. 22 Cincinnati was in front by decimal points. The Reds' percentage was .5454. The Dodgers were .5447, the Giants .5440 and the Braves .539. Fifth-place Houston was two behind.

THEN THE Braves, having started strong with their opening series sweep of the Giants, finished strong with their 10-game streak.

What will happen this season may or may not be as dramatic in the stretch drive. The close 1969 race in the Western Divison was overshadowed by what went on in the Eastern Division where the Mets overtook the Cubs in spectacular style and then beat the Orioles in the World Series to become cinderella champions.

BASEBALL IN September receives its share of attention, particularly when the races are tight and as exciting as they were in 1969. And when the World Series gets under way everybody gives the game its due.

But any effort to stimulate excitement over April ball games, notwithstanding the fact they count equally with the more dramatic ones in September and October, is wasted.

However, don't tell team managers that.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

A check on wrist position should be made as you hold the ball. To keep the wrist properly straight and in the best relation to your hand, your right forefinger should be parallel to your forearm while holding the ball at address. Take a look before each bowl until this becomes automatic.

Sutton Hurls Two-Hitter At Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Los Angeles pitcher Don Sutton figures that God gave him the ability to get into the major leagues.

Sutton used that ability well Monday night, stopping the Houston Astros on only two hits as his Dodgers squeezed out a 2-0 victory.

"That's the only way I got here," said the curveballing Los Angeles righthander. "God gave me the ability for one reason, and that one reason is to pitch in the big leagues."

The Dodgers got only six hits themselves, but one of those was Andy Kosco's sixth-inning home run. It gave Sutton all the margin he really needed.

Denis Menke poked a double in the second inning for the Astros and Norm Miller started the sixth inning with a single. That's all the Astros could do at bat.

The victory gave Sutton a 1-1 record for the young season and was the Dodgers' second successive shutout after blowing the first five games of the campaign.

Kosco hit his homer off starter Denny Lemaster. To make sure in the ninth inning, Sutton slapped an infield single that drove in Jack Billingham.

Al Attles To Return As Coach

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors will have Al Attles back as their coach next season.

Owner Franklin Mieuli hopes he can soon say the same about Nate Thurmond and Rick Barry.

Attles, who took over from George Lee as coach of the National Basketball Association team near the end of the season, received what Mieuli said Monday was a "multi-year" contract.

"We feel that Al has passed the test and is qualified to head up the team for the next few years," said Mieuli Terms were not announced.

Attles, 33, may also be back as a player next season, but said he would rather coach full time. It all depends, he says, on how the team shapes up.

That, he admits, is anybody's guess. It depends on whether the NBA's rumored imminent merger with the rival American Basetball Association goes through.

If it does, it is likely that the well-traveled Barry, who began his pro career with the Warriors, would return to San Francisco.

Barry jumped to the ABA's Oakland Oaks two years ago. The club became the Washington Caps before the start of this season.

Thurmond, who announced his retirement after a knee injury during the season, had indicated he would return if Barry is there to help out on the front line.

Mieuli said it would be "imprudent" to comment on the possibility of a merger, but indicated it might happen soon.

"Within the next 30 days," the flamboyant owner said, "there will probably be all kinds of strange things happening and hopefully the Warriors won't always be on the losing end of those strange things."

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Jake Yoder's perfect 300 game Monday on 12 straight strikes gave him the regular singles lead with 744 in the American Bowling Congress tournament here.

Yoder, a 37-year-old carpenter foreman from Fort Wayne, Ind., took over in spectacular fashion from former Singles leader Art Cornelius of Syracuse, N.Y. His 300-game separated a 246 and 198 in a three game series.

It was the 22nd perfect game in the history of the 67-year-old tournament and the tournament was the fifth in which Yoder has rolled.

Al Southern Man Behind Marin Junior Ice Hockey

By RALPH CHATOIAN

The Marin Amateur Hockey Club has just completed a season which saw the youngsters more than double their number of the year before, and it's not going to stop there.

Before he took over as president of the group, it numbered about 40. There were more than 120 boys playing in four divisions this year and Southern expects this number to swell to 150 in the next year or two.

Expansion to include more youngsters, and even adults, is the aim of Southern, native of Portland, Ore. who didn't play much hockey himself but has always been a fan of the ice sport.

AL SOUTHERN
Hockey Fan

FOUR DIVISIONS

Currently there are four divisions — Beginners for learners of all ages, Squirt for boys 10 and under, Pee Wee for boys 12 and under, and Bantam for boys 14 and under. Southern says the club is hoping to start a Midget program for those 16 and under and also junior (18) and adult divisions.

Marin's team play their home games at Raydine Ice Skating rink in Corte Madera, and compete in the Northern California Junior Hockey Association against teams from Berkeley, San Francisco, Belmont, Santa Rosa and Sun Valley, near Walnut Creek.

To the hockey kids, it's a year-around season, even though league play ended Feb. 22. "From now until the next league year we'll be playing intramural games, and possibly some exhibition games with other teams," said Southern. "The basic idea of the league is to get the boys out skating. It gives them something to do, and they really have fun."

League games are played on Sundays, and Marin's teams practice on Saturdays, so it makes a full weekend of hockey for the youngsters.

BIG LEAGUE

Once or twice a month Shaun Wiltshire, owner of Wiltshire Towers Motel in San Rafael, packs the kids into his double-decker red bus for a trip to the Oakland Coliseum Arena for Seals' National Hockey League games.

The Marin Squirts team even got a chance to play in the arena last month, between the first and second periods of the Seals-Montreal Canadiens game, against the Belmont Squirts.

"Surprising enough, they weren't shook up as much as I thought they would be playing before all those people," said the 34-year-old Southern. "The only trouble was that the game lasted only five minutes and they sure wanted to play more."

They got another chance, however, playing an exhibition contest with the Belmont Squirts Easter Sunday in the Oakland Arena prior to the game between the Seals and Minnesota North Stars.

COACHES SQUIRTS

Southern is a sales representative for Edwards Dental Supply Co. of San Francisco. And in addition to being president of the Marin club for the second year, coaches the Mariners' Squirts team, the goalie of which is Jeff "Spike" Southern, his 10-year-old son. Al and wife Karen also have two daughters, Wendy, 12, and Sheri, 8.

"I feel the hockey program has been tremendously successful," Southern said. "We've got a group of at least 25 adults that has really helped make the program go. The cooperation has really been something."

MARIN PREP NOTES

Longest Win Streak Belongs To---Girls!

By DAVE EINSTEIN

The longest winning streak in Marin County does not belong to Redwood High School's basketball team, which has won 27 straight league games, nor to Tamalpais' golf team, undefeated in league competition for the past two seasons.

The distinction falls to San Domenico School for Girls in San Anselmo, which last Thursday racked up its 41st consecutive tennis victory, shutting out Holy Name school, 6-0.

It's been more than four years since coach Paul Wilkins' girls have tasted defeat. This year's squad consists of singles players Bee Kilgore, Darby Auerbach and Pam Winslow, and the doubles teams of Ann Bolcum — Jane Huber, Winnie Hamilton — Mary Ellen Yates, and Mary Ann Dohn — Shiela Maloney.

FRESHMAN phenom Rick Demont of Terra Linda, who began the season on the class B team, continues his assault on the swimming record books. Last Friday against Redwood he swam a 400 yard freestyle in 4 minutes, 8 seconds, third fastest in county history and a school record.

He just seems to get better with each meet, and should be at peak form for the Marin County Athletic League championships on Saturday, May 2 at Redwood.

WHO DO you know who celebrates his birthday by pitching a shutout and hitting a grand slam home run? Probably nobody, unless you happen to know Paul Kime, the Tamalpais senior who pulled off that combination last Friday against San Rafael.

Paul, who turned 18 Friday, also hit a double and drove in five runs. Perhaps the question should be asked: Just what was in that birthday cake?

DOUG McVICKAR may be the only high school student from this area who has a varsity letter for hockey. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm McVickar of Kentfield, Doug was recently awarded the letter for his participation on the hockey team at Lake Forest Academy near Chicago.

Several Class A Times Recorded In Swim Meet

Tracy Johnston of Dolphins of Marin turned in five "A" times and the San Rafael Swim Club accounted for 28 more at its Class B swimming meet Saturday and Sunday at College of Marin.

Three "AA" times were clocked on the day, by Moira McSweeney and Julie Waters of the San Rafael Swim Club, and Sheryl Cattan of the Marin Swim Club, which collected 17 "A" times.

BATTLE OF SUPER-CENTERS

Reed Is No Little Brother

NEW YORK (AP) — Willis Reed said he felt like "Lew Alcincor's kid brother" on the basketball court. Maybe . . . but he didn't play like his kid brother.

Reed took on Milwaukee's super rookie in a matchup of matchless centers and helped New York bounce the Bucks 112-111 Monday night in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

2-0 LEAD

The hard-earned victory propelled the Knicks into a 2-0 lead in the best-of-7 Eastern Division finals that move to Milwaukee for game No. 3 Friday night.

Los Angeles, holding a 1-0 lead in the Western finals, plays at Atlanta tonight.

After Reed and Alcindor played to a standoff, the 6-foot-10 New York center quipped: "Man, it must be great to be tall."

He alluded to Alcindor's height, listed as 7-1 in the programs. But on the court, the difference appears to be more than three inches.

"He's the toughest center to guard," said Reed of the Big A. "Right now, with (Wilt) Chamberlain hurting, I'd say Alcindor's the No. 1 center in the NBA."

If Alcindor is No. 1, then what about Reed? All he did Monday night was score 36 points, wrestle 19 rebounds away from the Bucks and play his usual 110 per cent.

"I can't remember a game in which we played better," said Reed of his season-long wars with Alcincor. "Yes . . . this had to be one of the most satisfying games of my career."

Coach Red Holzman of New York, pointing to Alcindor's 38 points and 23 rebounds, agreed: "It's hard to imagine guys putting on a better performance . . . they did about everything you could ask of centers."

Riordan, who had entered the game seconds earlier, plunked in a spectacular, reverse lay-up that gave the Knicks a 110-107 lead. And Russell, the hip-twisting forward, tossed in a key bucket and later two foul shots with 34 seconds to go that made it 112-109.

ALMOST GOAT

Russell, incidentally, was almost the goat when he missed a dunk shot with three minutes left. The Super Sub then came right back with a 15-foot jumper that made it 108-106 New York and kept the pressure on the Bucks.

"There's no excuse for missing that dunk," said Russell, peeling off tape and dumping it on the floor like an old onion shell. "But those two foul shots at the end gave me a chance to nullify all the bad things I did."

Alcindor earlier missed two foul shots with 50 seconds to go that could have given Milwaukee the lead. The Bucks were losing 110-109.

What about Alcindor's misses, Cazzie?

"Forget about it," he retorted, "I'm still thinking about the shot I missed. I'm just grateful that we won."

Rough Going Ahead For Pan American

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I purchased several shares of Pan American at an average of $28. I don't need the income now; should I sell?—C.H.; Bought Pan American at $30, should I sell?—T.L.; To date I have a substantial loss in Pan Am. What do you advise?—N.W.

A. The immediate prospects for Pan Am shares are not encouraging. For the first time since 1959 PN reported an operating deficit last year. Preliminary results indicated a net loss of $25 million compared with 1968's profit of $49 million. Loss per share was 73 cents versus earnings of $1.46 for 1968. Inflationary costs, labor problems, increased competition from domestic carriers and traffic advantages permitted to supplemental airlines were major factors contributing to the loss.

Although Pan Am aims to make the going at least better for 1970, it will be rough flying in this period of industrywide transition. A strict economy program has been undertaken. Unprofitable fights have been eliminated, resulting in labor cutbacks; federal approval has been obtained for Caribbean fare increases and the first 747s have been put into operation.

The 747 service has been initiated on transpacific flights to boost PN's deteriorating position here. Although the addition of 24 747s to its international routes will bolster traffic, the planes' seating capacities will largely offset any improvement in the load factor. Thus, a real earnings pickup is not expected until the mid-'70s.

Q. I would appreciate information regarding Lykes-Youngstown $2.50 convertible preferred and its future.—O.H.

A. Lykes convertible preferred has come down sharply, due to weak market conditions and higher money rates. In general, market recovery for the common shares should also be reflected in convertible preferred price levels. Your issue merits long-term retention for its generous yield as well as for its growth potential. While 1969 results were not exciting, good earnings progress is forecast for the 1972-1974 period. Recovery is expected for the steel business and shipping operations continue to look promising.

Franchising Tie-Ins Illegal, U.S. Jury Rules

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Tie-in arrangements between a fast-food franchise chain and its dealers are unlawful, a U. S. District Court jury has ruled.

The jury's decision was given in a suit by Chicken Delight dealers against Chicken Delight, Inc., and its parent company, Consolidated Foods Corp., both based in Chicago. Both companies plan to appeal.

Michael Khourie, the lawyer for the dealers, claimed the verdict will have far reaching effects in the fast-foods franchise business and damages may run into the millions of dollars.

Chief U. S. District Judge George H. Harris directed the jury to find that requirements by Chicken Delight that its dealers buy their packaged food from the company violates the antitrust statutes. The jury also found that an arrangement to buy dips, spices, mixes, cooking and frying utensils was not legally justified.

American Tel Plan Drives Market Lower

NEW YORK (UPI)—Concern over the effect of American Telephone's rights offering on the overall stock market and disappointment with some first quarter corporate earnings drove prices sharply lower on the New York Stock Exchange today. Trading was moderately active.

Yesterday AT&T revealed details of the biggest corporate financing in history. Many analysts believed it was attractive enough to siphon off capital that otherwise might have been invested in stocks.

Shortly before the final bell, the UPI Marketwide Indicator was off 1.15 per cent on 1,571 issued crossing the tape. Of these, 1,018 pointed lower and 299 gained.

A turnover of around 11,000,000 shares compared with 8,810,000 shares yesterday.

Pointed sized losers cropped up in oils, electronics, conglomerates and chemicals, while most other major groups traded in fractions and in both directions.

Seaboard World Airlines was high on the most active list as a result of an early block of 166,200 shares at 8 off 1½. The trade was handled by Shearson, Hammill & Co. for institutions on both sides of the transaction.

Also active were Becton-Dickinson, which traded a block of 124,400 shares at 46 off 3⅛, American Telephone, American General Insurance and Occidental Petroleum.

Prices also back tracked on the American Stock Exchange in moderate turnover.

Fibreboard Reports Substantial Slump

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Fibreboard Corp.'s first quarter earnings will be down substantially from the same period a year ago, president George W. Burgess has reported.

Though final figures are not yet available, Burgess says the principal declines in sales and earnings have occurred in the company's lumber and plywood operations.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

A Certain Kind Of Player Should Always Wear A Hat

A certain kind of bridge player should always wear a hat while playing. Then he can truthfully claim that he has something on his mind besides hair. If you doubt this bald statement, consider today's hand with an open mind.

HIGH—LOW PLAY

West opened the king of clubs, and East joyfully began a high-low by playing the ten. West continued with the ace of clubs, noting East's completion of the signal. West then quite properly continued with a low club to allow East to ruff out dummy's queen.

So far, so good. Hats and hair have not yet appeared on the scene. East returned a trump to dummy's king, and declarer promptly continued with the ace of trumps. This play had no redeeming social significance.

Beaming with satisfaction because he had drawn the trumps, declarer cashed the ace of diamonds and ruffed a diamond. Then he led a few trumps with a studious air, as though he had a plan, and wound up by leading a heart to try a finesse with dummy's queen.

TAKES KING

East took the king of hearts to defeat the contract. "Well played," East declared. "You almost made that. You had me worried."

There was no need to worry, as East well knew. The contract was unbeatable, but South found a way to go down.

After winning the first round of trumps with dummy's king, declarer should take the ace of diamonds and ruff a diamond. Then he enters dummy by leading a trump to the ace. This enables him to ruff a second low diamond.

KEY RUFF

As it happens, the king of diamonds falls when South ruffs for the second time. Now declarer doesn't need the heart finesse. If the king of diamonds failed to fall, South could still fall back on the heart play. It would have cost nothing to try.

What do you say?

ANSWER: If you are not vulnerable and the opponents are, you might open with a frisky bid of three spades.

Most rubber bridge players would want slightly better spades or a trick on the side for such a bid. In any other vulnerability, a bid of three spades would be very risky at rubber bridge. Duplicate tournament players might well bid three spades except when vulnerable against nonvulnerable opponents.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, April 14, the 104th day of 1970 with 261 to follow.

The moon is between its full stage and last quarter. The morning star is Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1861 the Union troops at Fort Sumter surrendered to the Confederacy.

In 1865 John Wilkes Booth shot President Abraham Lincoln in the Ford Theater, Washington, D.C. Lincoln died the next day.

In 1910 President William Howard Taft started a precedent when he threw out the first baseball of the major league season.

A thought for the day: British actor Sir Arthur Wing Pinero said, "I believe the future is only the past again, entered through another gate."

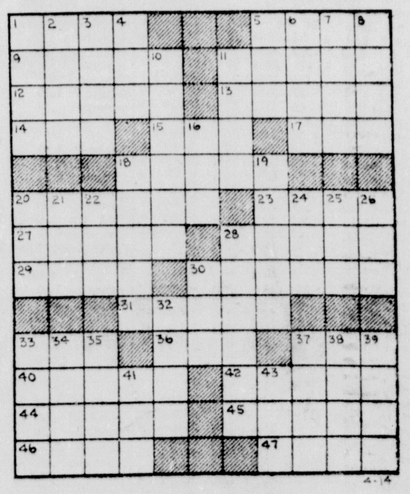
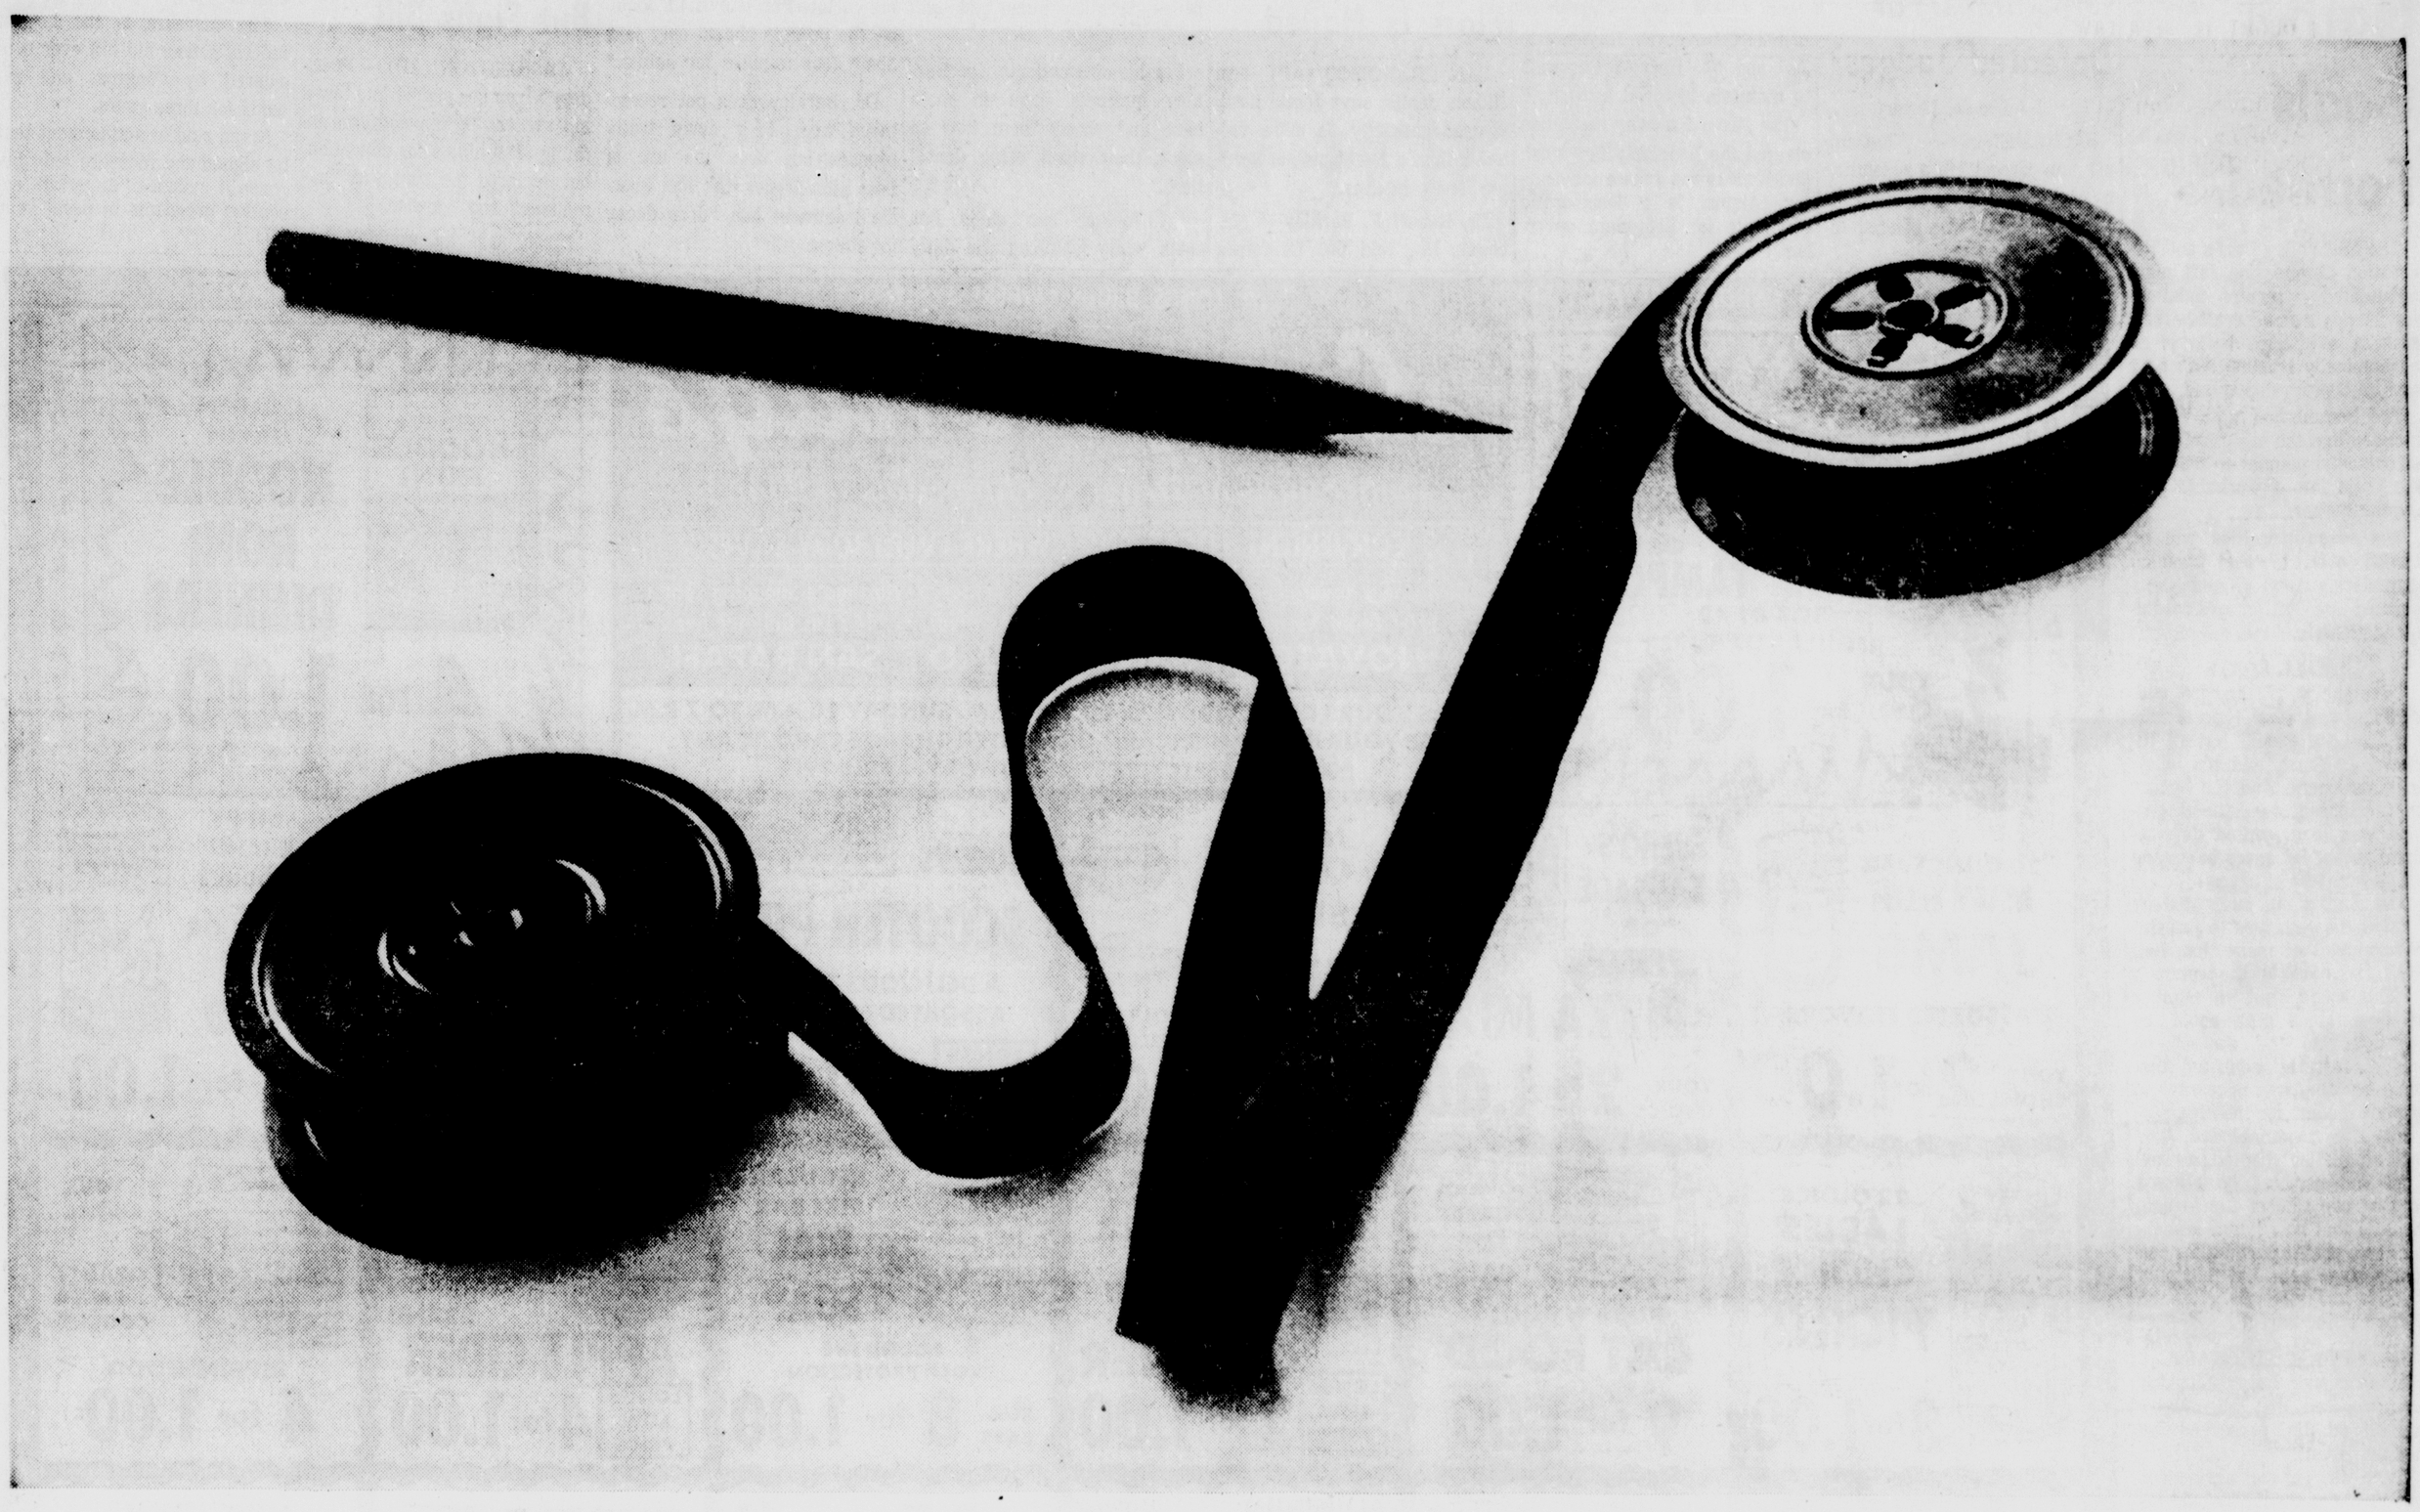
Yesterday's Answer





"Now, make me a newspaper by tonight"

Tall order . . . since a complete newspaper such as the Independent-Journal is at once the most complex yet lowest-priced product that can be made in one day.

Every day a new "model" . . . delivered by nightfall. To do this job against the clock—

- our 18 reporters comb the county, observing, interviewing, phoning, writing, getting the facts for you.
- thousands of AP and UPI newsmen check the world for you, put its pulse on the wire.
- teletypes chatter some 120,000 words to us, from as close as Mill Valley, as far away as Capetown.
- rolls of paper, each 850 lbs., move in from Canada and the Northwest.
- electronic impulses turn into photographs on a machine—the world in black and white, caught in action.
- the managing editor watches for the big stories, gauging the importance of each, overseeing the editorial "construction" of the paper, from content to design.
- pressmen feed the giant press with ink and paper—a taste of what's to come.
- "Circulation" readies for the job of distributing the paper, via 700 newspaperboys, to two out of three homes in the county.
- experts set type for news, for ads—enough in one day to fill a good-sized book.
- the retail advertising staff, 10 strong, contacts almost every business in the county . . . planning campaigns, offering merchants professional service in copywriting, layout and merchandising.
- the city editor "feels" for the news on a hundred fronts, hands out assignments, shaping the news force to the shape of events.
- engravers work their chemical magic, placing print and picture on metal.
- the women's editor and staff of 5 molds food and fashions, social doings, meetings, school events, into a women's world.
- syndicates send in both national and world-wide features—columns, comics, cartoons.
- specialists "make up" the paper, designing every page of news and ads.
- the art department creates illustrations, layouts, designs, cartoons.
- photographers race the news throughout the county, clicking the visual happenings of Marin today.
- ink for the press arrives not in bottles but tank trucks.
- color plates and color inks are being readied for ads, special editions, covers—all to brighten your reading eye.
- sports "jump" in the typewriters of the sports department and Willie Mays leaps up into a headline.
- "Classified" is setting up the county's daily market place, and the phone rings with "wanted" and "for sale."
- headlines are being written against deadlines—and the tight confines of space.
- vital statistics are being compiled; weather and stock reports are coming in.
- the mechancial superintendent moves the copy through a maze of linotypes, electronic typesetters and the precise hands of men who literally know type up-side down.
- the library is digging up background data for stories, filing photos, micro-filming each edition of the newspaper.
- legal ads get eagle-eyed checking for accuracy.
- orders are coming in from the nation's advertising agencies with mats for advertisements—everything from autos to ant spray.
- issues become the tissue of editorials—the reasoned interpretation of events.
- proofreaders scan every line of news and advertising trying to hold errors to a minimum against the pressure of time.
- letters to the editor are being read for possible publication.
- the dispatch office is moving ads into production—checking size, type, mats, insertion dates, art, photos—a hundred elements.
- our national representatives are meeting with ad agencies and advertisers in New York, Detroit, Chicago—a dozen cities—telling them about Marin County and its newspaper.
- special contributors' columns on fishing, baseball and many others are being processed.
- Marin Magazine is being dummied; stories developed for the Saturday edition—picturing life in Marin.
- the business office moves against a mountain of financial and administrative detail.
- stereotypers cast the weighty cylinders for the big press—the final imprint of the news on metal.
- last minute news comes through and the front page changes under the expert fingers of typographers and the eye of the editor.

Harbor Goals Formed

The Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission last night formulated recommendations for the city's small craft harbor, seeking a balance between an economically feasible harbor and an overdeveloped one.

The commission also recommended that the city hire an environmental planner to translate the goals into a workable plan for the harbor.

The seven priorities will be turned over to the planning commission April 27 and incorporated into that group's recommendations.

SMALL COATS

"Tonight we're charged with deciding just what type of harbor the city should have," Richard J. Young told his fellow commissioners. And the picture that emerged from the discussion was of a limited development meant for small boats and small numbers of users.

The first point, suggested by Paul N. Hewett, was to prohibit development of more than half the surface area of the water.

"This would limit the number of boat slips that could be crowded into the water," he said, though he admitted that some berthing was necessary to provide income for the city.

He also recommended, and the commission adopted, a provision that berthing be allowed only on one side of the lagoon, the side that now has a launching area, gravel parking lot and boat storage pen, and that only boats 24 feet in length or less be allowed in the harbor.

NON-POWERED CRAFT

Commissioner Robert Jenkins next proposed that all nearby marshlands be preserved as they now exist.

There was general agreement that the area should include facilities for docking and launching of small non-powered craft.

"We want to preserve free access to the water," said Donald L. Dimitratos, parks and recreation director. "There should be provisions for the young people who want to launch their canoes and small sailboats without having to pay a dollar when they put the boat in and another dollar when they take it out."

Point five, proposed by Jenkins, was that a marina green to retain the park-like open space be established, and that a permanent recreation center should be built.

In the sixth recommendation the commission declared the need to weigh economic feasibility against overdevelopment. It proposed that the plan provide for enough commercial uses to pay at least part of the cost of the harbor, while at the same time carefully avoiding overdevelopment.

NO PARKING

In the final point, commissioners established that the boat area would be people oriented when they asked that there be no parking facilities within the confines of the harbor area.

"In many harbors," Dimitratos said, "Cars can bring in boats for launching but they must be driven away and parked elsewhere."

The Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission also:

THEE CONTROL — Unanimously recommended that the city council adopt an ordinance limiting the size of trees on private property that block views or otherwise constitute a nuisance.

RULES—Unanimously recommended that the city council adopt a new set of rules for the city's tennis courts. The new rules promote a rapid turnover of tennis players by limiting the number of games that can be played at one time.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to its next regular meeting April 27 at 8 p.m. in the public library.

Eighth Grade Girl Outspells The I-J

If "intelligible" were easy to spell, it would hardly win a spelling contest for anyone, would it?

Which may explain why the word was misspelled in an Independent-Journal story Saturday relating that Lynn Gutstadt of Ross had won the countywide eighth grade spelling bee for spelling "intelligable" correctly.

Off-Ramps For Defeated Judges?

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — "One minor amendment" to a resolution naming Route 90 the Richard M. Nixon Freeway was offered today by a Democrat.

The first two offramps, insisted Sen. Alfred E. Alquist of San Jose, "must appropriately be called 'Clement F. Haynsworth Jr.' and 'G. Harrold Carswell' to maintain historial integrity."

The Nixon Freeway resolution cleared the Assembly last week and went to the Senate for hearing. Alquist is a Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor.

Role Of Dental Floss Is Hailed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —An Illinois dentist says dental floss, if used correctly, is more valuable than a toothbrush in keeping teeth healthy.

Dr. Robert F. Barkley of Macomb, Ill., told 600 California Dental Association convention members Monday, "You can brush between bites and still have cavities."

"A mother can clean her teeth while watching the daily soap opera," he said," and children can do it while watching cartoons on television. Ideally, the process should only take about four minutes for adults."

Dr. Barkley does not recommend tossing away toothbrushes but says the use of floss plus proper diet and flouride treatment can "drop decay to almost nil."

Nixon Criticizes, But Signs Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has signed into law a bill authorizing expenditures totaling $24.6 billion for education, but declared the sum was "unrealistic" and "unwise."

Nixon said he wouldn't approve the large sum when handed the actual appropriation legislation.

The measure is the largest federal school aid bill ever considered by Congress and extends for three years.

Nixon said in a statement that he signed the measure only because it includes "important education programs in fiscal year 1971."
